Kennedyville Grange Notes

Monday evening, June 18th, was an eventful one in the history of Kennedyville Grange, made so by entertaining one hundred fellow Patrons of Husbandry from the Valley Grange of Cecil county, in the locality of Principio. The past winter two degree teams were organized and trained in the Kennedyville Grange, embracing in one capacity or another a large portion of the membership. Bro. Edgar R. Pennington was Master of the First and Second Degree Teams and Bro. George R. Rasin was Master of the Third and Fourth Degree Teams. Sister Edgar R Pennington directed the marches and Sister J. D. McCabe the very effective and graceful tableaux. Each had the hearty co-operation and support of the participants, which made possible the final success achieved. These degrees were given in the local grange in the spring to a large class of candidates received into the Kennedyville Grange. On one of the occasions State Organizer James T. Anthony was present and expressed himself as greatly pleased with the results accomplished in this line. Thru his instrumentality it was arranged that the First and Second Degree Team of the Kennedyville Grange should go to Hopewell, Cecil county, to give these degrees to a large class of candidates to be admitted to the Valley Grange. This plan was carried out and an invitation was extended by the Kennedyville Grange to Hopewell Grange to come to Kennedyville for it candidates to receive the third and fourth degrees. The invitation was accepted and the date set fo the evening of June 18th.

About 100 made the trip in automobiles, including from sixty to seventy candidates. Visitors were present from Still Pond, Galena and Fairlee Granges, in Brother William G. Smyth, Pomona Master, and Sister Acca V. Crew, State Treasurer, also Bro. James T. Anthony, State Organizer. The third and fourth degrees were presented with dignity and precision The tableaux with their grace and symbolism added greatly to the effect, as did the music by the choir, with Sisters E. L. Redmile and Charles Clendaniel, as pianists The degree work having been completed Worthy Master Edgar R. Pennington assured our visitors of the warm and sincere welcome accorded them and the real spirit of hospitality which pervaded our entertainment. He then introduced Bro. Clayton McDowell, of Principio, Worthy Master of Valley Grange, who expressed his personal appreciation and that of his grange of the efforts the Kennedyville Grange had put forth in their behalf. Ex-Senator Henry McCullough of Elkton, was next introduced and responded with a brief but stirring review of the ideals for which the Grange stood; clean morals and wholesome pleasures. Pointing to the cross, the symbolism of Christianity, and the flag, the symbol of patriotism, he said no order inspired by these could fail in imparting high ideals. He spoke in strong terms of the blot upon our State of the race-track evil, driven out of every state of the Union, but three had fastened itself upon our own beloved State, with all its attendant evils, and which he believed if our State would have God's blessing, must be wiped out, and called upon the Grange of our State for their co-operation in blotting out this stain resting upon her.

Mr. John Kimble, of Port Deposit, was next called upon. He told his recent experiences at Washington in representing agricultural interests. Rev. J. S. Whitaker, of Hopewell, was next called upon by our Master and voiced the appreciation of his fellow grangers of the degree work which had been presented and the welcome accorded them. After this feast of reason, a feast of cake, ice cream and coffee followed; our visitors leaving us in the early morning hours. About 250 were present in all. It was conceded that much benefit would be derived by all present from the pleasant social interchange and the inspiration derived from the presentation of these degrees in a worthy and befitting manner. Our visitors left with a hearty invitation to the Kennedyville Grangers to return their visit in the future.
