Chestertown Does Not Need Outside Financial Assistance.

Notwithstanding the staggering blow to our community whereby one-tenth of the entire assessable valuation of our town was wiped out by the fire of Monday night last, no call has been made for any outside financial assistance.

There is a good reason for this. THE THIRD NATIONAL BANK is able and ready to help all the sufferers by the terrible visitation and you are cordially invited to use our bank for all purposes in repairing what may not, upon second thought, seem to be an irreparable loss.

Very respectfully,

OUR SCHOOL CHILDREN.

How the Youngsters are Taxed by the Protective Tariff.

Little Willie junior and Ethelinda start off to school.

On their blank books they paid a tariff of 25 per cent.

On their pencils they also paid 25 per cent. tariff tax and, in addition, one-third of a cent each as a specific duty.

The pride of little Willie junior's heart was one of those combination pencil, eraser, penholder and stamp arrangements that he bought out of his firecracker money. On this he paid 40 per cent tariff tax.

Ethelinda's pride was a little fountain pen for which she had foregone a new doll's cape. On this pen she paid 30 per cent tariff tax.

On the penholders they paid 28 per cent tariff tax.

The chamois skin penwiper was taxed 50 per cent.

The sponge rubber 40 per cent.

For the penknife each had they paid 40 per cent and then, in addition, 10 cents of tariff tax apiece on each knife

On the little school boxes in which they kept the above in orderly arrangement the tariff tax was 55 per cent.

Willie junior had a little school slate-book for temporary memoranda, tariff taxed 2 per cent.

Ethelinda had a school bag of fiber for her schoolbooks, taxed by the tariff 45 per cent.

Willie junior used a simple strap that is protected by a tariff tax of 40 per cent.

The little girl had a bottle of ink for her fountain pen, taxed by the tariff 25 per cent.

Her brother had a pocket comb of cheap horn for use in the tousled emergencies after recess, 50 per cent tariff taxed.

He paid a tariff tax of 35 per cent on his marbles.

She paid a tariff tax of 35 per cent on her dollies.

Between them they have a cheap school umbrella, and mother has paid a tariff tax of 50 per cent on that.

If Willie junior has to wear glasses this fall father will get them, and he will pay a tariff tax of 50 per cent on them.

In getting ready for school that morning they had washed with soap tariff taxed 20 per cent, dried themselves on towels tariff taxed 45 per cent, polished their shoes with polish tariff taxed 25 per cent and brushed their teeth and hair with brushes tariff taxed 40 per cent.

And when they do waste their little allowance once in awhile with a riotous candy feast the tariff taxes them one-quarter of a cent an ounce and adds to that 15 per cent additional tax. This is on cheap candy. If it is a safer, purer and better product the tariff taxes the youngsters 50 per cent.—Charles Johnson Post in New York World.

W. C. Loses to M. A. C.

Maryland Agricultural College added to its string of unbroken victories on Friday by defeating Mike Thompson's eleven, representing Washington College, of Chestertown, by the score of 5 to 0. Incidentally, the Aggies drew first blood in the contest for the intercollegiate foot-ball championship of Maryland, and Coach Roy Alston is confident that his charges will land the first-honor banner. The game was characterized by open play, Washington College excelling in this regard. Quarterback Meegan made several sensational runs around the Aggies' ends and ran his team in a masterly manner. In atempting a drop kick from the 35-yard line in the second period Shipley, the Aggies' star performer, twisted his leg and was compelled to retire. He came back in the next period and performed brilliantly.

A safety and a beautiful drop kick from the 40-yard line by Shipley made up the total of the Aggies' score. In the second period Porter and Meegan, by long end runs, carried the ball to the Aggies' three-yard line, and it looked as though a touchdown was a certainty. The visitors made the mistake of attempting to carry the ball over on mass plays and the Aggies' line proved a veritable stone wall and the ball went to the farmers on downs. Burns immediately kicked out of danger. This was the nearest Washington College came to scoring, and it was a narrow escape for the Aggies.

Toward the close of the second half Meredith, the visitors' center, made a weird heave of the oval to Porter for a punt, the ball rolling over the visitors' goal line and resulting in a safety for the Agriculturists.

The feature play of the final period was Shipley's drop kick from the 40 yard line. It was practically dark when the period began, and the spectators could not see the ball except when it was kicked high against the horizon.
