Youth Pick Friendship As Of Greatest Value

QUESTIONNAIRE SUBMITTED TO STUDENTS TO PICK COURSES FOR YOUTH CLASSES

Very great preparation is being made to support the High Schools of Kent County in their effort to develop and improve our youth. With the approval of our County Superintendent, Mr. Louis C. Robinson, and the hearty cooperation of each of the four High School Principals, a questionnaire was submitted to the High School students on Monday of this week. The purpose of this was to discover some of the immediate needs of our youth.

The questionnaire covered twenty-four areas of experience which normally enter in to the life of every youth. The area covered were as follows: Friendship, Bible, Vocations, Religious Concepts, School, Sunday, Boy-Girl Relations, Conflicts, God, Home, The Holy Spirit, Citizenship, Jesus Christ, Conduct, Science, Social Problems, Church, Money, Worship, Self Knowledge, Organizations, Prayer, Time, Christianity.

The students were requested to check five in which they were most deeply interested. From the more than four-hundred returned a careful checking revealed Friendship receiving 254 votes. Vocations 226, Conduct 150, Boy-Girl Relation 125, Time (leisure) 118. Each of tests will be discussed at the Standard Training School (an inter-denominational activity) to be conducted in the Methodist Protestant Church, Chestertown, six Thursday evenings beginning Thursday November 1st. An entire evening will be given to the consideration of each of the five areas chosen. The procedure will be, a presentation of the subject by the discussion leader, group thinking and discussion, with summary by the leader.

This course is open to all young people seeking an intelligent way to greater self expression which is the gateway to the more "Abundant Life." For further particulars consult your minister of church counselor.

Opportunity Classes To Begin Wednesday, Nov. 7

The opportunity classes which will begin work November 7 offer a rare chance to all high school graduates not already enrolled in some college.

At the meeting of Washington College officials and county directors of Emergency Education programs a plan was worked out whereby Washington College will give credit for the work pursued in the different county centers. Instructors of such classes must meet certain requirements and be approved by the College advisory committee. Members of the Washington College advisory faculty committee will visit the different instructional centers, will supervise the selection of texts, the outlines followed, and the methods employed. They will also grade the examination of candidates for college credit. What an opportunity for college credit. What an opportunity for a boy or girl to earn one-half or more of a year's credit without cost to his family while he remains in his own home town or rural community.

For those who have dropped out of school without completing the high school work, other courses on a high school or elementary level will be offered if desired by a sufficient number, and also courses for the general public.

Ten persons are necessary to justify the organization of a class and an average attendance of eight must be maintained throughout the course. Classes will be organized in any centers where there are enough interested pupils to maintain them.

Classes will meet twice a week for a period of two hours. School buildings may be used from 4 p. m. to 10 p. m. if needed for the classes.

Registration for this work must be completed by October 27. Blanks for the purpose may be secured from the local high school principal or from the office of the Board of Education and should be turned in at one of these places. Applicants should register by terms, November, December, January, comprising the first term, and February, March, and April the second term.

Among the courses that may be offered are: English, History, Mathematics, Home Nursing, Sewing Food Equipment, Farm Bookkeeping, Typewriting, Business English, Stenography, Painting, Sketching, Design and Color Arrangement, Group Singing, Dramatics, Nature Study, Floriculture.

23 Marks Will Vote Fall Ticket

The ballot will contain over fifty names, and if every person stops to read all the names it will take some people several minutes to mark their ballot. However, there is a way to vote correctly, and that way is to mark an X mark opposite the word DEMOCRATIC wherever it appears on the ballot. And after you have done this look over your ballot and see if you have missed any. There is no excuse for any Democrat to vote for a Republican. A mark opposite the word DEMOCRATIC will vote every Democrat, there being 22 names.

Monroe Coleman, of Rock Hall, is very likely the champion tomato hauler of this section. During the past tomato season his big truck would carry 710 baskets at each load. It is said that Metcalfe Bros., of Chestertown, paid out over $30,000 for hauling tomatoes.

It requires 22 marks to vote a full Democratic Ticket.

Mark an X in box after the word Democratic.

COLLEGE ASSEMBLY SPEAKER

The Washington College Thursday morning assembly of November 1st will be addressed by Dr N.. Bryllion Fagin, of the English Department of Johns Hopkins University. Dr. Fagin is outstanding as a scholar in his field and is in much demand as a speaker. Washington College feels privileged to present Dr. Fagin as an assembly speaker.

Friends of the college are cordially invited to this assembly.

NOTES ON SPORTS

Football enthusiasm hereabouts has revived with remarkable suddenness, and Saturday's victory by Washington College over Johns Hopkins had no little part in the revival. Give fans a team that wins and they're with it to the end.

—o—

The complaints of the past, that towns-folk were not with the team, have dropped away; and now, in every street conversation, football is the theme.

—o—

Today Washington College is playing Mt. St. Mary's at Emmitsburg,and we continue to have hopes for a victory. That the Mounts are a strong defensive club was brought out in last Saturday's contest, when they held Gettysburg to a 2 to 0 win.

—o—

The offense of Mt. St. Mary's,however, is not so hot. Hopkins, their star ball carrier, is out of the line-up this season, due to an auto accident, and Arthur Malloy's boys are content to struggle on the defense and hope for a break that will give them victory. Washington, on the other hand, has a good offense, an alert club and is strong in the protection bracket of the game. The game, while not a walk-away by any means, should find Washington the favorite by virtue of its proven offensive strength in two previous contests.

Just to show you to what extremes popular support will run, today many towns-folk will journey to Emmitsburg for the game; while in the past they wouldn't even bother to listen to a Washington score over the radio. Everybody likes a winner.

—o—

"Gibby" Young thoroughly proved his reputation as a speed merchant on Saturday, when he snared that Hopkins pass and romped 101 yards for a touchdown...George Ekaitis came out of a long retirement with a smile at the same moment...And Coach Kibler, in his excitement, squirmed all over the bench...Such sedate and settled fans as Donald Stam, Jack Stenger and Doctor Cain were swept to their feet by Young's spectacular play, and were found to be hoarse and shaking when the final whistle blew.

—o—

With a bowling league well under way in Chestertown, talk is now beginning to spring up concerning the organization of a basketball circuit for Kent. Of course any actual formation of such a league is predicated upon the availability of the Chestertown Armory for a court, as it is the only place in the county for such sport.

The latest suggestion that has been made since the rebirth of football hereabouts is that Washington College should win all of its six games this season...and then go to the Rose Bowl for the New Year classic!

—o—

An elaborate program is being arranged for Home Coming day at Washington College on November 3rd, with the football game in the afternoon as the featured attraction. Susquehanna will be the opponent. A dance, a dinner and the usual handshaking and back-slapping will be included in the festivities.

—o—

We ran into Dutch Lentz, St. John's coach, on our way from Homewood on Saturday. We said, "Hello," and asked him what he thought of the rejuvenated Shoremen. He said they were plenty good, as far as he was concerned, and added that he wasn't at all sorry that Washington was missing from his schedule this year.

STOMACH AND NERVES BAD?

Mrs. M. L. Price of 125 Winter St., Hagerstown, Md., says: "I felt worn out—suffered from stomach complaint and was awfully nervous. I used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and it helped me in every way—gave me a fine appetite, strength and energy, and the stomach distress disappeared."
