Help Them

Another little child has shriveled up and died.

The mother, creeping back, gaunt and cold, from the desert, has put down the thin little bones with those that strew the road, so many miles, and has sunk beside them never to rise again.

Only a little child, and a mother, out on the bleak Armenian road—but what is that Vision hovering there—and what is that Voice the cold winds bear to the ears of our souls—"I was hungry, and ye gave me no meat—I was naked and ye clothed me not."

Today—yes, today while we are preparing our gifts for Christmas—many more of these little children—not a hundred, nor a thousand, but TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND of them—are still wandering uncared for and alone in that dead land, "their weazened skins dinging in fear to their rattling bones," and they are crying out with gasping breath, "I am hungry—I am hungry—I am hungry." And the Voice of One who watches us as we prepare gifts to celebrate His birthday, comes again to the ears of our souls—"I am hungry—I am hungry—I am hungry."

Now the children and the mothers in Armenia are dreading the winter. "Just human remnants, they are, not protected, many of them, from the elements by even the dignity of rags. The most favored have merely shredded rags." How shall we sing our Christmas songs—and laugh—and light the candles—and give beautiful gifts—while that pleading Voice cries in the ears of our souls—"I am naked—and cold—naked and cold."

But we can feed and clothe these perishing ones—some of them—before it is too late. Herbert Hoover has cabled from the Caucassus, "It is impossible that the loss of 200,000 lives can at this day be prevented, but the remaining 500,000 can possibly be saved." They need not starve and freeze and die if WE will save them. In the name of Him who saw the multitude 'as sheep not having a shepherd, and was moved with compassion toward them," who exclaimed, when His disciples would turn them away, "They need not depart; give ye them to eat," open now your heart and purse and give to these Christians whom He loves—who are suffering for Him, and with whom He is suffering. They need not die! Give ye them to eat!

He fed five thousand hungry people in the wilderness—and said to His followers, "The things that I do shall ye do also, and greater things than these shall ye do." Today nearly eight hundred thousand destitute Armenians—His people—need food and clothing.

He took little children in His arms and blessed them. Today will you take one, or more of these sad, cold, hungry little children of Armenia into your arms and heart, in His name, and give them food, and warmth, and life?

What a joyful Christmas it will be, when with your songs and your laughter, you hear a Voice of wondrous sweetness speaking to you, "O ye blessed of my Father, I was hungry and ye gave Me meat, I was naked, and ye clothed Me. Inasmuch as ye have done it to these My brethren, ye have done it to Me."

M. D. & V. Compensation.—The Federal Railroad Administration has agreed upon $45,540 as a yearly rental compensation to the Maryland, Delaware & Virginia R. R. Co. for the time it is under government control. The compensation is regarded as largely nominal in financial circles, though it is admitted that company failed to show any excess earnings during the period on which the basis of the settlement was reached. The company is controlled by the Pennsylvania R. R. and the report of the compensation was made to its officials in Philadelphia.
