Disasters on lake Michigan.—We learn from the Michigan City Gazette of the 5th instant that on the Saturday night preceding, during a heavy blow, the Schooner Sea Serpent, for Michigan City, parted her cable; ran aground half past nine, sprung a leak at half past three in the morning, and lies high and almost dry on the sand; may be got off with much labor, cargo considerably damaged.

The Clarissa Harlow, laden for the same port, was also driven ashore at the same time, below New Buffalo.

The Van Buren likewise sustained much damage, but came to anchor, out rode the storm, losing part of her rigging.

The storm is spoken of as being more severe and violent than any before witnessed by the oldest settlers.

About four o'clock on Monday, the schooner Chicago, having rode out the former gale, parted her cables and was driven ashore with great velocity, and now lies on the beach below the mouth of the river.

The account adds:

We have travelled the Atlantic, the German Ocean, the Baltic and the bay of Biscay, but never saw a time when we would be less willing to be on the water. Could some of the members of our national legislature have witnessed the gale on Saturday night last, we should hear no more of opposition to the construction of harbors on the western lakes. There is not a season in which more property is not destroyed than would construct two or three harbors, independent of a consideration of far more importance, the loss of life.—Monroe Times.

The silk culture in our country may no longer be regarded as the pastime of ladies, who, having nothing else to do, have employed their time in raising silk worms, and in winding and reeling the products of their industry. The preparation of this valuable article is becoming rapidly a regular branch of manufacture, employing large capital and returning to those who have embarked in it a handsome profit for their money and labor. There is at Dedham, Massachusetts, that land of enterprise and industry, a factory which drives sixteen hundred spindles and employs one hundred females, who turn out two thousand dollars worth of silk every week. With a climate adapted to the growth of the food for this valuable operative, and well suited for its existence, we can see no good reason why our country should remain tributary to other nations for its beautiful and useful product. Millions have gone, year after year, to pay for the stuffs fabricated by foreign industry, which might have been kept at home to great advantage; and we hope that the day is not far distant when Americans will no longer expend their money in supporting the laborers of other countries.—Silk, in its raw as well as prepared state, may soon be sent abroad as one of the staple commodities of our commerce, and so far from being a drain upon our wealth, will be a powerful mean of increasing it. Why may we not become in the course of a few years what the French and Italians are at present, and our silks be as celebrated for their lustre and beauty as those of France and Italy?—Balt. Amer.

The public spirit which has caused the city of Edinburgh to be visited and admired by travellers from all the nations of the globe, has been indulged to such an extent that at length the Athens of Britain is bankrupt in between £600,000 or £700,000 sterling. To one who may have seen this splendid seat of science, its monuments, bridges, schools, and public buildings of every description, it appears only wonderful that means could have been raised without oppression to the tax payers, to be applied to such magnificent works. With a surface so abrupt and broken, and so well calculated to increase the expenses attendant on every species of improvement, this noble city of the north surpasses every other in Britain, in the multitude and splendor of its public and private buildings, its magnificent squares, and spacious avenues made over the summits of hills and deep vallies, which seem only intended to furnish an opportunity for the display of the taste of the projectors and the wealth of the population. As a seat of learning, the University of Edinburgh has extended its fame to every nation, whilst the vast scale on which the buildings are erected for the purposes of education, is such as to excite the surprize of every beholder. If bankruptcy can be palliated in an individual or a corporation, it is when the expenses which have led to it have been incurred in the prosecutions of plans of general utility. In this point of view, whatever disability the corporation of Edinburgh may labor under, the population have been the gainers, and whatever temporary embarrassment may exist, permanent comfort and elegance have been promoted.

The Quebec Gazette of a late date states that during the preceding three mornings the thermometer had stood at sun rise at twenty degrees above zero. The ground was frozen six inches deep, and the beaches of the St. Lawrence were white with broken ice. A great portion of the potato crop was still out, and an end had been put to ploughing. Such early and severe frosts are said to be unprecedented in Canada.

Breadstuffs.—On Thursday, 10th, there were received into the port of New York 9539 bags of wheat from London, Odessa and Hamburg, and 1549 bags of Rye.

EXPLOSION EXTRAORDINARY.

The Liverpool Albion of Sept. 26th contains the annexed account of a strange incident which occurred in the Post Office of that city on the night of the 24th.

On Saturday night about 9 o'clock, a circumstance occurred in our Post office which had nearly proved fatal to the individual, and might have been productive of severe injury to many, if the full intention of the contriver of the wickedness had taken effect, though who were the intended victims it is impossible to say.—We need not inform our commercial readers, that letters for foreign countries require that the postage should be paid, or they are never forwarded, but, instead, are sent to the Dead-letter-office, in London, there to be stamped, opened, and returned, if practicable, to the writers. On Saturday night, a number of letters of this description, which had remained in our Post Office beyond the regular period, were handed over to a man, named Barnard, for the purpose of being stamped previously to being forwarded to London by the mail. Amongst these was a bundle containing seven letters, all directed in the same hand, and in the Spanish language, to official personages at Havana. The stamp is a heavy steel implement, with which the letter is struck with some violence. He had got through all the letters but this particular bundle, and they had been removed as he operated upon them. He also got safely through the first four of these, but in striking the fifth, the precussion produced an explosion which shook the whole building. Every clerk in the office, even those at the greatest distance, were stunned, and one who stood within a few yards of the spot was thrown violently to the ground. When they recovered, in some measure, from the shock, they looked round for the poor man, Barnard. The floor around him, was completely covered with the tattered fragments of the letters, for all the remaining three had exploded, and he lay upon the floor bleeding and insensible. He was found to have been shockingly injured; his hands being torn almost asunder, and portions of the flesh and skin peeled from them. His face was completely denuded of the skin, and one of his eyes was forced backwards with such violence, that its use as an organ of vision is lost irrecoverably. The thumb nail of the left hand was torn off, and, what is more extraordinary, was shot through the left cheek. The poor man is in a very dangerous state, though hopes are entertained of his recovery. The bag which contained the other four letters, having already been made up, it was despatched by the mail during the consternation incident to the disaster. Mr. Banning instantly forwarded an express to the General Post office, informing the parties there of what had occurred, and warning them to be careful how they opened those letters. It is to be hoped that they may be found to contain some clue which will lead to the discovery of the contriver of a scheme so diabolical. The explosion was so violent that it put out all the lights and blew out five panes of glass.

FROM TEXAS.

The New Orleans papers contain advices from Velasco to the 12th October.

Gen. Samuel Houston, the President elect of the Republic, and suite, arrived at Columbia on the 9th October. The votes for annexation to the United States and for the Constitution as it is, were almost unanimous.

Generals Thomas Rusk, Green and Felix Houston, are the prominent candidates before the people to supply the place of Commander in Chief, vacated by the elevation of Houston to the Presidency of the Republic.

Congress was in session, but principally occupied with local matters, of no interest whatever to the general reader.

A detachment of Texans lately attacked a foraging party of about fifty Mexicans, who were engaged in collecting cattle for their army, and two Mexicans were taken prisoners. The Texans had brought into camp about 1500 head of cattle.

Pride of Ancestry.—There was much sound truth in the speech of a country lad to an idler who boasted his descent from an ancient family. 'So much the worse for you,' said the peasant; 'as we ploughmen say, the older the seed the worse the crop.'

DIED,

In Annapolis city, at the residence of Mr. Daniel T. Hyde, on Friday, the 14th of October last, William, son of Col. John Brohawn, of this county, aged about 14 years.

This afflictive dispensation of an all-wise Providence furnishes another impressive lesson to the young and to the sprightly, of the uncertainty of life below the skies.—William was one of the most engaging and interesting lads of his age we have ever been acquainted with. He was placed by his affectionate parent as a Student at St. John's College, for the acquirement of those accomplishments which promised to fit him for a life of extensive usefulness. Alas! those hopes are now buried with him in an early grave, from which every possible attention, and all the medical science which the city affords, were exerted in vain to save him.

☞NOTICE.—The members of the Cambridge Debating Society are requested to meet at their usual place, on Thursday evening, the 24th of November.

Chancery Sale.

PURSUANT to authority derived from the Hon. Chancellor of Maryland, I will sell, to the highest and best bidder, that beautiful Farm, situated on the Great Choptank river, of which the late Roger Hooper, Esq., died seized. This farm contains about and is known by the name of "Stepney View," and is a part of that valuable tract of land called the Indian Lands. The improvements are a little out of repair, but I am told that they are large and commodious; that the land is light and easy of cultivation, and the crops generally good. The situation is very salubrious and inviting to any one wishing to reside on the river. The plantation is sufficiently furnished with wood and timber.

The sale will take place at the Court House, in the town of Cambridge, on Monday, the 12th day of December next, between the hours of 11 and 12; and the terms of sale will be one fourth cash on the day of sale, and the balance in six and twelve months, with interest from the day of sale, secured by bond and security approved by the trustee.

William Collison and Mary his wife, vs. Thomas Layton and others. — IN Chancery 24th NOVEMBER, 1836.

THE object of the bill filed in this cause is to obtain a decree for the sale of the real estate whereof James Layton died seized, in Dorchester county.

The bill states that the said James Layton departed this life since the year 1820, seized of a small real estate in said county—that he died intestate as to said land, and left the following children, to wit: the complainant, Mary, and Margaret wife of Francis Hayward, Thomas Layton, and James Layton, who is an infant—that said land is too small to divide with advantage to the parties interested, and prays that the same may be sold. The bill also states that the defendant, Thomas Layton, resides out of the State of Maryland.

It is thereupon ordered that the complainant, by causing a copy of this order to be published in some newspaper once in each of three successive weeks, before the 14th day of December next, give notice to the said absent defendant of the substance and object of the bill, that he may be warned to appear in this Court, in person or by a solicitor, on or before the 10th day of April next, to show cause, if any he have, why a decree should not be passed as prayed.

NOTICE.

AN ENTIRE STOCK OF New Goods,

JUST received by the subscriber, in the store house formerly occupied by Mr. Charles Corkran, and lately by Mr. Francis J. Henry, nearly opposite Messrs. Samuel & E. P. Lecompte's. The stock is selected from the latest importations, and being all new, offers inducements to purchasers to call and see the Goods; and for cash or short credit bargains may be had. I invite the public to examine before they buy.

For Rent or Sale.

THE subscriber has a FARM for rent or sale, containing upwards of beautifully situated on the Great Wicomico river, (which issues out of Chesapeake Bay,) about twenty miles below Smith's Point, Northumberland county, Virginia. The Farm is situated about eight miles up said river, and a vessel drawing eight or nine feet water can go within fifty yards of the door. The greater part of the land is good, and some thin. It is well timbered, chiefly with spruce pine and chesnut. The river abounds with fish, oysters, terrapins, &c., of superior quality, as well as an abundance of ducks in their season.

300 ACRES,

Any person wishing to purchase or rent, will please apply to the subscriber.

600 DOLLARS Reward.

RANAWAY from the subscriber, on Monday last, the 12th of September, instant, three likely negro men, called

Dolph, Alec & Alfred.

Dolph is from 30 to 35 years old, about 5 feet 6 inches high, very black, round shouldered and walks clumsily.

Alec, aged about 25 years, is about 5 feet 10 inches high, spare made, and of a brown chesnut color. He is slow of speech and is very much addicted to excessive drinking of ardent spirits.

Alfred, who generally stammers a little but at times considerably, is about 5 feet 4 inches high, well-formed, of a light chesnut complexion, and about 22 years old.

The above named reward of six hundred dollars will be paid for the apprehension of these negroes, if they be taken out of this county; or two hundred dollars for any one of them. But if taken in the county, three hundred dollars for all, or one hundred for each of them—Provided, in either case, that they be secured in Cambridge jail, so that the owner get them again.

ISAAC S. MEEKINS.

Cambridge, E. S., Md., Sept. 17, 1836

The Delaware Journal, Baltimore American and Philadelphia U. S. Gazette, are requested to publish this advertisement each to the amount of two dollars and charge the Cambridge Chronicle.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton's Boarding School

FOR YOUNG LADIES,

Corner of Cortland and Saratoga streets,

BALTIMORE,

WILL BE RE OPENED on Monday the 5th of September next. As the Institution, during the present year, has received the most extensive improvements and additions, the Principals feel a confidence in saying they believe it to be now superior to any similar establishment ever offered to the public patronage, both in the School and Boarding departments.

Although the character of this Institution is generally well known, yet for the satisfaction of those unacquainted with it, they give the following gentlemen as references:

Rev. Dr. Johns, Rev. Dr. Henshaw.
Rev. J. M. Duncan,

A prospectus of the School may be obtained by addressing (post paid) William Hamilton, Baltimore.

August 27, 1836.

☞The Whig and Gazette, Easton; the Cambridge Chronicle; Bugle, Chestertown; Princess Anne Herald, Annapolis Republican and Gazette; and Cecil Whig, Port Deposite, will publish the above to the amount of three dollars each, send one paper to the advertiser, and charge the Baltimore American office.

New Goods! New Goods!!

Notice.

THIS is to inform all persons against whom the subscriber has claims, that he has left them in the hands of George H. Staplefort. Although the subscriber has personally called on those indebted to him, and courteously informed them, in due time, of his intention of leaving the county, and his consequent want of money, he is sorry to say that there are many who have paid little or no attention to his wishes. He has, therefore, directed Mr. Staplefort to place in the hands of officers for collection all accounts now due which are not paid on or before the 1st of November next.

The notes taken at the sale of the subscriber's property will become due on the 20th of December next. It is hoped they will be paid when due, as no indulgence will be given.

WILLIAM T. STAPLEFORT.
