HEARN MOTOR OILS

Are Uniform and Dependable because they are tested before they are sold

A test to which each grade of Hearn Motor Oil is subjected before it is offered for sale is the Acid and Alkali Test. YOU can make this test if you desire, for it requires neither instruments nor technical knowledge.

A small quantity of motor oil is mixed with six times as much denatured alcohol. In applying some of this mixture to blue litmus paper, should the litmus paper turn red, the presence of acid in the oil would be indicated. If you apply the same mixture to red litmus paper, and the paper should turn blue this would indicate the presence of alkali.

Each grade of Hearn motor oil is subjected to this test to detect whether it contains any acid or alkali, for the presence of either in a motor oil interferes with its maintaining the proper film on frictional surfaces; as a result metal rubs on metal and you have scored cylinders and worn bearings. The acid or alkali corrodes the metal parts of the motor and carbon forms more quickly and in greater quantity.

There are six grades of Hearn motor oil prepared to meet all requirements. You can secure the proper grade for your car for this season of the year.

There is a Hearn filling station convenient to you. The man at that station knows, and he will see that you get the correct grade of oil for your car.

Hearn "Y" Motor Oil is specially prepared for use in most makes of cars all the year around.

Hearnoleum Products The Hearn Oil Company manufactures tractor oils, greases and fuel oil.

Hearn Gasoline is reliable When you buy Hearn Gasoline, you get a gasoline that has been rigidly tested before it is offered for sale. It is tested for ready vaporization, power, purity, mileage, uniformity and non-carbonizing qualities.

USE HEARN GASOLINE AND MOTOR OILS and you will get maximum service from your motor.

A GREAT ATHLETE

Miss Adelaide Lambert, Former Chestertown Girl, Defeating All Comers In New York Swimming Contests

Speaking of Miss Adelaide Lambert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kent Lambert, of Panama, formerly of Chestertown, the New York Times, in a special article, says:

"Miss Adelaide Lambert, 15-year-old acquatic star of the Women's Swimming Association of New York, who created such a stir by winning the national 100-yard free style championship at Rye last week, affords another remarkable example of the benefits derived by young girls—and boys, for matter of that—from participation in water sports. There is greater need, however, to emphasize the point where girls are concerned, because of the stand taken by American educators against all forms of competitive athletics for college and school students of the fair sex.

"Little Miss Lambert, like so many of our champion mermaids, was a weakling, actually slightly deformed from structural defects, at the time she took up swimming. Yet in the two years elapsed since she has grown into a sturdy, healthy lassie and corrected entirely the physical imperfections from which she suffered in childhood. The best proof of the great good accomplished by her training for swimming is the fact that in so brief a period she has developed from a frail, sickly youngster into a contestant of title rank, able to pit herself successfully against the strongest rivals in tests of speed and endurance. For let it be mentioned, the newly crowned national champion is an all-around swimmer of exceptional skill, whose times for the middle and longer distances proclaim here to be one of the country's top-notchers up to one mile, at least. In competition she has done 220 yards in 2.50 and 440 yards in 6.15, figures which only three of four fair devotees of natation have beaten. At practice she has shown proportioned pace over the other regulation courses, though she has not tried them in contests to date. But she swims these longer distances with speed and ease, which is an important consideration. Regular training in watermanship has made her sound, vigorous and well built.

Miss Lambert says that probably she never would have devoted time to become expert had not the hope to succeed as a contestant been a constant urge. Other girl champions whose physical reconstruction was due to swimming say the same thing. To the average girl, or boy, exercising for the sake of exercise holds little appeal; it means drudgery. But the prospect of competition makes of practice recreation and play, then training becomes the means toward an enjoyable end and there is no feeling of sacrifice in working hard, avoiding those things which are undesirable or harmful and leading a healthful, normal life. That is why leading acquatic authorities would see water sports fostered at every college and school for girls."

—The will of the late Mrs. Carrie Wroth has been fined for probate in the Orphans Court for Kent county. It was directed to Thomas G. Wroth and provided that all her property, eral and personal, be sold. That the proceeds to be used to erect a monument, mausoleum or chapel in Chester cemetery to the memory of the Caleb and Wroth families. The will was made in 1912 and witness by Mr. and Mrs. Frank D. Leary, Chestertown.

4 vital things a good oil does

Flow. Good motor oil flows quickly to the place it's needed—spreads evenly over the surface—gets there without fail in spite of heat or cold extremes.

Work. It holds the metal surfaces absolutely apart, no matter what the pressure, heat or clearance.

Wear. Above all it keeps on working, day after day—keeps a firm oil cushion longer in spite of hard service, dilution and water condensation—burns clean when it does go—gives greater mileage.

Cost less. Good oil costs less per mile if reasonably priced. It goes further and saves motor trouble.

Polarine is such an oil. It gets quickly to the spot, spreads evenly at all working temperatures, does its work thoroughly, outwears oils of inferior quality, yet costs little more per gallon and much less per mile. Buy from the Polarine Chart at your dealer's and get every vital quality in this all-round motor oil.

KEEP YOUNG

People with bad backs and weak kidneys are apt to fel old at sixty. Many old folks say Doan's Kidney Pills help them keep young. Here's a Chestertown case:

Thomas Clements, retired farmer, 108 S. Mill St., gave the following statement August 16, 1916: "I suffered from attack of backache and whenever I bent, I had sharp pains in the small of my back. As Doan's Kidney Pills had been used in my home for several years, I took some and haven't been troubled since. I bought this excellent medacine at Toulson's Drug Store."

On January 25, 1921, Mr. Clements added: "Whenever my kidneys trouble me, I use Doan's Kidney Pills and they always do me a great deal of good. I have never found anything equal to Doan's."
