MODE OF DRAWING.

The numbers will be put into one wheel as usual, and in the other wheel will be put the prizes above the denomination of Four Dollars, and the drawing to progress in the usual manner. The 20,000 prizes of $4 each will be awarded to the odd or even numbers in the lottery, (as the case may be,) dependent on the drawing of the capital prize of 25,000 dolls. that is to say, if the 25,000 dollar prize should come out to an odd number, then every odd number in the scheme will be entitled to a four dollar prize; if the 25,000 dollar prize should come out to an even number, then all the even numbers in the scheme will be entitled to a four dollar prize.

The Odd numbers are those ending with 1, 3, 5, 7, or 9.

The Even numbers are those ending with 2, 4, 6, 8, or 0.

This mode of drawing not only enables the Commissioners to complete the whole Lottery in one drawing, but has the great advantage of distributing the small prizes regularly to every alternate number in the scheme, so that the holder of two tickets or two shares of tickets (one odd and one even number) will be certain of obtaining at least one prize, and in the same ratio for any greater quantity.

A ticket drawing a superior prize in this scheme is not restricted from drawing an inferior one also—many tickets therefore will necessarily obtain TWO PRIZES EACH.

ABSTRACT OF

Congressional Proceedings

WASHINGTON, March 27.

The Senate did not sit on Saturday.

In the House of Representatives, Mr. Wickliffe introduced a resolution, the object of which is to institute an inquiry into the fact of a pledge being given by the government of the United States, to the South American Republics, to defend their independence against the aggressions of any European power, except Spain, and the precise character of that pledge. The resolution is grounded on the conversation detailed by Mr. Poinsett in one of his letters to Mr. Clay, (embraced in the documents accompanying the President's Message,) as having taken place between him and an officer of the Mexican government. The resolution was not finally acted on.

The Committee on Foreign Affairs made a report, by Mr. Crowninshield of Mass. on the subject of the Mission to Panama, which we understand, is decidedly favorable to its objects. Mr. M'Lane, of Delaware, from the committee on Ways and Means, also reported a bill making appropriation for the object of the mission. The report of the Committee on Foreign Affairs will be taken up on Monday next.

The House in Committee of the whole took up the consideration of the claims of the State of Massachusetts, for services rendered during the late war. Mr. Hamilton, of S. C. the Chairman of the Military Committee, and Mr. Davis of Massachusetts, spoke at length in favor of the claims, and Mr. Houston, of Tennessee in opposition. The Committee ultimately rose, on motion of Mr. Dwight of Mass. without coming to any decision.

MARCH 28.

Mr. Van Buren gave notice that the consideration of the Judiciary Bill would be deferred until Wednesday.

The House of Representatives was occupied yesterday in the discussion of the resolution offered on Saturday by Mr. Wickliffe, on the subject of a pledge to the South American Republics. The resolution underwent a variety of modifications, and was finally agreed to, without a dissenting voice. The House afterwards went into Committee on the bill to provide for an additional naval force. The object of this force is to protect our commerce on the Eastern Coast of South America, during the war between the Emperor of Brazil and Buenos Ayres. The bill experienced no opposition but went through Committee and was ordered to be engrossed and read a third time to-day.

The select Committee appointed on the subject of adjournment, made a report yesterday, stating the impracticability of reporting a day for the termination of the present session, until the pressure of business should be lessened.—ib.

We understand that the Senate some time since confirmed the nomination of David Deacon to be a Captain in the Navy, and of William M. Hunter, John D. Sloat, and Matthew C. Perry, to be Masters Commandant.

MARCH 29.

On motion of Mr. Mitchell, of Maryland, the Committee on Roads and Canals were instructed to inquire into the expediency of making provision for improving the navigation of the Susquehanna river;

Mr. Isaacs, of Tennessee laid a resolution on the table for consideration, instructing the Secretary of war to lay before the House copies of all the correspondence between that Department and any members of Congress, since the first of December last, on the subject of an examination of a route for the contemplated National Road from Washington to New Orleans, in such direction through the western part of Tennessee, the northern part of Alabama, and the state of Mississippi, as should be found most eligible; with copies of instructions to the Engineers on that subject.

Mr. Campbell of Ohio submitted a resolution for consideration, which was laid on the table, requesting the President of the United States to transmit to the House a copy of the instructions given, by "the Congress of the Confederation, immediately after the close of the war of our Independence," to the three Commissioners "who were appointed to negotiate treaties of amity, navigation and commerce, with all the principal powers of Europe."

Mr. Mitchell of South Carolina, called up the joint resolution submitted by him some days ago, proposing to close the present Session of Congress on the 15th of May next; but the House refused by a small majority to consider it.

The engrossed bill entitled "An act to provide for the employment of an additional naval force," was read a third time and passed.

MARCH 30.

In the Senate the engrossed bill to authorise the President of the United States to run and mark the line dividing the Territory of Florida from the state of Georgia, and the engrossed bill authorising the re-opening and repairing of the King's Road, from the Georgia line to New Smyrna, in the Territory of Florida, were severally read the third time and passed, and sent to the House; the two latter for concurrence. The bill from the other House providing for the employment of an additional Naval force for the protection of commerce, was after debate, ordered to a third reading to-morrow. After spending a short time in Executive business, the proposition to amend the Constitution, by adding to it as follows, was taken up: "No person who shall have been elected President of the United States a second time shall be eligible to that office." Mr. Dickerson (the mover of the proposition) rose and delivered his sentiments in its support, in a speech of an hour. Mr. Edwards, of Connecticut, replied, & argued that the amendment was unnecessary, uncalled for by the People, and therefore inexpedient. Mr. Johnson of Kentucky spoke a short time in support of the proposition, and in answer to Mr. Edwards. After a few remarks on the part of the two first speakers, and an observation or two by Mr. Knight, the resolution was reported to the Senate, without amendment, and ordered to be engrossed and read a third time.

In the House of Representatives, the joint resolution from the Senate, proposing an inquiry respecting the adjournment of Congress, was concurred in.—The remainder of the day was spent in debate on Mr. McDuffie's proposition to amend the constitution of the United States; in the course of which Mr. Hoffman and Mr. Cook expressed their views, and Mr. Barbour concluded the speech which he commenced a few days ago. When, on motion of Mr. Bartlett, (who has the floor) the committee rose and reported progress, and the house adjourned.—Nat. In.

We congratulate our readers on the prospect held out to us, of the termination of the discussion on the Constitutional question. It is the intention of Mr. McDuffie to reply to the various arguments after Mr. Bartlett, who has promised to speak very briefly, in order that the question may be taken to-day. We have no doubt a vigorous effort will be made to take the question, as to-morrow and Saturday will be appropriated to private business, and notice has been given that the subject of the Mission to Panama will be called up on Monday.

Charles Jared Ingersoll, of Philadelphia, has been re-appointed District Attorney of the United States, for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania.

MARCH 31.

In the Senate—A number of engrossed bills which were yesterday ordered to a third reading, were reported by the Committee, but, before reading them the third time and passing them, although one was the bill to provide for an additional Naval force, which the Senate was anxious to pass yesterday, the Vice President announced the order of the day to be the Resolution offered by Mr.
