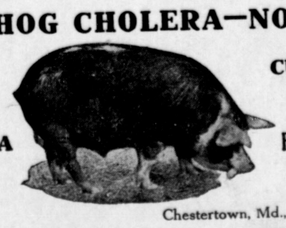
START YOUR FIGHT AGAINST HOG CHOLERA—NOW

HAD HOG CHOLERA



CURED WITH FER SUL

Chestertown, Md., October 20, 1916.

The Westmoreland Chemical and Color Co.,
Philadelphia, Pa.

Dear Sirs:—The hog you refer to is all right and is fat enough to kill.

I bought some more hogs on September 30th, and put them in the pen where the other sick ones had been. Sprayed the pen with "FER-SUL," and they are all right so far.

Yours truly,
E. J. WATSON.

FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN OVERWHELMINGLY SUCCESSFUL

The total subscription is in excess $6,850,000,000—an over-subscription of $850,000,000. The estimated number of subscribers in the first loan was 4,500,00; in the second loan, 9,500,000; and in the third loan, 18,300,000. Final figures both as to the total amount of subscribers are still lacking but results will not be less than now reported.

A particularly inspiring part of the campaign was the subscription of the men in the army of more than $75,000, 000, and of the men in the navy of more than $43,500,000. Our soldiers have shown that they are not only willing to fight but to lend to the limit of their means to back their government. Mr. McAdoo says, "to the press of the country, especially, credit is due for emphasizing through their news columns and editorial pages the necessity for making this great loan successful. In spite of the influenza epidemic, the unenacted revenue bill, and other unfavorable factors, the American people have consummated the greatest financial achievement in all history."

CAMP COMMANDER NAILS LIE

The liquor interests' wail that while the saloons have been closed up on account of the influenza epidemic trainloads of whiskey have been sent to the military camps for treatment of influenza patients among the soldiers is now categorically and officially branded as untrue.

Major General Scott, commander of the camp, issued an emphatic denial.

Not a dose of whiskey was prescribed during the entire epidemic, according to Lieutenant Colonel W. Coles Davis, commandant of the Camp Dix base hospital. Lieutenant Colonel Harry R. Beery, camp surgeon, also declared that modern army surgeons have entirely discarded whiskey and other alcoholic stimulants in the treatment of patients. The use of whiskey especially in influenza cases, he said, is likely to prove as harmful as the use of a posin.

Colonel Beery said that when the base hospital was established at Camp Dix fifteen quarts of whiskey was included in the original shipment of medical supplies. No more has been received and the original fifteen quarts are intact in the storeroom.

WE MUST HAVE CHRISTMAS

The suggestion has been made that because we are engaged in war, and suffering from many of its horrors, we forego the customary observance of Christmas this year. The suggestion, however, will not appeal to many persons, especially to families where there are children.

We must have Christmas, if only for the children. Nor is their any reason why the great day of days should not be observed by everybody, even those who have felt the weight of war's heavy hand. The day is so filled with human interest and human sympathy that Christian people would feel wonderfully unsettled and out of place if they refrained from giving it full recognition.

Therefore, let us bear Christmas in mind and prepare at once for its appropriate observance, in the way of making early purchases of holiday impore. Especially should people bear this in mind in respect of purchases to be sent to our soldiers abroad, engaged in fighting the Hun, that miserable destroyer of Christmas feeling. And, of course, the children must be remembebred.

The suggestion in respect of buying for our soldiers is important. All Christmas packages for shipment to the war fields abroad must be mailed by November 20, otherwise they will not be delivered in time. Work to this end should begin immediately.

So strat at once upon the pleasing duty of sending appropriate Christmas remembrances to our soldiers in foreign fields.

When you use the telephone, you are for the time being a part of the telephone system. The operator can connect two telephones, but unless somebody listens at one end and somebody talks at the other, the wire might as well be cut. And the better the talking and listening, the better the service.

The Telephone Company endeavors to do its part by furnishing the best of mechanical appliances, maintained at a high efficiency and operated by intelligent employees.

It is highly important that cooperation should exist between those giving the service and those served.
