Farm Mortgage Loans In Kent

A total of $282,500 of Federal Land Bank and Land Bank Commissioner's farm mortgage loans was made in Kent county, Md., from June 1, 1933, to May 1, 1934, according to the Farm Credit Administration.

Of this total, farmers in Kent county used approximately $265,800 or 94.1 per cent to refinance their indebtedness. By refinancing, farmers obtained new mortgage loans which they used to repay their old debts. They generally reduced their annual interest charges in doing so.

Of the loan money used by farmers in Kent county for refinancing their debts, about $[illegible]3,200, it was estimated, repaid their debts to banks; $2,800, their taxes; $2,000, their debts to merchants; $102,800, their debts to "others," or creditors not separately classified, including private mortgage lenders, mortgage loan companies, retired farmers and many others to whom farmers were in debt.

A total of about $16,700 of loans in the county was used for purposes other than the refinancing of borrowers' debts. Of this sum, $4,800 was used for the purchase of land and equipment, the construction or improvement of buildings, and for general agricultural uses, including the provision of capital, while $11,900, the balance, was used for the purchase of stock in national farm loan associations, for loan fees, etc.

Throughout the United States approximately $675,000,000 of land bank and Commissioner's loans were made from June 1, 1933, to May 1, 1934. Most of these loans were made to refinance debts resulting from the long period of low farm income.

Land Bank loans made through national farm loan associations carry an interest rate of 5 per cent, but there is a reduction to 4½ per cent until July, 1938.

Until March 26 the land bank and Commissioner's loans were made in cash. Commencing on that date were made mainly in the government-guaranteed bonds of the Federal Farm Mortgage Corporation.
