DON'T GIVE MONEY TO CANVASSING ASIATICS

Living Church Warns Against American Solicitors.—Many Imposed Upon—Kent County Has Been Visited by So-Called Agents.

The citizens of Chestertown are warned against giving subscriptions to strange Asiatics who have been in this town soliciting money for the suffering Armenians. They obtained letters from the mayor of Easton and other good citizens and collected quite a sum of money. We do not know that they are frauds but we print the following warning from the Living Church and our readers can judge for themselves:

"We are asked to say that there are unauthorized agents abroad soliciting funds for Armenian and Assyrian relief and having apparently forged letters from Mar Shimun, the Assyrian Patriarch. This is the church and country from which bands of Asiatics have, for a whole generation past, been bleeding the American public, generally claiming in past years to be soliciting for various mythical orphanages in their country. The Living Church has repeatedly published warnings against them for years past, and it would be very strange if these frauds had not made the most of the present-day horrors and need for relief."

"What these fellows do is this. They have seals made in New York, which they hide in some place, and have copies ready, any amount of them, so that the moment one letter is taken from them immediately they produce another. Often they can change the name entirely and go under another name. The seal is ready to place at the bottom of the document. We all know them. They ran away from us. The Assyrians in Chicago and elsewhere write very strongly against them and denounce them. There is a very limited number from one certain locality who practice this thing, and they do not represent us."

We would suggest that if any of our citizens wish to contribute to this very worthy cause, they will send their contributions to the editors of their church papers, where it will be forwarded to the proper sources, and they will be assured that their contributions will reach the source for which they are contributed.

FUR DEALERS CORRECT STATEMENT

Local fur buyers are much worked up over a report which appeared in a Wicomico County newspaper last week, and later in the Baltimore American, which placed the price on furs and hides far above the regular price for sometime past. Trappers, say the dealers, were made to believe by the article that their furs and hides were worth about three times what they were receiving, and that as a result they are holding the furs for prohibitive prices. The article stated that muskrat hides were bringing from $1 to $1 50, Red Fox $18, Otter hides as high as $60, and other furs in proportion.

That the trappers have been mislead by the statement is quite evident, as the published market prices on furs and hides in Baltimore and New York markets for the past week were less than half of these prices. The city market quotations are as follows:

Muskrat, 35 to 40 cents; Black muskrat 50 to 55 cents; Otters, brown coarse, $6 to $7; Red Fox, best grade $4 50 to $5 50; Raccoon, from $ 30 to $2.40 according to quality; Mink, large and dark, $3 to $3 25; Mink, medium grade, $2 to $2 25; Mink, small, $1 to $1.10; Opposum, 50 to 60 cents.

PITCHER ENRIGHT QUITS FRATERNITY

"If I thought the players were right I would stick by them, but in this case I do not see as they do." With these words Jack Enright, the Eastern Shore hurler, who is expected to make good for the New York Yankees, severed his connections with the Players' Fraternity, and announced he had affixed his signature to a 1917 contract. The New York Club yesterday received the contract of the youngster, who starred with Washington College and later created a great impression with Newark, in the International League, and took great pride in informing the newspaper men of Enright's version of the situation.

The management of the Yankees believe that the case of Enright plainly shows the weakness of the players' stand. Every day Dave Fultz organization is losing ground, stated the officials of the Highlanders, and by the time the strike comes there will not be enough diamond athletes of a high caliber standing pat to have any material effect on the big leagues.

Enright, a powerfully big fellow with plenty of nerve, is a spit baller, and apparently displayed enough in the International last year to warrant the belief that he will stick under the big tent.

Purchased Fine Swine.—Dr. Gilbert T. Smith, of Noroton Heights, Conn, has bought 24 pure-bred Jersey Red sows for his Chester River Farm. These new swine make his total herd 64, the other 40 being pure-bred Berkshires and Poland-Chinas. In a letter to the News Dr. Smith writes: "I am going into the hog business extensively, as I feel I have an ideal location and with the natural food problem, in a measure solved by the large area of splendid marsh grass and range, which I believe will be suitable for them eight months in the year, I have at my command a great advantage over many of the inland producers." Dr. Smith considers this an important factor in the successful rasing of hogs in Queen Annes county.
