THE MOST DANGEROUS DISEASE

No organs of the human body are so important to health and long life as the kidneys. When they slow up and commence to lag in their duties, look out! Find out what the trouble is—without delay. Whenever you feel nervous, weak, dizzy, suffer from sleeplessness, or have pains in the back—wake up at once. Your kidneys need help. These are signs to warn you that your kidneys are not performing their functions properly. They are only half doing their work and are allowing impurities to accumulate and be converted into uric acid and other poisons, which are causing you distress and will destroy you unless they are driven from your system.

Get some GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules at once. They are an old, tried preparation used all over the world for centuries. They contain only old-fashioned, soothing oils combined with strength-giving and system-cleansing herbs, well known and used by physicians in their daily practice. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules are imported direct from the laboratories in Holland. They are convenient to take, and will either give prompt relief or your money will be refunded. Ask for them at any drug store, but be sure to get the original imported GOLD MEDAL brand. Accept no substitutes. In sealed packages. Three sizes.

The Farmer Receives More Than Five Thousand Dollars a Minute From Swift & Company

This amount is paid to the farmer for live stock, by Swift & Company alone, during the trading hours of every business day.

All this money is paid to the farmer through the open market in competition with large and small packers, shippers, speculators and dealers.

The farmer, feeder, or shipper receives every cent of this money ($300,000 an hour, nearly $2,000,000 a day, $11,500,000 a week) in cash, on the spot, as soon as the stock he has just sold is weighed up.

Some of the money paid to the farmer during a single day comes back to the company in a month from sale of products; much does not come back for sixty or ninety days or more. But the next day Swift & Company, to meet the demands made by its customers, must pay out another $2,000,000 or so, and at the present high price levels keeps over $250,000,000 continuously tied up in goods on the way to market and in bills owed to the company.

This gives an idea of the volume of the Swift & Company business and the requirements of financing it. Only by doing a large business can this company turn live stock into meat and by-products at the lowest possible cost, prevent waste, operate refrigerator cars, distribute to retailers in all parts of the country — and be recompensed with a profit of only a fraction of a cent a pound—a profit too small to have any noticeable effect on the price of meat or live stock.

Swift & Company, U. S. A.

A KENT COUNTY BOY

The following history is from a camp paper published in New York. Col. Jones is a brother of Mrs. Ralph Williams, of Worton.

One of the interesting phases in the military career of Lieut. Col. Robert E. Jones, Camp Executive Officer, is the fact that both in 1914, as a Second Liuetenant, and in 1918, as a Lieutenant Colonel, he served under Col. Mallory until recently Camp Commander, going with him from Fort Jay to Camp Lee and from Camp Lee to Camp Upton. Each time these two officers met, Col. Jones was a bit higher on the ladder of military eminence.

Near Chestertown, has been the home of the Jones for many generations, and it was there that the Camp Executive was born—May 28 1886—making him thirty-two years old. There are few Lieutenant Colonels below that age, and of those few, perhaps only two or three in the whole army, hold a position equivalent in importonce to that of Camp Executive Officer, which Col. Jones now occupies.

Col. Jones was destined at an early age for the military profession, for soon after he ended public School near Chestertown in 1905 he entered St. John's College at Annapolis, Md., one of the ten foremost military institutions in the country, graduating four years later with the degree of B. S. Col. Jones took up a course in mechanical engineering, knowledge of which he used when he served in the Philippines. While at St. John's he took an active interest in sports, being at one time manager of the varsity baseball team, and at another, captain of the varsity football team.

Was Honor Graduate.

He was also on the track team. In his seniour year at college he served as Cadet Captain. In every one of these capacities he proved himself able, thorough and conscientious. At the completion of his course so well did he acquit himself in his studies that he was designated "honor graduate," a distinction very few are accorded, and he was given a Second Lieutenant's commission in the 29th Infantry Regular Army.

For eight months after his graduation Col. Jones was an instructor at Staunton Military Academy, Virginia. He was then assigned to duty at Fort Niagara, N. Y., in 1910. While there, from 1912-1913, he acted as Commandant of Cadets at the De Veaux Military School, a private institution, continuing in his army duties meanwhile, until he was transferred, in 1913, to Fort Jay, Governor's Island. At that time Col. Mallory commanded the regiment stationed there. Col. Jones's service was and has been practically all with troops in the field. For a while he was Post Adjutant and later, for an equally brief period, commanded a machine gun platoon in the 29th Infantry.

In September of 1914 Col. Jones went to the Philippines and joined the 13th Infantry there. He remained on the Islands for three years, up to July, 1917, doing for the most part garrison and field duty. His station was at Fort William McKinley which is about five miles from Manila. For a period of seven months during 1915 he volunteered for and was sent on a mapping expedition composed of a detachment of twelve men. The purpose of the expedition was to obtain an accurate and minute survey of the topography of the country around Begueo. Needless to say, the venture was satisfactorily carried out. During his stay in the Philippines, Col. Jones spent a two months' leave of absence traveling through Japan, Korea, Manchuria and China. In Japan he visited the principal cities, taking in Yokohama, Tokio, Kioto and Osaka. In China he visited Pekin and Tien-Tsin, among other cities and lesser prominence.

Went Rapidly to Captain.

On July 1, 1916, Col. Jones received his promotion to be a First Lieutenant. May 15, 1917, while still in the Philippines, he was advanced to Captain. It was while holding this rank that he returned to the United States by way of the Paciffic in August of 1917, when this country was already at war with Germany. For some time after his arrival he was stationed at the Presidio of San Francisco, Cal. Then in October, 1917 he went to Fort Sill, Okla., where he was on duty until the latter part of November, taking up a course in bayonet fighting at the Infantry School of Arms, receiving at the completion of it a certificate as Bayonet Instructor for a division. Rejoining the 13th Infantry at Camp Fremont, Cal., he gave bayonet instruction to men of the 8th Division. In May, 1918, he went to Camp Lee, Va., and took up duties there as commanding officer of the 10th Battalion, Infantry Replacement Camp. A month later, June 7, he received his promotion to the grade of Major. In Sept. of 1918, he came to Upton to act as Executive Officer, succeeding Major Thomas. Exactly four months after he received his Majority Col. Jones was due for another advancement, and this time, on October 7 rose to be a Lieutenant Colonel, which rank he now holds.

An only brother of Col. Jones, Charles R. Jones, is also in the Regular Army, serving as Cautain in the 20th Infantry, stationed at Camp Funston, Kan. One of his sisters, Daisy Jones, is an army nurse, serving in the Philippines.

In appearance Col. Jones is tall soldiery, youthful, easy of manner and quite informal. Despite the fact that he wears a silver leaf he is as approachable and democratic as a First Lieutenant. He is 5 feet 11 inches in height, and weighs about 170 pounds.

He has few hobbies, but is fond of athletics, and is never happier than when serving in the field with troops. As to special talents he is considered efficient as a drillmaster, but has exhibited genius in office work as well.
