Once again local audiences will have an opportunity to view that darling little star of the screen Shirley Temple. On Monday and Tuesday she comes to the screen of the New Lyceum Theatre in "Baby Takes a Bow," and its said that her performance is even better than that which she gave in "Little Miss Marker." James Dunn and Claire Trevor have important roles in support of Shirley in this film, whose plot concerns the efforts of two ex-convicts to go straignt. Shirley Temple has the part of youngster who thinks all of the real things they are doing—such as endeavoring to steer clear of a criminal who is trying to compromise them—are a part of a huge game. The story takes a thrilling twist when Shirley is kidnapped by the criminal who uses her as a shield to escape the bullets of the police.

On Wednesday and Thursday "Here Comes The Groom" will be the featured attraction at the New Lyceum Theatre. Jack Haley and Mary Boland, grand comic stars have the leading roles in this yarn of a girl who wanted the man she married to be a tough guy. Told to rob a bank or his finance would not marry him, Haley starts on a career of crime which becomes funnier every minute. His attempt to rob poker game ends disastrously when two real crooks butt into his plans.

On Friday and Saturday evenings there will be another of the popular double featured bills offered at the New Lyceum Theatre. The first attraction will be Tim McCoy in "Police Car 217," in which the popular Tim appears as a detective who always gets his man. The other attraction features Rex, the wonder horse," and the title of the film is "King of Wild Horses."

On Wednesday and Thursday there will also be offered the complete pictures of the Championship heavyweight boxing match between Max Baer and Primo Carnera. Telescope lenses were used in the making of this authentic film, and every punch and move of the fighters can be easily discerned. The entire eleven rounds are shown, with a preliminary statement and a view of the crowd following the fight.

DISTRIBUTING THE NATIONAL INCOME

During the last few years we have often heard it said that the main trouble with our economic system is that the great bulk of our national income goes to "capitalists," and that the worker gets only the leavings.

Now Henry I. Harriman, President of the United States Chamber of Commerce, comes forward with the facts. In 1929, our income touched the high of $85,000,000,000. Wages and salaries accounted for $52,000,000,000, the farmer got $12,000,000,000 and $10,000,000,000 went to professional people. Only about $11,000,000,000 was paid as return on capital.

Does that look as if capital takes all the cream, while the worker gets only the skimmed milk? And what is capital but stored labor entitled to earnings?

When you are told "How well you look," that means your face is red.

A man tells about his faults cheerfully—all except the one that scares him.

Martial law might end kidnapings in places that are not afraid of martial law.

TEACHERS AT SUMMER SCHOOL

Among those teachers from Kent county who are attending Summer School are:

JOHNS HOPKINS UNIBERSITY, Baltimore, Md.—Miss Mary W. Carroll, Miss Emilie N. Skirven, Miss Louise Kendall, Mrs. Lorraine U. Williams.

UNIVERSITY OF DELAWARE, Newark,Delaware—Miss Grace Burris, Miss Lillian Leager, Mrs. Nannie K. Strong, Mrs. Edna E. Faulkner, Mrs. Anna M. Hague, Miss Mamie C. Donahoe.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA, Charlottsville, Virginia — Miss Lois Baxter.

STATE TEACHERS' COLLEGE Fredericksburg, Virginia — Miss Louise Hepbron.

Miss Priscilla Johns, soloist in the in the choir of Asbury M. E.Church, Easton, was singing a solo entitled "Will There Be Any Stars On My Crown," Sunday night, when after singing several lines of the hymn, she fell dead in the church. The congregation became very much excited, and consternation reigned for a time.

Finally after a doctor pronounced her dead the body was removed from the building. The congregation was so much upset that the services were abandoned. The singer was a victim of a heart attack.

Love seeketh not itself to please
Nor for itself hath any care,
But for another gives its ease
And builds a heaven in hell's dispair.

—William Blake

REGARDING OLD AGE PENSIONS

The adoption by two Baltimore city political clubs of resolutions strongly favoring a mandatory old age pension system for Maryland sets an example which other civic and political organizations may well follow.

Legislative action favorable to the movement for this form of caring for the dependent poor waits only on the development of a widespread public opinion supporting it.

The cost, if properly distributed would scarcely equal the meager and utterly miserable provision made for this class of dependents in almshouses.

Murderers, robbers and swindlers confined in jails are vastly better cared for than the aged and helpless poor who have never violated the laws or done aught else detrimental to the community.

When the money invested in buildings to shelter the paupers is taken into account, along with the cost of maintenance and the salaries of attendants, it is easy to see that real economy is against almshouses.

An estimate made in a large Northern city some years ago throws a good deal of light on the question of cost. It was made by private parties, students interested in social problems, for their own purposes.

Annual reports were gathered from every charitable institution which could be reached. The values of buildings and the endowments were totaled. The revenues from other sources, such as public appropriations and annual contributions from churches, fraternal organizations and other sources were capitalized and added to the investments.

It was found that this total, put out at four per cent. interest, would yield more than $490 for each bed or room occupied during the year.

And this estimate was based upon a by-no-means exhaustive survey of the moneys expended by the instutions included.—Evening News.

Here is an epitaph found in an old New England graveyard. Read it and—learn:

"Here lies our wife, Samantha Proctor;
She ketched a cold and would not doctor,
She could not stay, she had to go...
Praise God from whome all blessings flow."

MIDDLETOWN LIQUOR LAW IS INVALID

Judge Richards has filed an opinion in General Sessions Court, Wilmington. holding that an ordinance adopted by the Mayor and Council of Middletown, limiting the alcoholic content of alcoholic or spirituous liquor to be sold for consumption on the premises where bought in the town, is void.

The opinion was filed in the case of Martin R. Boyer, hotel proprietor of Middletown, who was refused a license to sell liquor at the Middletown Hotel, by the Delaware Liquor Commission, in view of the ordinance of the Town Council.

The commission had informed Mr. Boyer that it would refuse to grant a license to be used in any county or subdivision thereof, contrary to any prohibitory law then in force in such county or subdivision.

AUTO ODDITIES

(1) This model plane built by M. B. Bassett of Philadelphia recently flew 187 miles from Camden, N. J. into Maryland. The plane is driven by a small single cylinder gasoline motor. (2) Florida anglers have taken to the air in autogiros to hunt for giant sea turtles. If successful the turtle is harpooned and drawn up into the autogiro, if unsuccessful, the angler is pulled off into the water. (3) An Iowa dentist recently built this miniature automobile for his small son. It is complete in every detail even to a real transmission and clutch. (22)

The desire for perfection is natural, for it is God's eternal demand.—Christian Science Monitor.

It is a melancholy fact that few travelers believe that traveling bag can be made big enough.

Though we travel the world over to find the beautiful, we must carry it with us or we find it not.—Emerson.

Greatly begin, though thou hast time,
But for a line, be that sublime
Not failure, but low aim, is crime.
