The Democrats of Kent county will hold a mass meeting in the Lyceum Theatre, Tuesday afternoon, October 25th.

The next Congress will probably strengthen the Volstead law, declare in favor of a 12-mile limit for the protection of the American coast, put the prohibition unit under the Civil Service, provide increased enforcement funds and possibly purchase and further concentrate all distilled spirits in bond.

William R. Wilson, of Ingleside, candidate for the State Senate in the recent Democratic primary, was painfully but not seriously injured Wednesday morning, when his Hudson Sedan turned turtle at the approach of the Rock Hall ferry. D. Edgar Hurlock, of Church Hill, who was an occupant of the car, also suffered minor cuts and bruises.

The thoroughfare was wet and slippery, and pulling out of the road to let another car pass, the machine skidded. When Mr. Wilson attempted to bring the machine back into the road it turned over. Mr. Wilson's left arm and small finger on the left hand were badly lacerated. Several stitches being taken in the wounds after he reached Baltimore. He was also otherwise bruised and cut. Mr. Hurlock sufferel numerous bruises and cuts, but none of a serious nature. One wheel of the car was demolished, a fender smashed and the windows broken.

Where the law goes, there civilization goes and stays. When the law fails barbarism flourishes. Whoever scouts the law, whoever brings it into disrespect, whoever connives at its evasion is an enemy to civilization. Change it if you will—that is, to abide by it—but observe it always. That is government. And government is no less government because it is self-imposed—Coolidge.

Prohibition enforcement is not an expense to tax-payers. The liquor law violators pay the cost and something besides. This has been demonstrated many times, not only in certain districts, but in the general report of Roy A. Haynes, Federal Prohibition Commissioner of the United States. In some States the revenue from enforcement amounts to a large sum of money. In Wisconsin, for instance, the "Enforcement Commission" costs the State $60,000, but the return in fines for the same period of time has been as much as $500,000.

Farmers of Kent are watching the experiment Buckingham county, Va., is giving as an object lesson of what more chickens and dairy cows and less wheat acreage will accomplish in the struggle against adverse agricultural conditions. There the land is split up into small farms, the average-sized farm being 35 acres. The farm being small the labor problem is eliminated. In most cases the labor problem is eliminated. In most cases the farmer looks after it himself with the help of his family. The large land-owning farmers frankly admit they are not making money, while the small farmer with his chickens and eggs and dairy cows and milk is getting ahead. Milk is shipped through co-operative milk-selling associations.
