be invaded, we are resolved and we are prepared to maintain them." [Loud and continued cheers from both sides of the House.]

Lord Clarendon said to the House of Lords: "No assertion was, I believe, ever made with more truth than that our case is free from all doubt."

Lord Aberdeen, the Foreign Secretary of State, said: "Should it be otherwise, I can only say that we possess rights, which in our opinion are clear and unquestionable; and by the blessing of God, and with our support, those rights we are fully prepared to maintain."

(Loud cheers from all sides.)

Under these imposing circumstances, we may well ask of the watchman, what of the night? We may well inquire, what we ought to do? I take it for granted we shall give the notice recommended by the President; for if we do not, we shall leave the people of Oregon without a government, or without a practicable one; and, in either event, the country is lost to us, and the notice being given, in twelve months, without an abandonment of a large portion of her claim, we shall find ourselves involved in a war with England. And it will be no common war, Mr. President; it will be a war not merely of interest, but of strong and stormy passions, growing out of the relative situation of the two nations, and out of the very points of resemblance, which will but render the separation of the parties the wider, and the struggle the longer and the bitterer. It will do no good to shut our eyes to the prospect before us. Danger can neither be averted nor avoided by indifference, nor by presumption. Let us look our difficulties and our duties fully in the face. Let us make preparation adequate to the conjuncture. Let us exhibit to England and to Europe the spectacle of an undivided people, anxious for peace, but ready for war. In the language of Mr. Madison, "let us put the United States into armor, and an attitude demanded by the crisis, and corresponding with the national spirit and expectation."

One war has already found us unprepared. And what that condition of things cost in blood and treasure, and disaster, those of us who went through the struggle can well remember; and those who have come upon the stage of action since that period, may learn from the history of the times. And perhaps to a certain extent this must be so, and always will be so.—We are all opposed to great military establishments in time of peace. They are as dangerous as they are expensive. And they will therefore never be engrafted into the permanent institutions of the country. But when war threatens, we should commence our preparations and press them with an energy and a promptitude commensurate with the danger.

The President has discharged his duty ably, patriotically, fearlessly. Let us now discharge ours—not by words merely, but by deeds. The best support we can give him is to respond to his declarations by our actions. It is my firm conviction, and I do not hesitate thus publicly to avow it, that the best, if not the only hope that we have of avoiding a war with England is by exhibiting a public and united determination to prosecute it, should it come, with all the energies that God has given us, and by an instant and serious consideration of the preparations necessary for such offensive and defensive measures as may be required, and as prompt an adoption of them as a just regard to circumstances may demand. Our country is extensive. In many portions of it the population is sparse. The frontier, both Atlantic and inland, is long and exposed.

Our defensive works are unfinished, and some of them are unfurnished. I do not know, but I fear that many important branches of supply are inadequate. Our navy, and especially the steam portion of it, is not upon a scale commensurate with our wants, if war is almost upon us. That navy fought itself into favor, and its country into honor, in the seemingly unequal and almost desperate struggle into which it so gallantly went in the last war. And another contest would find it equally true to its duty, and to the public expectations. I trust the time will never again come, when it will be a question in a great crisis, whether the navy shall be dismantled and rot in our docks, or whether it shall be sent out to gather another harvest of glory upon the ocean. It is the materiel for military and naval operations, it is first necessary to procure. Men we have ready; and such is the patriotism inherent in the American character, that they never will be found wanting in the hour of difficulty and danger. Our militia requires a new and an efficient organization. It is a reproach to us that we have suffered this important branch of national defence to become so inefficient. It has almost disappeared from the public view. Both the laws upon this subject and the administration of them require immediate and severe examination. For this is one of the great bulwarks of the country in the hour of danger. It has shown its patriotism and valor upon many a bloody field, and the future, if it should need its services, will witness its devotion to the country, whenever and wherever, and however it may be tried. Many of the supplies required for the operations of war, demand time and care for their collection and preparation; and we must remember that we have to do with a people whose arsenals and dock-yards are filled to repletion; whose supplies are upon a scale equal to any probable demand upon them, whose gigantic military and naval establishments, announce their power and maintain it; and the structure of whose government is better fitted than ours for prompt and vigorous and offensive action.

It is in the spirit of these views that I have submitted the resolutions before the Senate, and in which I ask their concurrence.

A great responsibility is upon us. We shall best discharge it by firmness, and by a wise forecast, which, while it steadily surveys the danger, makes adequate provisions to meet it. By thus acting, we shall give a practical approbation of the course of the President; we shall show to our constituents that their interests are safe in our hands; we shall speak neither in a deprecating tone, nor in a tone of defiance, but of firmness, to England; and we shall give to the nations of Europe a proof that republics are as jealous of their rights and honor, and as determined to maintain them, as monarchical governments.

FARM for SALE.

THE FARM upon which Capt. John S. Skinner resides, situated in Queen Ann's county, Md., is offered for sale.

This farm, from its location, offers inducements to purchasers rarely to be met with. It is situated upon a tributary stream of Queenstown creek, where are abundant in their seasons. It is convenient to Church, Mill, and the business places of the county, being equi-distant between Centreville and Queenstown.

Oysters, Ducks and Fish

The soil is well adapted to the growth of Wheat and Corn.

THE BUILDINGS, with some repairs, are ample for the purposes of the farm. It contains

383 ACRES of Land,

a fair proportion of which is in

WOOD.

It is rented to a good tenant for next year, and will be sold subject to one year's lease.

One third of the purchase money will be required in cash, and a liberal credit given upon the balance, by being properly secured. SAML. OGLE TILGHMAN,

EASTON POINT HOTEL.

THE subscriber has taken and fitted up as a Tavern that well-known house and premises at Easton Point, for some years past occupied by Capt. Saml. H. Benny as a private dwelling, and is now prepared to entertain Citizens and Travellers in a neat and comfortable manner.

His bar is well stored with the choicest LIQUORS, and his larder will at all times be supplied with the best the market can afford, which market, it is well known, cannot be surpassed on this shore. He deems it therefore unnecessary to say more than invite the public generally to call and see him and judge for themselves.

Boarders will be taken by the day, week, month or year on accommodating terms, and every exertion will be used to give general satisfaction to all who may patronise him.

HEMSLEY'S VEGETABLE TONIC.

PREPARED BY

R. F. HEMSLEY,

PHARMACEUTIST,—Easton, Md.

NO MEDICINE has acquired in so short a time so deserved a popularity; and none is prepared to present so honorable an array of certificates from the FACULTY OF MEDICINE and private individuals throughout the State as Hemsley's Vegetable Tonic. In moderate doses, regularly taken, this medicine is a sure preventive of Fever & Ague and Bilious Fever, while it affords in most instances a permanent cure when employed for the removal of these diseases. In all cases of general debility arising from old age, protracted illness, or uniform delicacy and feebleness of constitution, it is without question one of the most agreeable and efficient tonics ever offered to the public. Let all who are afflicted apply to this remedy with the full expectation of perfect relief. It promises nothing which it is not competent to perform; and must, in a very short time, be the remedy preferred to all others in the various forms of Fever and Ague and in cases of general debility. Full directions for using it will accompany each bottle.

Certificates.

The undersigned, Physicians of Baltimore, having been made acquainted with the ingredients composing "Hemsley's Vegetable Tonic," have no hesitation in saying that the compound, if properly used, cannot fail to conduce greatly to the accomplishment of the object proposed in its employment; and do therefore cheerfully recommended it to the afflicted public.

The preparation made by Mr. Hemsley, Apothecary, Easton, Md., and known as "Hemsley's Vegetable Tonic," is in my opinion the best article ever offered to the public for the radical cure of that distressing affection, Intermittent Fever. This composition forms a pleasant bitters, and furnishes a most desirable tonic in cases of constitutional debility resulting from natural infirmity or the ravages of disease. I have recommended this medicine extensively in my practice and have always found it to answer the desired purpose.

CHRIS. C. COX, A. M. M. D.

Mr. R. F. Hemsley, Sir:—This is to certify that for a long time I labored under the debilitating influence of that dreadful disease, Ague & Fever, and had recourse to many remedies recommended to me by Physicians and others, all of which proved unavailing. I heard of your celebrated 'Vegetable Tonic,' of which I procured two bottles, and before I had taken it all I was entirely restored, and have not since felt any symptoms of its return. It has accomplished more in my case than all other remedies put together, and I most cheerfully recommend it to all those persons who may be laboring under this most wretched disease.

Citizens of the United States,

Let it be remembered that Brandreth's Vegetable Universal Pills have now been before the citizens of the United States for nearly six years, and used by hundreds of thousands! They are so well known that it need scarcely be mentioned that they are a "Purgative Medicine," so "justly balanced" that the "experience of a century" has proved that they may be taken in any dose, according to Nature's requirements,—and this rule refers to both sexes and all ages. They have been used in every variety of derangements of the human body, and yet, when properly used, never failed to restore to health, except in those cases where nature was exhausted before the pills were commenced with.

Experience has taught that Brandreth's Vegetable Universal Pills remove all corrupt humors from the body, in an easy, safe and effectual manner; producing no effect but what will finally conduce to the perfect purification of the Blood, and thereby cure the disease, (whatever name it may be called,) and give perfect health to the whole system.

Remember, Druggists are not permitted to sell my Pills—if you purchase of them you will obtain a counterfeit.

STAINBURN'S

VEGETABLE EXTRACT PILLS.

THIS MOST POPULAR OF ALL MEDICINES has truly gained the confidence of the many thousands of sufferers who have used it, in many forms of disease, with UNFAILING SUCCESS.

The following complaints have always been cured when the Stainburn Pills have been taken according to the directions which accompany each:—

|---|---|
| Dyspepsia, | Coughs and Colds, |
| Costiveness, | Rheumatism |
| Bilious complaints, | Fever and Ague, |
| Liver complaints, | Scrofula, Worms, |
| Cholic, Biles, | Measles, Small Pox, |
| Eruptions in the Skin. | |

A vast number of communications have been received by the proprietor, each proving a cure of some of the above diseases, and which might here be introduced, would space permit, but it is hoped the following will be sufficient to place beyond all doubt their curative virtue:

From DR. REED, of Virginia.

Norfolk, June 12, 1844.

Dr. Stainburn:—Sir: Since I last wrote you, I have seen several persons who have been using the Vegetable Extract Pills, and in every case they have proved themselves worthy the name they bear. A young man by the name of John Forsythe, had been wasting away in a seated consumption for several years, and by using the Extract Pills for about two weeks, his cough, pains, &c., left him entirely, and he is now so well as to be about his ordinary business. Indeed, sir, from the rapidity of the sales, the value of your pills must be safely discerned. I am entirely out, have daily calls for them, and wish you would forward me more as soon as possible. Yours, &c. THOS. S. REED.

[From Massachusetts.]

Worcester, June 17, 1844.

Dr Stainburn:—My daughter, who had a distressing cough, raised a great quantity of phlegm, and who was afflicted with palpitation of the heart, had taken a box of your Vegetable Extract Pills, and is now quite well. Others bear testimony to their good effects. Yours respectfully,

JOHN STRIKER, Jr.

[From Pennsylvania.]

EASTON, July 1, 1844.

Dr. Stainburn: I have considerable matter to tell you concerning the Extract Pills, where they have performed cures, when those who have bought them had scarcely any faith in their effects. There is a lady here, now able to attend to her domestic concerns, who was, at the time she commenced taking them, confined to her chamber, and prostrated on her bed. I will tell you more when I see you: please credit my account with the enclosed twenty dollars, and send me by the bearer another gross of pills.

Respectfully, &c. GEO. S. SMITH.

[From Connecticut.]

New Haven, June 27, 1844.

Dr. Stainburg:—Your Vegetable Extract Pills have had wonderful effects in several cases in this town; I sold a box to a man who had been sick with comsumption and rheumatic complaints for four or five years, and who was unable to dress himself without any trouble, and think he has wholly recovered. I am quite out of the pills; will you send me a lot by the first opportunity?

Yours in haste, R. W. SMALLEY.

The Pills are sold Wholesale and Retail at Dr. Stainburn's office, No. 7 Ann Street, and by most of the respectable Druggists in New York. Also, by one agent in each village in the United States.

CAUTION TO AGENTS.

The immense demand for the Stainburn Pills has induced some unprincipled rascals to make a counterfeit, and hawk it about the country; but let agents be aware of these persons, and remember that he who sells a counterfeit medicine, or encourages such vile traffic, is as much to be shunned as the poisonous adder—let him not be housed or fed, drive him from your houses and from your villages, as you would drive away a dangerous pestilence; for be assured the creature who could sell to you a counterfeit pill, to rob you of your health, is base enough to carry the assassin's knife and take away your lives.

My travellers are each furnished with a power of attorney, signed Jas. W. Stainburn, and proved before a Notary Public of the United States, and also by the Clerk of the city of New York; they also bear the Notarial Seals of the United States and the City of New York. You will therefore please to preserve this advertisement, and should any person offer you my medicine without such power of attorney, do not deal with him for your own credit's sake, but point to it, and say, "Thou art the man to be despised and shunned."

N. B.—Agents who may desire supplies of my pills before my travellers call upon them, will please forward their orders per mail to No. 7 Ann Street, and oblige their obedient servant,

JAS. W. STAINBURN.

CLICKENER'S

SUGAR-COATED VEGETABLE EXTRACT

PILLS.

A Medicinal preparation is herein announced which has been long desired, and sought for, and which the public must at once see and acknowledge the advantage of. It is a purgative pill, COATED with SUGAR, so that it leaves no taste whatever of its internal ingredients. In fact the medicine is so entirely disguised that if a person were to swallow the pills without being informed what they were, he would believe them to be simply lumps of pure sugar; nor could he afterwards, unless by its great purgative effect suspect that he had been taking medicine, for these pills are so skilfully prepared that they do not gripe the bowels; and thus the patient who takes them avoids two evils which attend all other purgative medicines; namely: nausea and pain. Medicine administered in all other sweet forms has the disadvantage of being mixed with the sugar, and hence produces a mingled flavor, which, to most persons is more disagreeable than unadulterated bitterness. In these pills this is altogether avoided; the sugar and the medicine being entirely distinct from each other, so that the former must be thoroughly removed before the latter can manifest itself to the taste. It is universally known that nearly all diseases originate with impurity of the blood. Pure blood is therefore essential to health. We must not, however, wait until the blood is impure, for then it takes time—and that time passed in ill health—to rectify it; but when the slightest derangement of the system is indicated by costiveness, or any other sign, it admonishes us that superfluities are gathering in the system, which should at once be got rid of, for their removal leaves the chyle, (from which the blood is formed) in a healthy state, and purity of blood must be the result. This fact, as stated, is universally known; but people have such an aversion to medicine, that, unless the case is urgent, they prefer the disease to the cure, until an impaired constitution, or a fit of sickness rebukes them for the folly of their conduct. Still they had some excuse; for heretofore, medicine in almost all its forms, was nearly as disgusting as it was beneficial. Now, however, the evil is most effectually removed; for have no taste whatever of medicine—produce none of the nausea and griping, attendant on the operation of other medicine—while their speedy effect in removing all impurities from the system cannot be excelled by any other medicine which has ever been discovered.

It is unnecessary to say more here. If these pills are, as described, the public will freely and gladly patronise them; and the proprietor merely asks a trial, which he is sure of receiving, to prove that he assumes no merit for them which they do not fully possess.

Clickener's Sugar-coated Vegetable Extract Pills are prepared and sold, wholesale and retail and for exportation, by C. V. CLICKENER & Co., Chemists, at the wholesale and retail drug warehouse, No. 79 and 81 Barclay street, New York. Price 25cts.

CAUTION.—The public should remember that C. V. Clickener is the inventor of the Sugar-coated Pills, and that nothing of the sort was ever heard of until he introduced them. Therefore should any other person, seduced by the popularity of his discovery, advertise Sugar-coated Pills, they must be a wretched counterfeit, which it would be dangerous to use, as none but the most ignorant quacks can be found dealing in such a nefarious traffic as palming off counterfeit for genuine medicines. feb 4
