Movies

On Monday and Tuesday evenings America's foremost actor, Geo. M. Cohan, will be featured on the screen of the New Lyceum Theatre in his second role of the films, "Gambling." Mr. Cohan first appeared on the screen in "The Phantom President," and now he returns in a stage vehicle which served for two years on his beloved Broadway.

"Gambling" is the tale of a canny gent who earned his bread by games of skill, and the unwatchfulness of his opponents. When death mysteriously takes his daughter, Cohan sets about finding the cause of her death with the help of two women of questionable repute. And thereby hangs the action, plot and thrills of this photoplay. And that is just what "Gambling" is, a photoplay. An unusual technique has been used in the treatment of this play on the screen; one that more closely paralells stage procedure in the production of a plot and the working out of action and settings. As a departure from the beaten path, "Gambling" is interesting screen fare. And as a movie of comedy, romance and thrills it is above par, with Mr. Cohan thoroughly displaying that he is at home in the realm of celluloid drama. Wynne Gibson and Dorothy Burgess play important supporting roles.

On Wednesday and Thursday evenings at the Sew Lyceum Theatre that redoubtable livestock commission merchant, that perveyor of the nasal cat-calls, Joe Penner, will be the featured attraction in his first film venture, "Coolege Rhythm."

Paramount took no chances in the making of this hilarious musical of college life with Penner in the leading role. To insure a hit, which it truly is, they star-studded the cast of "College Rhythm" with such performers as Jack Oakie, Helen Mack, Lydia Roberti, Lanny Ross and Mary Brian.

"College Rhythm" is out and out a musical show with a college background and enough hit songs to make you love it; along with, of course, the stellar cast which appear in its many elaborate scenes. One of the features of the film is its thrilling football scenes which have been combed from news-reel shots of many of the countries' greatest gridiron contests so that a touch of reality could be had for footbal' sequences. Gordon and Revel have written the songs for the show, and Lanny Ross presents them in his popular style. Penner, of course, has plenty of opportunity to demonstrate in person what you hear him utter over the air. To see him is to thoroughly enjoy his hilarious humor.
