When Baby's Ill.

When the little loved one is sick, when its brow is fevered, its pulse rapid, its features pinched with pain and there are great blue circles under its eyes, the mother hovers about the bedside, and with anxious eyes tries to read the meaning of every expression upon the physician's face.

A woman may save herself almost all of this worriment about her children if she will but take proper care of her womanly health during the period of gestation. A child born of a mother who is thoroughly healthy in a womanly way will almost unfailingly be healthy and robust. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription acts directly on the delicate and important organs that bear the burdens of maternity. It makes them well, strong and vigorous. It heals all internal ulceration and inflammation. It stops debilitating drains. It fits for motherhood and insures a healthy child. Thousands of happy mothers have testified to its merits. No honest dealer will urge you to take an inferior substitute for the little added profit it may afford him.

"A lady told me that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was good to take when with child," writes Mrs. Annie Simpson, of No. 15 Chelmsford Street, Lawrence, Mass.: "I was suffering terrible pains, and was unable to get about the house without being in misery. I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and the first bottle greatly relieved me. I took three bottles before my baby was born, at which time I suffered very little. The baby has been healthy since birth, and is now three months old and weighs fifteen pounds. When my older child was born I suffered terribly. I don't know how to thank Dr. Pierce enough."

They don't simply give temporary relief, but are a permanent cure—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets for constipation. They never gripe. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative and two a mild catharic.

SUMMER MILLINERY.

Fashionable Trimmings—The New Crush Straws—Stylish Hats and Toques.

Millinery is made easy by the materials prepared for the purpose. There is an immense range in which chiffon is crimped and gathered for millinery purposes. Chiffon is plaited, with twisted silk representing a sort of pattern upon it, and it has also been brought out with lace. Then there are bouillonnes in shaded and checked fabrics and tulle with bold lace flowers in relief. The hat crowns, in tulle and of liberal dimensions, are covered with worked scrolls in silver and gold. There is a novel material, bright and glistening, with open checks, made of horsehair. It can be employed very effectively, as can distinct motifs in embroidery and appliques on the crowns or brims. There is plenty of white chiffon with black lace appliques and thick lace for millinery outlined with chenille.

Crush hats, which are new this season, lessen the amount of trimming needed and are therefore in a way economical. These are of satin braid and the crowns dent in here and bulge out there in a manner quite impossible to describe, but by the readiness with which they have been adopted evidently fascinating to the feminine fancy. Some of the shapes in straw hats are so queer that they can be likened to nothing under the skies. Chip hats have found favor again, especially in the form of black ones with brims faced with white. This renders them less trying than the all black chip. Although an attractive material, chip is not so becoming as the fancy straws. There is a great variety of rough and comparatively inexpensive straws this season that are useful and adaptable to many occasions and people.

The cut shows three exceedingly stylish examples of summer millinery. The upper hat is in heliotrope colored fancy straw trimmed with silk ribbon, poppies, chiffon and black lace laid in a roll on the brim. Next is a lady's cycling hat with a band of bright red velvet and trimming of plaid ribbon, red and black. Third comes a hat of fancy basket straw trimmed with chiffon edged with narrow blue velvet and black coq feathers in a large cluster at the left side.

Toques are no less fashionable than hats. A most picturesque one is in soft green straw with a crown of tuscan straw gauze. Rose foliage stands up at one side and under the brim is a cluster of red roses. A new plait of blended crinoline and straw in the fashionable shade of tangerine orange forms the material of a handsome toque.

SMALL CONVENIENCES.

A List of Kitchen Utensils Designed to Economize Time and Labor.

In too many houses a beautiful and elaborately furnished parlor is maintained at the cost of a small, inconvenient, ill furnished kitchen. There is no place where small conveniences are more valuable than in the room where the work is done, which is at the foundation of all solid home comfort. A writer in the Boston Cooking School Magazine has made a list of various little labor lighteners, which should interest busy and weary housekeepers:

A kitchen table lately placed on the market contains a zinc lined bread cabinet, four drawers in front and two at the end, large enough to hold 25 pounds of meal. It has a rolling pin and loose kneading board, which fit on top of the flour bin when not needed for use. This kitchen table is made of sheet iron. It is japaned on the outside and tinned inside. It has a strainer that just fits and is oval in shape.

A rotary nutmeg grater is among the late novelties in this line. It has a handle and wire spring, the latter exerting a pressure on the nutmeg, so that all the nut can be used.

Another useful article is a grater intended for grating horse radish, vegetables, cheese, chocolate, almonds, walnuts and cocoanut. By turning or pushing the handle the material to be grated is pushed or forced against a toothed disk.

A meat fret, which is intended for making meat tender without destroying the juices or mutilating the steak, cuts it by piercing tiny holes through the surface. This fret is found most useful where round steak is used, as it is warranted to make it as tender as the best porterhouse.

A toaster to be used on a gas stove will be welcomed by a large number of housekeepers. It will toast four slices of bread perfectly in two minutes.

A sink cleaner fills a long felt want. While it is an acknowledged fact that only liquids should be thrown into the sink, the pipes are frequently obstructed, and the result is a plumber must be sent for. This convenient little novelty is a combination cleaner, and should and will save many dollars.

A good bosom board has an elastic body holder and a metal neckband, which permits the ironer to have the use of both hands.

A stove polisher, accompanied by a bottle of liquid polish, will be welcomed by those who have to polish stoves. It is self feeding and does very effective work.

A sheepskin mitten will be found admirable for polishing brass, glass, silver, bicycles and even shoes. No powder is necessary for the brass or silver.

Lying as a Disease.

"The liar is a much abused person," said a well known local physician to a reporter last week. "The liar is not always to blame, and if you have any friends who are addicted to false representation of things advise them to consult their doctors. There is hope for at least one class of liars. Medicine and medical methods are applicable to those who suddenly develop an abhorrence for the truth and lie on all occasions, even though the truth might better suit their purpose. This has come to be thought of only as a species of dementia that is ofttimes successfully treated.

"The malicious liar is a difficult problem, for he knows that he is telling a lie and there is no hope for him. But there are lots of people who just lie naturally, without knowing what they are saying or why they say it. The individual often has nothing whatever to accomplish by lying, but does so just as some people stutter. But, as I said before, he should not be blamed and frowned upon. His mind is unhealthy and his nervous system is out of order. Rest, tonic and good nursing often restore these people to their normal self, and then the love of rectitude returns, and they are effectually cured of a very embarrassing habit."—Washington Post.

It is not a remedy put up by any Tom Dick or Harry; it is compounded by expert pharmacists. Ely Bros. offer a 10 cent trial size. Ask your druggist. Full size Cream Balm 50 cents. We mail it.

ELY BROS., 56 Warren St., N. Y. City.

Since 1861 I have been a great sufferer from catarrh. I tried Ely's Cream Balm and to all appearances am cured. Terrible headaches from which I had long suffered are gone.—W. J. Hitchcock, late Major U. S. Vol. and A. A. Gen., Buffalo, N. Y.

THE BEAUTY.

Hail! Now she speaks.
The roses ope their ruddy hearts to list.
The breezes cease to coax the lily bells
To sound their voiceless chime.
The nightingale is mute.

And when she smiles
'Tis like the break of day
O'er Persian valleys faint with odors sweet
Or like entrancing melody
Conjured by master hand from strings
Aglow with heavenly fire.

And when she laughs—
Ah, then, the rippling music of her mirth
Awakens sleeping joy, deep toned and full
Of love as bells enriched with gold
On Moscow's towers swung!

—Ernest Jarrold in Yellow Book.

ART NEEDLEWORK.

A SIMPLE BUT EFFECTIVE DESIGN FOR HOUSEHOLD DECORATORS.

How a Plain Wooden Bedstead May Be Transformed Into a Distinguished Article—One Fashion In Which Embroidery Is Now Much Employed.

If there is one device in particular of which decorative workers seem never to tire, it is that in which the pomegranate, more or less conventionalized, plays the principal part. The fruit has from very early days been a favorite for textiles and embroidery, symbolizing as it does royalty, dominion and power in general. The design is such that it can be used as a powdering or repeated to form one continuous border of any length required.

EMBROIDERED DRAPERY AND SPREAD.

Various objects suggest themselves as suitable for this kind of decoration, and diagonal cloth, serge, linen or satin sheeting may be the material adopted, according to the purpose to be served. The pomegranate affords a valuable pattern on a bed hanging, especially if it takes the form of that shown in the cut. Here the curtain has a broad band across the top, a narrow one running down the sides, and the powderings sprinkled in the usual formal way over the rest of the material. For this a flat lath should be provided and run through a hem at the top. Three or four rings at the back of this firm mount will enable the hanging to be attached to the wall at the back of the bedstead at any height desired and permit of its being easily lifted off the nails or hooks and shaken out of doors when cleaning becomes necessary.

The bedspread should match the curtain, but here the broad border should be carried all round the edge. The narrow one might well be taken round the quilt, about eight or ten inches inside the other, and the powdering sprinkled over the portion thus inclosed. The pomegranate pattern may easily be adapted to the coverings of chairs, settees and couches, while for a mantelpiece decoration, with or without the addition of drapery, it would be extremely happy.

It is very much the fashion just now to erect a long, straight shelf above the mantelpiece, over a dwarf bookcase or cabinet or at the back of a sofa. This is often mounted with a broad piece of embroidery above it, and here again pomegranate designs would be most appropriate. They would show to the best effect if arranged about a foot or even more above the shelf, the intervening space being filled in with the powdering and finished with the narrow band up the sides. The main part of the embroidery would not detract from the effect of anything placed on the shelf, as it might do were it stretched directly above.

For a shelf of a class similar to that in the last sketch satin sheeting would be suitable, with the design carried out in crewels, heightened here and there in effect by a judicious mixture of silk. For a mantelpiece or portiere or for furniture the border works out well with crewels.

The scheme of coloring may be according to one's fancy, but an effective one employs five shades of green, five of brownish red and two of golden brown. The leaves will look well even if very simply shaded. The fruit should be carried out with the darkest shade of red outermost and in long and short stitch, following the curves as nearly as possible.

Color In Dress.

A hint comes from Paris which the woman with a superfluity of flesh will do well to consider. It is that in gowns of certain colors flesh seems to shrink, in others to expand. A subdued shade of peacock blue, plum color and olive green, with black, of course, are announced as the colors under which flesh seems least ostentatious, while wedgwood blue, pale gray and almost any shade of red are to be avoided sedulously. In the way of trimmings and light tints, orange, yellow, light blue and cerise should not be used. Mauve and the higher tints of green are the two colors that in decoration about the throat and shoulders are especially helpful in diminishing the effect of flesh.

Keeping an Account With Crops.

Let every horticulturist make the experiment, and he will find it both interesting and useful to know from year to year the actual profits from his farm. Every horticulturist will declare that his intentions are to pursue that course which will give him the greatest profit from a given capital. By keeping an account with each particular crop he will be enabled at once to see which crop is the most profitable, and by the footing of his general accounts he will find whether he is gaining or losing by his business and how much. It was long a maxim with the Italians "that a person who did not keep a fair book of accounts was not to be trusted," and the Dutch say that no person was ever ruined who kept good accounts.—S. B. Ketchum, New Jersey.

In certain parts of Norway when a person is drowned a cock is put in a sack, which is rowed about the scene of the disaster, the belief being that the bird will crow when the boat passes over the body.

CARRIAGE-SMITHING.

If you want Light Buggy Wheels Hooped without dishing, don't forget that we keep in our shops a first-class carriage-smith to do this and all other carriage work.

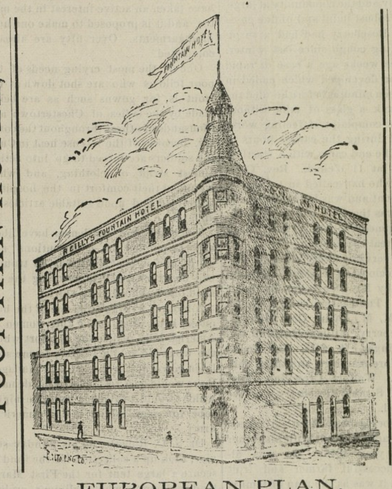
☞ Don't Forget that We Propose to Work Cheap.

We do all kinds of Repairing, Job Work and Machine Forging.

Yours for Business and Low-Down Prices.

CHAPMAN & LAMBERT.

FOUNTAIN HOTEL, CAFE AND RESTAURANT,



EUROPEAN PLAN.

HAPPY!

WHY NOT?

Our customers are satisfied and well-to-do people. Why? Because they know they get the best work for the least money at our place. Trade is good, and we are always busy. Remember, we Hoop your Wheels and do not dish them, and make no charge for extra bolts.

☞ We are glad to see how our Horseshoeing is appreciated. We claim to know how to do it. Bring us your horses and you will be happy
