The members and friends of Olivet M. E. Church, Galena, surprised their pastor, Rev. Frank White and his family, last Friday evening by taking a donation to the parsonage. A large crowd attended bringing a very substantial donation

Chestertown M. E. Church, Rev. T. F. Beauchamp, pastor, services tomorrow as follows: 11 a. m., sermon, "Love That Transforms;" 2.15 p. m., Sunday school; 7.30 p. m., Epworth League and sermon by pastor.

J. Lincoln Hall, the noted composer and singer of Philadelphia, and his associate, Irving Mack, will spend the entire day at the M. E. Church, April 21st, and have complete charge of the music all day.

Last Sunday morning a Patriotic Service was held in Galena M. E. Church. Rev. Frank White preached from the text found in Judges, fifth chapter and twenty-third verse, "Curse Ye, Meroz, said the Angel of the Lord, Curse Ye Bitterly the Inhabitants thereof; Because They Come not to Help of the Lord, to Help of the Lord Against the Mighty." If any one thinks that text isn't applicable to these times let him read the entire passage and give it serious thought; then resolve to be not a follower of the inhabitants of Meroz.

The address of the evening was made by Chaplain C. H. Frick, of Camp Meade, and response by Rev. T. F. Beauchamp. Miss Grace Newnam unfurled the banner. Patriotic songs were sung and a violin solo rendered by T. K Bordley.

The flag was the gift of the Young Men's Club to the church. In addition to the names published in last week's "News" were E. F. Bowen, William Miller, Robert Ayres, Lester Baldwin, Wm. Floyd Brown, Geo. R. Crothers, Jr., Norman Peterson and Thomas W. Perry.

George Carter has resigned as sexton of the M. E. Church, and Robert Smith has been appointed in his place.

The members and friends of the Chestertown M. E. Church gave the pastor, Rev. T. F. Beauchamp, and wife a splendid donation on Thursday evening. About 40 persons were present.

Baltimore churches, with one exception, were practically left untouched in the plan of appointments as read by President Warner, at the closing session in Broadway Church, of the Maryland Annual Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church. That exception was St. Paul's in East Baltimore, whose pastor, Rev. J. A. Dudley after having served the church for six years, going a good work, was sent to the church in Pocomoke City, Md. He will be succeeded in the city by Rev. F. D. Reynolds.

Taking the plan of appointments as a whole, there were fewer changes among the ministers on the 150-odd charges than in years, and many pastors who had expected a change, were at the last moment reassigned to their old charges. One charge that created some surprise was, in the case of Rev. George Q. Bacchus, of the Park Road Church, Washington. The church was sold during the last few weeks, and he was sent to Centreville, Md. Rev. N. O. Gibson was sent from Pocomoke City to Easton, succeeding B. F. Ruley, who was assigned to the church in Seaford, Del., taking the place of Rev. J. L. Nichols, who was loaned to the War Work Council of the Young Men's Christian Association, and is now somewhere in France.

Rev. Dr. J. M. Sheridan was reappointed superintendent of the Church Extension Work of the Maryland Conference and Rev. L. A. Bennett was made evangelist-at-large, and left without an appointment to engage in that work.

Accamac, Va., J. N. Link; Parkley, Va., H. B. Jester; Rolandville, W. N. Sherwood; St. James, Avery Donovan; Wesley Chapel, A. F. T. Raum; Warwick, Ziba Adams; G. A. Morris was left without appointment by request; C. E. McCulloh was added to the superannuates.

The circus horses belonging to Jess Willard were sold in Baltimore last week and brought from $200 to $500 each. There were 70 of them. Stevens Bros. bought a pair beauties.
