Local Notes!

CHICKEN THIEVES made a raid on the hen house of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Armstong Saturday night and stole a number of chickens from them. Mr. Armstrong was not at home, but Mrs. Armstrong tried to catch the thieves and succeeded in getting one of their caps.

SEVERAL auto collisions have occurred in and near Chestertown during the past week. Polk DeCorse was run into by an auto Tuesday morning as he turned the corner at Kent Circle. His vehicle was damaged somewhat.

THE auto of F. S Russell was badly damaged in Church Hill last Sunday when an auto being driven by Mr. Engrem, of Millington, ran into him. Mr. Russell's wife and mother-in-law, Mrs. Smith, of Church Hill, who were thrown out, had narrow escapes, Mr. Engrem's car being stopped within about a foot of Mrs. Russell's head, who was thrown to the road by the impact. Mr. Engrem's car practically undamaged, while Mr. Russell's was so badly damaged that he was compelled to leave it at Church Hill for rhe time.

THE following teachers have resigned in Kent same to take effect this month: Misses Ethel Ringgold and Carrie S. Bolton, Locust Grove; Miss Margaret A. Myers, Rock Hall.

A PETITION in bankruptcy was filed by John F. Greenwood, a farmer of near Chestertown, in the United States District Court Wednesday through Attorney H. E. Perkins. A statement was made showing his liabilities to be about $500. He admitted his inability to meet the claims of his creditors.

THE new proving grounds in Harford county are being rapidly put in shape. While the dispossessing of so many of their homes is to be regretted, the condition that confronts many of the poorer colored residents is extremely pathetic. Quite a large number, after years of toil, have been able to become the possessors of a few acres of land, and a home, not very valuable from the standpoint of dollars, but their "HOME." There are probably 3,000 people who will be required to move from their homes and with them, it is estimated over 12,000 head of stock, and just how they will be disposed of is another serious problem which must be speedily solved. Sheep, hogs and cattle could probably be slaughtered although in these days of conservation these methods are being discountenced by Mr. Hoover's officials. To dispose of horses and mules at this season, means distinct loss, as they will not bring anything like their value. The duckers predict their sport will be ruined.

If any one in the 2nd district has been neglected in getting a Hoover pledge card will they please notify the lieutenant, Mrs Edgar R. Pennington, or one of her recruits.

WHILE on his way to Chestertown on Wednesday night, accompanied by his daughter and son, an auto coming from an opposite direction, ran into the team of Henry Smith, of Queen Anne's Co., completely demolishing the carriage. The auto driver did not help the injured, but quickly made his getaway.

THE hunting season in Kent begins today. Be sure to read the caution notices in the NEWS today.

CAPT. ADDIE NEEDLES, of Queen Annes, a few miles from Chestertown, missed his horse a few days ago and thought it had been stolen. But upon searching the marsh near his home found that the horse had gotten into the mire and died there.

WM J. DEFORD'S horse and carriage was found on the public road near Worton Saturday night by Harrisson Tilghman. It was cared for and delivered to Mr. Deford Monday. A copy of the KENT NEWS with Mr. Deford's name on it was found in the carriage and it was by these means that the owner of the team was found.

THE Ivens store at Worton was purchased at public sale on Saturday last by Chas. C. Ivens, who will open an up-to-date store there at once. The dwelling house was purchased by Mrs. J. W. Ivens and the lot by Thos. Ivens.

A THIEF attempted to steal the porch settee Thursday night at the home of Mr. Peregoy, on Mill street, but was frightened away. Householders had better keep an eye on their porch furniture.

Adler-Rochester Clothes

GOOD as they are, the materials in ADLER-ROCHESTER CLOTHES aren't as unusual as the workmanship in them. And excellent as this workmanship is, it isn't as rare as the style that these clothes portray.

For style is more than judgment in choosing, more than diligence in combination. It is a grouping of details, an arrangement of elements—the harmony of lines blended with the poetry of motion. And, yet, achieving style is the most practical art in the world—an art of which you are the highest critic.
