Rheumatism Arrested

If you suffer with lame muscles or stiffened joints look out for impurities in the blood, because each attack gets more acute and stubborn.

To arrest rheumatism you must improve your general health and purify your blood; the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is Nature's great blood-maker while it also strengthens the organs to expel the impurities. Scott's is helping thousands who could not find other relief.

these women must be kept at the highest point of efficiency if the Allies would win.

"At the present time the Y. W. C. A. is offering such help to the women of France through its recreational centers and its entire devotion to France that it has already increased the military efficiency of the women. Housing has been attended to. Women now have a more normal social relationship with their returned soldiers, recreation of all kinds has been provided. Training for leadership and the instilling of patriotic ideas with a new understanding of what they are fighting for has been the first measure of service which this great organization of women was able to offer the Allied Government. The Y. W. C. A. certainly helped to turn the tide."

THE BOMB PARLOR.

For Americans in Paris.

Word has just come from Paris to the National War Workers Council of the Y. W. C. A. that a new "Bomb Parlor" has just been added as the newest feature of the Hotel Petrograd. The Hotel Petrograd is run by the Y. W. C. A. for American women working in France.

The "Bomb Parlor" is a good size room at the bottom of the house and has no outside walls. When a series of unearthly wails from the sirens announce air raids, the women assemble out of their beds and down into the "Bomb Parlor" in double quick time. Once there they report that they feel quite safe from harm. A report just cabled to the War Work council in New York gives this very interesting information written by a woman now living at the Hotel Petrogard.

"Many times I have made the flight down to the "Bomb Parlor" twice in a night. It is War and we soon get used to it. We get so that we can drop off to sleep again as soon as we get back to bed. We spend the time between "alerte" that turns us out of bed and "all clear" signal that tells us to go back with games, visiting and reading. I have seen Red Cross nurses on the floor fast asleep in spite of the awful din of the bombs.

FROM CHURCH AND GUARD-HOUSE.

From church to guardhouse is logical when both happen to be Y. W. C. A. Hostess Houses.

The War Work Council of the Y. W. C. A. has not taken generally to turning churches and guard houses into hostess houses but the demand is great with plans for an increased army.

Requests from Camp Commanders and authorizations from the War Department arrive at Y. W. C. A. headquarters, 600 Lexington Ave., New York, at the rate of one a day. It takes time to build the houses.

In one camp where a house was needed badly, a Methodist Church in the village was offered to the Hostess House Committee. At another, a six roomed bungalow was offered.

At Camp Lee, Va., the camp authorities requested further hostess service and are fixing up a guard house with veranda, small kitchen and rest room. The Y. W. C. A. is furnishing the lounge with hickory furniture and attractive cretonne and are placing two secretaries there.

It is in the replacement camp, where the boys are in quarantine however, they will be allowed to visit the hostess house to see their families before they leave for "overseas."

THE "HANDY" WOMAN.

One of the interesting developments of America's participation in the world war for democracy is found in the gradual increase of the importance of the part played by the women of this country. This importance was very aptly pointed out in a recent report made by Miss Henrietta Roelofs, director of Young Women's Christian Association War Work in France, to the War Council of the Association at a meeting held in New York. In this report Miss Roelofs stated that the military value of the women today is two-thirds, as compared to the one-third value of the man.

Whether or not this is an exaggeration, the fact remains that the man has a fighting value, while upon the woman depends the morale without which victory will be impossible, and also a very necessary support of the war industries. Upon a successful support of either one of these two elements depends victory, just as much as it depends on the fighting ability of the man, and for this reason woman's military value can be said to be equal at least if not paramount to that of the man. The woman must make the uniform, she is an adept ammunition maker, she must keep up the spirits of the man, and if he returns maimed or crippled it is the woman who must do the reconstruction work. In fact, the day of the "handy woman" is upon us, for women are expected to interest themselves in every line of work and upon her assumption of this responsibility depends our success in the war. Among the seven organizations that will come forward in November asking for the country's financial support for their work only one is an organization of women devoted to the care of women. The Government has asked the Young Woman's Christian Association to look after the woman, both at home and abroad, who is engaged in this important labor of contributing so much that is necessary to the forces that are going to win the war. It is interesting, and decidedly edifying to note the part that women are playing, and the influence that the "handy woman" will wield, will by no means be insignificant.
