Your friend is wise who knows when to speak his mind and when to mind his speech.

"When humor becomes to antic I pinch myself, fearing that one of us has become unbalanced and that perhaps I am the one," says Heywood Broun, theatrical critic.

NARROW ESCAPES

People often return from some automobile trip, and boast of narrow escapes they have had from accidents. If they had not shown unusual quickness and skill in some bad situation, they boast, they would have been smashed up by some reckless driver. In most cases of such narrow escapes, however, both parties were somewhat to blame. Probably the one who boasted of the narrow escape, had himself taken a bit of a chance, or had allowed his attention to wander for a minute.

If people wish to be sure of avoiding automobile accidents, they must so drive their cars that accidents would be nearly impossible. This is not so difficult as it sounds, only it does call for self-control. It may call for a driver to wait for a whole minute at some inter-section until there is a good clear chance to cross, while if he attempts to slip in before, he may take a bit of a chance that he has missed his calculations. If people had the right spirit of patience, the good-natured willingness to wait their turn and keep cool and comfortable, they would find that their chances of a mishap were greatly reduced.

If people come home with the recollection of having had some narrow escape, the chances are that their driving habits are at fault, and should be corrected. They would better review the circumstances of such accidents, and ask themselves what they gained by the little error of operation that they made, and they should resolve to show more caution in that respect in the future.

The loss of a minute of time is not a serious thing. It is not as if one's house were burning down, or someone was drowning in the near river and help must come instantly. Our people here in Kent should acquire a juster sense of proportion, and conclude that it never pays to save time by taking a chance.

BIBLE LESSONS AND QUESTIONS

John 15: 12, 13, 14. Jesus said: "This is my commandment, That ye love one another, as I have loved you. 13. Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends. 14. Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you.

Prayer—May Thy new Law of Love be written by the Holy Spirit upon our hearts.

Where Is Your Treasure — Where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.—Matthew 6: 21.

Prayer—Help me to love only the good and pure in thought and conduct.

To bring the office quarrels home or relate the housekeeping troubles of the day spoils the evening.

It still requires good manners to secure any social standing, whatever, no matter what new notions may prevail.

Stop children's coughs and sore throats before these ailments lead to dangerous ills. Use Thoxine, a doctor's famous prescription which bring relief within 15 minutes, yet contains no harmful drugs.

Thoxine works on a different principle. it has a quick, double action—it relieves the irritation and goes direct to the internal cause. Ideal for all children because it is pleasant tasting and easy to take — not a gargle. Ask for Thoxine, put up ready for use in 35c, 60c and $1.00 bottles. If you are not satisfied your money will be refunded. Sold by Toulson's Drug Store and all other good drug stores.

GREAT SUPPORTING CAST

Charles Rogers is given splendid support in his most recent starring picture, "Along Came Youth"—a romantic comedy about a young American sportsman stranded in England.

Stuart Erwin is the chief fun-provider. He was in "Dangerous Nan McGrew," "Sweetie," "Young Eagles and "Playboy of Paris."

Frances Dee, Maurice Chevalier's sweetheart in "Playboy of Paris" is Rogers' girl friend. William Austin, the English character comedian of "Sweetie" fame, is a skittish aristocrat. Evelyn Hall is a doughty dame. Leo White is an impetuous South American; Mathilde Comont is his fat, but gay wife. And there are the five Neetsfoot Boys, helping along with the general fun. You can see this fine comedy at the New Lyceum on Wednesday and Thursday, January 28 and 29.

Love doesn't count court costs.

FIELD SEED

Sowing time is approaching again, much time has been devoted to the selecting and buying of quality seed for 1931 seeding.

Prices this year will be more reasonable than was at one time to be expected. The very dry season caused a shortage in many of the producing sections while in some others weather conditions were just a little more favorable, which helps to make an average price level.

We shall be glad to have you inspect our stock and let us quote you on your requirements. We assure you the best of seed for your needs.
