"YOUNG AS YOU FEEL"

"Young As You Feel," the long awaited Will Rogers' comedy drama, in which the popular screen star and comedian is seen for the first time as a model of what the well dressed man should wear comes to The New Lyceum Theatre on Wednesday-Thursday, November 11 and 12.

The story deals with the quite human and logical predicament of a kind and wealthy widower who finds his two wilful sons slowly getting beyond his control. They absolutely refuse to share the responsibilities of his large meat packing business, but are very willing to spend its profits on their social and sports activities.

After years of patience Rogers decides to beat his sons at their own game, and in the company of that delightful French comedienne, Fifi Dorsay, he visits an expensive tailor, and makes the rounds of the various night clubs, race tracks and other centers of pleasure.

And his plan gets results, results that are not only surprising to Rogers, Fifi, and his sons, but which will amaze you, too.

"Young As You Feel," which is Rogers' fifth starring Fox picture, is the talking screen's version of George Ade's well known stage play, "Father And The Boys." It is said to offer Rogers the best opportunity of his entire screen career to display his natural and homely style of humor and to be the most human and hilarious of all his pictures.

Repentance without amendment is like continued pumping in a ship without stopping the leaks.—William Morris.

MILK PARLEYS

Delegates from Maryland, Pennsylvania and New Jersey will attend the annual meeting of the Interstate Milk Producers' Association to be held in Philadelphia, November 17 and 18, when important matters pertaining to the price of milk being sent from the Eastern Shore of Maryland and from other States into the Philadelphia market will be discussed.

Robert Wallace, of Kennedyville, Benjamin I. Rash, of Worton, and Carvil Sutton, of Kennedyville, will attend the meeting from this county.

Low Price Around Middletown

C. I. Cohee, secretary of the Philadelphia Dairy Council told about 400 farmers and dairymen at a meeting in Middletown, Del., Monday night that the quality of milk and not overproduction was the reason for the low price of milk in that locality.

Some time ago a meeting was held and the producers claimed that they were getting unusually low prices for milk and that the dealers had insisted upon a number of changes in dairy farms which the owners could not afford. At that time it was decided to have Mr. Cohee come and speak to the producers. The meetings were arranged by former Municipal Judge Edward R. Cochran, of Wilmington.

At the meeting Monday night, John D. Reynolds presided and Herman Cochran introduced the speaker.

Mr. Cochran explained to the dealers that changes in the equipment of the dairy farms, improved sanitary conditions and cooling processes would give the producer a higher price for his milk.

It was decided to have another meeting on November 16, when the matter will be more fully discussed. Mr. Cohee explained at length the objects of the Dairy Council and how it was endeavoring to improve the milk supply in this district.

For a number of years there was a dairy in Middletown, where most of the farmers disposed of their milk. This place was discontinued and the only way in which the products could dispose of their milk was by selling it to the big dealers as surplus milk. It is claimed that in some instances the price for surplus milk has been but 7½ cents a quart and that the producer can not afford to make the changes demanded at these prices.

FREE IMMUNIZATION CONTINUES

With several new cases of diphtheria reported, the local Health Department is continuing free immunization with toxin-antitoxin of the pre-school children at the Health Center on Thursday mornings at 10 A. M. Mothers of children of the pre-school age are urged to bring their children in for immunization.

A statement was made in the Sunday Sun that three deaths from diphtheria reported to the State Health Department were pronounced to have been preventable and were due to calling a physician too late and not using antitoxin. Parents should call a physician when a child shows signs of sore throat, headache and listlessness and feverish condition so that a diagnosis may be made in time.

The three preventable deaths were one in Baltimore City and two in the counties. Fortunately, Kent was not one of those counties named. The citizens of Kent have responded well to the toxin-antitoxin campaign which has been carried on for several years and have been receptive toward matters dealing with public health.

Rain Washes Out Wheat Surplus

Wet weather, which is causing millions of bushels of French and German wheat to sprout in the shocks, is eliminating some of the world surplus which depressed markets during the Spring and Summer.

In German market circles it was said that from 30,000,000 to 50,000,000 bushels would be unfit for milling because of the weather and would have to be used for fodder.

The same sources said Russian export organizations are trying to secure cancellations of some of their future commitments in England and that Russian wheat exports dropped 2,000,000 bushels last week under the week preceding—a 50 per cent decline. An official at the Soviet embassy said the country's wheat supply is sufficient for home needs, with some for export.

Some statisticians compared Germany's present cereal crops with the poor years of 1924-25 and 1926-27. Whether these factors will result in the purchase of more wheat from the United States, or whether orders will go to Argentina, Canada or elsewhere, can not now be determined authorities said.

Private advices reaching consular officials said Russian crops were poor in Siberia and the Ukraine, with a fair harvest in the Volga Valley, and that a considerable portion of the Soviet Spring campaign is unmatured. Officials said the present world crop is not far in excess of world needs.

A wretched man is a sacred thing.

TAX REDUCTION NOT TAX SHIFTING

We have heard a great deal of talk from official sources, about "tax reduction." But in about ninety-nine instances out of a hundred when any action at all has been taken, taxes have been shifted instead of being reduced, or new forms of taxation have been created.

As a consequence, high taxes have become one of the grueling issues of the time. The Philadelphia Record recently stated that the government of that city is without funds to meet its current obligations. Controller Hadley was quoted as saying that the city had borrowed $750,000 to meet October 1 payrolls and would have to borrow the same amount for October 15th.

At about the same time, a campaign in the interest of municipal tax reduction was launched in Pittsburgh when the city's Chamber of Commerce and the Building Owners and Managers' Association sent to the mayor and city council vigorous statements of opinion on that subject, expressing desire to cooperate toward "retrenchment without sacrifice of legitimate needs or interest."

Unless expenses in all parts of the nation, are drastically reduced, taxation will permanently imperil home building, business activity, industrial development. We should all follow the example of the Pittsburgh organizations and demand governmental economy—unless we are willing to pay the price of official waste and extravagance.

Father—Can you give my daughter the luxuries to which she has been accustomed?

Sutor—Not much longer. That's why I want to get married.

FRESH in nature's way

CAMELS are never parched or toasted!

FRESHNESS and flavor in a cigarette trace right back to natural moisture.

If you overheat or process tobacco so harshly as to dry out all natural moisture you drive out freshness and flavor too.

Camel never parches or toasts the fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos it uses—they are naturally smooth, cool, mellow, with natural moisture retained.

That's why the Camel Humidor Pack proves such a blessing to Camel smokers—it brings them a fine cigarette fresh to start with, and fresh to smoke.

If you don't realize what natural moisture means in genuine freshness and flavor, switch to Camels and see.

Try this mild, slow-burning, throat-friendly favorite for just one day—then leave it, if you can!
