$1.50 PER YEAR | CHESTERTOWN, MD., SATURDAY JULY 14, 1934 | 112th YEAR, NO. 1

Police Courts Are Active In Kent During Week

Joseph Davis, of Rock Hall, is being held pending the outcome of injuries with which Davis is charged with inflicting upon Mrs. Maude Price, who was found lying along the roadside near Rock Hall two weeks ago badly beaten. Sheriff John T. Vickers arrested Davis shortly after Mrs. Price was found. The sheriff and Police Justice Chas. R. Kerr went to Easton Hospital, where Mrs. Davis has been confined since the alleged attack, and found that her condition is such that she may be able to appear at a hearing before the police justice in Rock Hall shortly.

—o—

McCall White, colored, was convicted of shooting up the lights, etc., at Sharptown Church, and sentenced to one year in House of Correction by Judge Kerr at Rock Hall.

—o—

Arthur Brewington, colored, was arrested in Wilmington Monday night on a charge of assault and battery on Constagle Edw. Squires, of Millington, on September, 1932, after Squires had placed him under arrest and had hancuffed him. Squires suffered painful cuts and bruises from the handcuffs and a broken bottle with which he was assaulted.

Brewington, a Smyrna, Delaware Negro, was arrested following a call to officer Squires from a farmer near Unicorn Mills that a Negro was lying along the highway drunk with a bag of chickens.

—o—

Stanley Plaetzer and Louis Aiell of Rock Hall, were arrested by Sheriff Vickers this week charged with operating a slot machine. They waived a hearing and are held for Court.

No Carnival If $1500 Is Raised

Public Subscriptions Will Supplant Affair

By an almost unanimous vote, members of the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company at its meeting on Monday evening voted to abandon the annual carnival as a means of raising maintenance funds this year provided in the event of $1500 being raised prior to August 1. As a substitute public spirited citizens and business interest of the city who have opposed the holding of carnivals have contributed pledges amounting to more than $1200 thru a campaign conducted during the past two weeks by Laurence G. Brown, one of the leading members of the fire company. A. L. Sparks and R. Clarke Davis were added to assist Mr. Brown. It is believed that the citizens' fund will be supplemented by contributions from city and county authorities, which will provide a fund of close to $2000 annually for the maintenance of the company which is purely a volunteer organization.

For eight years the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company has staged its annual fete, each year in the public square. The greatest amount ever netted by the fete, which usually ran ten days, was nearly $6000. Last year the net receipts fell off to $1,400 while the gross amount went up over $5,000 showing that outside interest profit largely by the affair.

FARM BURNED

The stable used as a storage house on Henry A. Kratzer's, Jr.'s place at Pomona was destroyed by fire at noon Tuesday. It originated from a fire started in some rubbish by several children. Mr. Kratzer's loss will amount to about $400 including articles stored and on which there was no insurance.

The home, nearby, was threatened by the flames but good work by members of the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company saved the building.

The flames spread to a field on the farm of Ridgely and Irving Brown and this occupied the attention of a number of those drawn to the conflagration. The fire was first noted by Miss Lillian Brown who lives on the farm adjoining.

Wheat Yields Good In Kent

Wm. Ford, With 35 Bushels Best Reported

The wheat yield in Kent is turning out fine. Most farmers are getting from 20 to 30 bushels per acre. The scab cut the yield about ten to twenty per cent.

Local buyers were paying 85½c cents yesterday.

In addition to the splendid wheat yields reported in NEWS last week we herewith note others. Harry Nichols, near Chestertown, threshed 32 bushels off his stalk ground and 25 from his fallow.

Walter Moffett, near town, threshed 27 bushels per acre.

Edw. Wilkins got 34 bushels from his tomato field and a fair yield on balance.

Raymond Price, near Still Pond, threshed 30 bushels per acre.

Wm. Ford, at Still Pond Station, got an average of 25 bushels and 35 off tomato field.

S. J. Massey got 20 bushels off the Aldridge farm near town and 25 bushels off his farm near Millington.

Samuel Spray, tenant on the Worrell farm two miles from here got an average yield of about 30 bushels per acre, the wheat being in excellent condition.

Harry Bolton, of near Galena, threshed 28 bushels off one field and 33 off the other.

Robert Subers, across the bridge near town, got 28 bushels per acre off 40 acres.

J. I. Rigby got 2600 bushels on the Cecil farm owned by the Kent County Savings Bank.

William Crow averaged 26 gushels per acre on the Crow farm near Kennedyville.

Kent Flyer Sees Aviation Aid To Farming Industry

Capt. Thomas B. Bourne, of Crumpton, who for many years has been engaged in various fields of aviation activities and who is one of Uncle Sam's Flying Corps pioneers, has just won another promotion in the Bureau of Air Commerce of the United State Department of Commerce.

For several years Capt. Bourne has been Superintendent of Airways of the U. S. Department of Commerce, and official announcement has just been issued from Washington to the effect that he now becomes manager of the First Air Navigation District of the United States, with headquarters at Newark, N. J.

Reaching the Eastern Shore this week, Captain Bourne, as a veteran in the flying service, expressed keen interest in aviation experiments conducted by the Phillips Packing Company, of Cambridge, Md., packers of "Phillips Delicious" Soups and Vegetables. In a letter to Col. Albanus Phillips, president of the company, Capt. Bourne writes:

"I have been keenly interested in reading of your new system of aerial crop inspectors to insure the packing of strictly garden fresh commodities. It strikes me as most unusual that aviation has not sooner played an important part in the great packing industry and I am, naturally, gratified to see that, at last, its value in this field is being recognized in a practical manner."

His new duties bring Captain Bourne from the air to the ground. He is in charge of the main offices of the division at Newark, N. J., where he will supervise the varied activities of the Bureau of Air Commerce. When not attending to his aviation duties, Capt. Bourne's hobby is a very modern poultry hatchery on the Chester River, where he has been successful in developing numerous fine strains of layers.

Bibb's Inn Site Is Postoffice Choice

Committee, Visiting Goldsborough, Receive Assurance Of Immediate Construction

600 On Petition Favor Bibb's Inn Selection

Herbert E. Perkins, Esq., accompanied by G. Harry Cannan and Justice Robert Moffett visited Congressman T. Alan Goldsborough in Denton last Saturday in reference to the contemplated new postoffice in Chestertown.

Announcement that an appropriation for the erection of a new post office building here is now available revived interest in the selection of a location. When the erection of the new building was determined upon some months ago the Post Office Department entered into negotiations with Thomas W. Eliason, Jr., for the purchase of the Bibbs Hotel at the corner of Spring avenue and Calvert street as the site. Subsequently emergency caused a substantial reduction in the amount of an original appropriation of $67,500, which caused the Post Office Department to rescind its action for the purchase of the Eliason property. This action threw the matter of the selection of a location open again.

A petition signed by nearly 800 patrons of the office was procured and placed before Mr. Goldsborough favoring the Bibbs site, besides other influences.

The committee came home with the assurance that the new office would be located on the Bibbs site and he would do all in his power to have the work started at once.

BEACH PARTY AT CHESTER RIVER CLUB TONIGHT

A beach party, followed by a dance in the club house, will be held at the Chester River Yacht and Country Club tonight; with the beach party beginning at 6.30 followed by dancing in the clubhouse at 7.30 p. m.

Philip K. Wilmer, chairman of the entertainment committee, announced that beer, weenies, hard crabs and salad will be served, with tables provided for various groups on the pier and beach. Music for the dance will be furnished by Basil Sadler's orchestra, of Baltimore.

78 YEARS YOUNG

City Councilman John W. Barnes was given a surprise Bingo party at his home on High street Tuesday evening, July 19th, the occasion being in honor of his 78th birthday. There were quite a company present of his family neighbors and friends present. After the Bingo game refreshments were served. Mr. Barnes was also the recipient of gifts, and a shower of birthday gifts, and a shower of birthday cards.

The City Councilman has completed 63 years of service as foreman in the office of the Chestertown Transcript. During his entire service of more than a half century, Mr. Barnes, has been absent from his post only two weeks on account of illness. He entered the Transcript office as an apprentice when a boy of 15, when the late Eben F. Perkins, for many years County School Superintendent, owned the paper, and has served continuously under the following editors and owners; Col. George A. Hanson, Samuel Sullivan, Casper Woodall, Collins and Hopper, Collins and Bowers, and is still doing valiant service with the present owners and editors, R. H. Collins and Sons. Mr. Barnes is probably the oldest newspaper foreman on the Eastern Shore in point of service. Prior to being re elected to the City Council, Mr. Barnes served the term as Mayor of Chestertown.

Contracts Are Being Issued

"If you had a hard time getting your furnace oil last winter, watch out!" is the warning being issued today by the Gulf Refining Company. Letters, telegrams, and telephone calls are being delivered to last year's customers with the statement that there will be no difficulty in supplying all home-owners who sign up now, but that it may prove difficult to provide for those who wait until late fall.

Particular emphasis is being made in the letters, telegrams, and telephone calls to customers about Gulf's price protection. If the market price of furnace oil drops, the Gulf contract gives the customer the benefit of the difference. It is also being pointed out that the quality grade of furnace oil is made by

YOUNGER SET PLANS AN AUTO TREASURE HUNT

The younger set of Chestertown, which is enlarged greatly during the summer months by the influx of visitors to this inland resort, are planning a series of events and games for the next month; among which will be an auto treasure hunt.

This type of amusement is not new, for in the "good old days" such pastimes were indulged,though the horse and buggy figured in the scheme of things instead of the automobile.

Harrison W. Vickers, Jr., and Phil Brooks have charge of the arrangements for this affair, which is to take place Wednesday evening, July 18th. These young men have stated that a large crowd is desired and they will welcome all who choose to enter the hunt. A charge of one dollar per car will be made to cover the expenses of refreshments and to provide for a prize.
