NEWSY TIDINGS FROM OUR BOYS

James W. Crouch has received a most interesting letter from his son, Lieut. Norman S. Crouch, who is with the flying corp. He says, "I have been moved to Paris and am financial requisitional officer of the whole American Aera Supplies. I work under a captain who has recommended me for a promotion. He has given me charge of the purchasing department of aviation with the idea of my being sent to Italy. I realize this to be a big job but hope to make good. This will necessiate my discontinuing flying for the time being as I was examined by a medical board and classified as unfit for flying on account of the accident to my neck of which I wrote you, but will be able to resume again in 45 days. By that time I will be in Italy. Paris is a wonderful place to live but very expensive. It costs me $5 a day for room and meals. Since you heard from me I have had my long hoped for experience I went to a little town outside of Paris and by the goodness of the officer in charge flew a ship to the front and landed at the Airdome of the Americans. The following day I made a trip across the German lines in the formation with other Americans and during the St. Mihiel drive participated in the flight over Metz. I took some pictures of the town and will bring them home. The front is a wonderful place as seen from the air. On the trip over and return everything was quiet, the only thing exciting being the anti-aircraft shells bursting around us and seeing the white smoke hitting close around, but always under us. However that is finished and I am now in Paris which is the best sector of the war."

Goldey Hadaway, son of Mrs. Geo. R. Hadaway, was gassed in June. He writes to his mother from the hospital November 5th as follows: "I am still living and feeling good. It looks like the war will soon be over and Tom won't get to see any fun. So much the better. The big guns are the best and safest of any. You are away back with them Not so with the machine gun. The one I had when I was on the firing line I shot 500 shots per minute. I used her for 48 hours steady firing and never had even a drink of water or a thing to eat. I was first gunner and had to stay by her. I was nearly all in, too, when I got out. The next gun to me was taken by the Germans and when they started away with it I got orders to throw it on them. When day-light came we found the gun, and the 18 Germans that had it, dead. Some were cut into two pieces.

I have a broken rib which was caused by a German prisoner I had taken hitting me with a stick. I have a scar on my left hand given me by a German which I will carry to my grave. After all that I am stouter than I ever was."

Mrs. George Carter, Sr., received a letter last week from her son, Sergeant Julian R. Carter, stating that he was in a hospital in France.

Private Herbert Usilton, of the Radio Corp, stationed at Richmond, Va., who has been confined to the hospital for several weeks with a severe attack of influenza has been granted a furlough and is recuperating at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Usilton. Mr. and Mrs. Usilton received word this week that their other son, Clarence, of the Navy, has been transferred from the Great Lakes to Brooklyn, N. Y.

GALENA

Our people were glad beyond measure that the war is over. A parade was gotten up and marched to the school where Rev. Frank White addressed them after which he led in a prayer of Thanksgiving and the children sang "Praise God from whom all blessings flow" and saluted the flag.

Mrs. Eugene Hungerford, of Milton, is spending sometime with her aunt, Mrs. John Walls.

Mr. and Mrs. James Caldwell, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Caldwell and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Caldwell attended the funeral of their aunt, Mrs. Ellen Hall, at Warwick, on Monday.

Mrs. Eva McCauley has been visiting her brother, Jerome McCauley, at Chestertown.

The new service flag presented to the town by the Epworth League the new Fourth Liberty Loan flag, and the large American flag with the gold star in honor of James Caldwell, our first soldier to give his life for the peace we now celebrated were all flying Monday morning soon after the news reached us.

A. Lindell Beaston met with a slight accident to his car Monday night when he ran into a culvert near his road gate.

Last Sunday afternoon the car owned by Harry Todd, of Galena, collided with a Pennsylvania car near Davis Hill, in upper Kent. Mr. Todd and wife were proceeding toward Locust Grove, when a short distance this side of Davis Hill they were met by the Pennsylvania car containing Mrs. Wm. King and son, John R., who was driving and Miss Bessie Thomas, of Philadelphia, who were returning from a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Pennington, of Kennedyville. It seems that the drivers, who were running at a good rate of speed, and being well curtained in, were unable to see how close to each other they were running. In the crash the front wheel of Mr. Todd's car was torn down, throwing Mrs. Todd out and badly bruising her chest. The occupants of the King car, which was considerably damaged, were considerably cut and bruised and were brought to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Pennington, at Kennedyville, where medical attention was rendered.

ROCK HALL

"Hurrah for three cheers." The war is over and every body is happy, except the profiteers. The wild and joyous jubilations the country over is evidence that the rank and file of the people didn't want war. May He, who tempers the wind to the shorn lamb, sustain and comfort those whose homes are sad.

As over time and Sunday work at Aberdeen is cut out now, many of our watermen are expected to return home and follow other pursuits

This section seems well supplied with coal for the winter. Our coal dealers have each landed about two car loads. Good for Davis and Hogans.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Apsley, of Philadelphia, were guests of the former's father and family, Capt. and Mrs. J. E. Apsley.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. W. Clayton, of Chester, Pa., motored down to the home of Mrs. Clayton's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Ayres, on Sunday last.

Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Ryan and daughter, Hazel, were week-end visitors at the home of Miss Ryan.

Mrs. J. A. Smith, son Clifton, and friend, Julian Coleman, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ryan, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Taylor, of Harford, are guests of Mrs. S. M. Taylor.

R. A. Shallcross, of Chester, is on a visit to his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Davis. who have been residing in Baltimore for several months, are now at home here. Mr. Davis met with an accident at his ploce of employment a week or so ago, which caused a severe injury. He seems to have had a very close call. He is improving.

Spencer, who is in France, writes home that he is in the hospital with a slight wound of the arm, caused by a piece of shrapnel.

Nothing has been heard from Marion Smith by his parents for more than two months, which is causing some anxiety.

The Daughters of America, at this place, will celebrate the 22nd Anniversary of their council on the evening of the 26th inst. with a family reunion. A sumptuous Hooverized supper will be a feature, followed by a musical and literary entertainment.
