

I called upon Capt. Gittings and asked him could I speak to him privately. He replied that everything was private at the station-house. I then told him that I had received notice to close election day and he would oblige me if Mr. Snyder's saloon was closed upon election day. He asked which Snyder as he had any number of them under his men. Then I told him the location. Then he asked me my name. He then remarked "Why what's the matter with you have you joined church lately? Every crust of bread you have your father made selling Upon Sunday". I then remarked "Why doesn't the law require Mr. Snyder to close and aren't you here to enforce the law?" He jumped up and told me if I became so d - m smart and tried to run the station-house, he would lock me up in a minute. He continued that my father kept a dive there at his place of business, and he (Capt. Gittings) helped to close the place on Sunday. He then said that Mr. Snyder and I had some petty jealousy, and that I was not going to use him as a tool. That he refused to interfere. And if I continued to prowl (his exact word) about Mr. Snyder's place, that he (Capt. Gittings) had given orders to the officers to lock me up.

There is the conversation upon which I wish to prefer charges.

Very respectfully yours,

CHAS. W. HENDERSON."
