ROCK HALL

James Grant, a former resident of Piney Neck, died suddenly at his home in Queen Anne's on Friday of last week. His remains were brought here on Saturday evening for interment.

John S. Hindes, of this place, died at the Cambridge Hospital, where he has been a patient for quite a while, on Friday of last week. The remains arrived here on Monday, funeral services being held on Tuesday, Rev. Mr. Prettyman officiating. The deceased was one of the model young men of our section and a member of the M. E. Church.

Among the Sunday visitors here were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hague, of Sassafras; Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Crew, of Lynch; Mr. and Mrs. Morse, Baltimore.

Mrs. A. Alexander is in the city this week and will spend several weeks there. She will participate in the Jewish New-Year observances.

"Great Scott!" how congratulations are being showered upon the old man because of the arrival of a bouncing pair of grand-daughters at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Hague. Won't we have a rollicking good time when the tots get to romping size!

If there is a law requiring cyclists to display lights at night, wonder why it is not enforced? If there is no such law, wonder why one is not enacted? "Bikers" are the most dangerous to pedestrians in this section because of their propensity to travel without lights at night.

Early risers on Tuesday and Wednesday mornings report seeing frost.

Parties and politicians are to be congratulated on the non-factional contests so much deplored and disgusting in other years.

The oyster business here is getting on more activity this week. Oysters are very scarce, report has it. Where 12 or 15 bushels could be caught last spring 6 or 8 bushels are the limit now. The main reason for this shortage is, oysters died on the bars. Another reason is, oysters are clear of mussels, whereas last season they were covered with mussels and water galls. The best on the bayside are bringing 40 cents.

Assistant Postmaster Rodney has quit the postoffice for the oyster bars. The P. M. has conscripted his better half for assistant and she is right on the job.

Band concerts daily are quite entertaining to our residents these days. They are given by Adams Theatre Co.

Miss Alva Hogans, of Baltimore, has been visiting her mother, Mrs. Laura Porter.

Miss Amanda Hogans returned to Baltimore Wednesday to continue her studies at the State Normal School.

The farmers are quite busy now cutting off corn. Many are contracting, owing to the heavy yield.

The M. E. Church people expect to hold a fish, crab, etc., supper on Saturday, Sept. 29th, the proceeds to form a nucleus toward a new parsonage.

Beginning Sunday, Sept. 22nd, the M. E. Church of this place will have what they call "Home Coming Week." Ministers from different churches and all those that have preached here in the past years will be asked to come again. Also those persons who have moved away from here will again find a warm welcome in the home church. Everyone come and join us. All welcome.

A disease unknown to the doctors has broken out among Mr. Ringgold Jones' horses. He has lost several.

Hog cholera is making its way around again. This will mean a great loss to the farmers as well as to those who have but two or three.

Mrs. J. K. Rodney still remains quite sick.

Mrs. Herbert Ashley has received a letter from her son, Romain Ashley, U. S. Navy. He has started for France.

STILL POND

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Wheatley and interesting daughter, Mary, of Baltimore, are visiting her grandmother, Mrs. M. J. Howard.

Mrs. J. T. Baxter is visiting her daughter, Miss Ruth, at Wilmington.

Miss Bertha Zentcoft, of Baltimore, has been visiting her friend, Mrs. Chas. Walter, at her home here

Mrs John F. Davis, of Folcoft, Pa., is visiting in the home of her daughter, Mr. and Mrs. F. B Harper.

Miss Dorothy Medders left during the week for Wellesley Inn, Wellesley, Mass. where she will enter as a student. Her mother, Mrs. Wm. Medders made the trip with her.

Mrs Elmer Wilmer and sons, Earl and Elsworth, of Baltimore, are visiting her aunt, Mrs. Susie Toulson, near town.

Mrs. Fred Ford and daughter, Velma, left during the week for New York city, where they expect to make their home in the future.

Miss Hazel Thompson has returned to her home in Rock Hall after spending the summer with her grandmother, Mrs. Emma Thompson.

The Epworth League will be lead this Sunday evening by its president, Mrs. William Medders. Topic—League Study Courses.

ACCORDING to reports from the various sales of personal property advertised in the NEWS that have been held recently in Kent county, live stock and farming implements are bringing high prices. Sheep have sold as high as $22 a head, hogs and shotes are bringing from $15 to $22 each. At the sale of Eugene L. Dudley, over in Queen Anne's a farm wagon, 38 years old, sold for more than $50 According to some statements, farming implements are bringing near their market price, even after much usage.

Local Notes

IN the NEWS last week there were advertised at public sale 135 head of horses and mules and 182 head of cattle, besides, hogs, sheep, implements, etc.

A CIVIL service examination will be held in Chestertown Sept. 22nd for stenographer and typewriter for government service. Applications for Form 1424 at the postoffice in Chestertown may be made.

RINGGOLD JONES has lost three horses during the past week with meningitis, and has two others sick.

CHAUTAUQUA closed Tuesday evening with "The Chimes of Normandy." Those seven joyous days will live in the memory of hundreds of our citizens and this community will be a happier and better place in which to live because of it. About 500 pledges have been received for tickets for next year and more than 60 guarantors so that we are assured of a return in 1918 of Chautauqua.

PAUL, the seven-year-old son of Paul Massey and wife, while riding on a wagon loaded with tomatoes was run into Monday by a big truck hauling sand for State road and leg broken above the knee.

EFFECTIVE September 15, the Public Service Commission has announced an increase in general commodity freight rates between stations on the Maryland, Delaware & Virginia Railway. Effective the same date, there will be increases of rates on fertilizers shipped from Baltimore and Chestertown over the same line.

JOE LAMBERT's Ford was badly damaged when an auto filled with Cecil county negroes ran into it near Davis' Hill on Sunday. In Mr. Lambert's auto besides himself was his brother Dumont, Thomas Drew and a colored boy, none of whom were injured. One of the negroes sustained a fractured collar-bone and the driver was somewhat lacerated. Justice Moffett fined the negro chauffeur $25 and costs on Monday.

THE University of Virginia have put in "Special War" courses for students who will enter this fall. Mr. Galen Vansant, of Chestertown, is a student.

VANSANT & NEWSOME have just received their new Fall Stetson hats and Onyx hosiery. Have you seen them?

THE Jewish holiday begins Sunday, Sept. 16, at sundown and will last for two days, ending Tuesday at sundown. Abe Cohen and family will leave Sunday morning for Baltimore to participate in the above holidays, and his store will be closed until Wednesday evening when it will be opened for business upon his arrival home.

DR. TOULSON, of Chestertown, writes for candy. The Sun of Tuesday says: Hard at work helping to accomplish the defeat of the Kaiser, Drs. W. H. Jenkins and W. H. Toulson, stopped their duties on the other side of the Atlantic to pen a few lines to friends in this city and express a desire for candy.

In letters to Dr. W. J. Stein, superintendent of University Hospital, to the staff of which both formerly were connected, each says that the lack of dainties is difficult to overcome. Both said it often has come home to them the way they neglected to appreciate the sweets when they had opportunities while in Baltimore. Dr Jenkins is in France with an ambulance company of the British Expeditionary Force. He writes: "At times I've worked in mud up to my waist. The country where I am has been laid in waste by previous battles. I'm living in an old chateau, getting plenty to eat and drink. Most of my work consists of stopping the flow of blood from the wounded, who then are then sent back to a clearing station.

Dr. Toulson is also with the British forces, but he is assigned to a military hospital of 800 beds in England. Both men have many friends here.

THE Chautauqua superintendent kindly gave the use of the big tent for a meeting of the Kent county branch of the Tuberculosis section of the Red Cross and for the introduction of the Health Nurse. Officers for the year were elected as follows: President, Dr. H. G. Simpers; secretary, Mrs. Louis Wood; treasurer, Mrs. P. A. M. Brooks. A score or more of new members at 25 cents each were enrolled. The ladies hope to receive subscriptions sufficient to purchase a means by which the nurse may reach patients. About $25.90 is in hand for this purpose.

THE boys from Kent enlisted in the various companies expect to go into camp at Anniston, Ala., and other places Sunday.

AN electric blower has been installed this week in Christ M. P. Church by Frank Brown, of Wilmington, Del., at a cost of about $250. It is to be used in pumping the big pipe organ and thus saving man power. It has been the ambition of the faithful organist for some years to have this machine installed and the congregation promptly came to her help.

MARK JACKSON, of the Compulsory Work Bureau, the object of which law is to conserve labor, was in Kent yesterday. He requests citizens to assist by notifying the sheriff of unemployed. The measure is an extraordinary one passed at the last session of the legislature. He is here to co-operate with the county officials, and he will visit every county in the State. The law affects men between 18 and 50.
