We had a better opinion of Mr. Grason than to suppose he would be guilty of the indelicacy of writing in the public prints in aid of his election The long article in the Republican, over the signature of a citizen of Maryland, are, if we mistake not, from his pen. Will this be denied.—Ib.

THE GUBERNATORIAL CANVESS

We learn from a gentleman from St. Mary's that the canvass has opened in that county with great spirit, and that the whigs will give Mr. Steele a vote of three to one over his competitor. In Charles the Loco Focos are making a desperate effort, but will be met by the Whigs with equal energy, and, in the estimation of the best informed men of the party, the Whig majority will be greater than at any previous election. Our informant had a conversation with a gentleman from Calvert who is intimately conversant with the politics of the county, and we are gratified in being enabled to state that no splitting will take place on the legislative ticket, as has been the case for two years past, but that the whole ticket will be elected and a very handsome majority be given to our candidate for governor. In Prince Georges, the loco focos are calling meetings for the purpose of nominating a ticket for the Legislature. They will doubtless make it as strong as possible but in the well grounded popularity of the gentlemen nominated on the Whig side, and in the harmony and good spirit which prevails in the party we have every assurance that we shall obtain in Prince George's a majority rising three hundred. This added to the three counties above enumerated swell Mr. Steele's majority in these four counties to about fifteen hundred—at least one third of the majority we hope to have in the state.—Balt. Chronicle.

From the Washington Madisonian.

A SIGN.

There is a town in the State of New York which polls 106 votes. During Gen. Jackson's administration and at the election of Mr. Van Buren every vote was given for the regular 'party' candidate. They prided themselves in being UNANIMOUS in the support of what they honestly regarded as the true democratic policy, as it was presented to them by Gen. Jackson, and promised by Mr. Van Buren. At the last fall election, the administration candidate received every vote but three in the town. Since the more recent measures of the administration have been explained to the country, a majority of these unchangeable and uncorruptible Republicans have refused to vote for men who have thus proven themselves recreant to their pledges and unfaithful to their country. —14 opposition papers have been subscribed for, and sixty of these men have determined to cast their votes in a manner best calculated to drive the administration party from the places they have disgraced. This is a striking illustration of the mighty revolution going on in all parts of the country. Wherever the people are intelligent enough to understand the matter of our Government, and to appreciate its close relation to the interest of the country, there will they be found taking their invincible stand against the folly and madness; the bigotry, the intolerance, the misrule, the ignorance, the incompetency, the blindness, and the federalism, of the party in power. May they not relax one step or one nerve, until the Government is restored to its original purity, and the country is assured of peace and prosperity, and perpetuity to its union and constitution.

THE CANDIDATES FOR GOVERNOR.

"GRASON and INTERNAL IMPROVEMENT."

['Loco Foco papers in Maryland.']

In alluding to the candidate of the opposite party for Governor, it is distinctly understood, that our object is not to object to Mr. Grason, except as a member and advocate of the Van Buren party. It may be assumed with some fair claim to pride as Marylanders, that against the two opposing candidates proposed for the first office of the State, nothing can be justly urged in objection to either of them as individuals. They are both estimable and talented men. When Mr. Grason, was first announced we mentioned the annunciation as the more pleasant, because it left the parties to a fair party fight,—and no entanglement with petty personalities. From this position we shall not be deverted.

Nor is it our object to attempt to misrepresent in the slightest degree, the votes or opinions of Mr. Grason. It was to correct the mis-statements of the Van Buren presses of the State in relation to Mr. Grason's actual votes and opinions, which induced us to make the extracts from the Journal of the House of Delegates, when Mr. Grason was formerly a member of that body, showing his votes upon the Reform of the Constitution, which we inserted in Saturday's paper,—and which we presume must establish the fact beyond all controversy, that Mr. Grason was not an original nor a uniform advocate of reform, as has been asserted by his friends.

It remains for us now to show Mr. Grason's position in relation to Internal Improvements.

Mr. Grason's Vote on Internal Improvements.

A single reference will be sufficient in relation to Mr. Grason's course on the subject of Internal Improvements, because the one before us appears to us so much in point, and so conclusive that to multiply extracts would altogether be superfluous. If we were to adduce a vote upon advancing the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal, it might be asserted that Mr. Grason was a friend to the Baltimore and Ohio Rail Road in preference—on the contrary, if we produced a vote upon advancing the Rail Road, the contrary position might be used by Mr. Grason's adroit friends—and so if we produced a vote on the Susquehannah improvements it might be alledged that Mr Grason was an advocate of the Potomac interest—and vice verse—but here we have Mr. Grason upon a question from which as an Eastern Shore-man, there is no escape.—The question, be it remembered, was not wether an appropriation should be made by the State to effect an important improvement, but whether an examination or survey, with a view of ascertaining the eligibility of such improvements, shall be authorized, and even that far—and for an Eastern Shore object too, Mr. Grason would not go—He was tooth and nail opposed to the whole project.

We extract from page 155 of the Journal, of 1827-8, of the House of Delegates.

'Mr. Lee, chairman of the committee therein mentioned, delivered the following report:

The committee on Internal Improvement, which was instructed to inquire into the practicability and expediency of improving the navigation of Pocomoke river, and more especially that section thereof which lies between the town of Snow Hill, in Worcester county, and the line of the State of Delaware, and of connecting the same, by a navigable canal, with Sinepuxent Bay, and also to inquire into the practicability and expediency of improving the navigation of said river by a canal across the southern extremity of Somerset county to the waters of Tangier Sound, have considered the several matters of this reference, and beg leave to present the following report:—

From a view of the topography of that section of the State into which the committee have been instructed to inquire, and from information to be relied upon, they are convinced that the river Pocomoke passes through a very fertile region, covered with valuable timber, a considerable distance between the town of Snow-Aill, in Worcester county, and the line of the State of Delaware; and they are induced to believe that the navigation thereof may be improved to an extent very beneficial to the internal commerce of this state, to the augmentation of the public capital, and to the immediate interests of a numerous and enterprising population.

And from the same sources the committee are of opinion that the connexion of that division of the said river by a navigable canal, with the waters of Sinepuxent Bay, would very essentially tend to draw into the trade of the Chesapeake not only a vast amount of produce, which is now constrained to seek an outlet through uncertain and dangerous channels; and exposed, through all the hazzards of the Atlantic coasts' to find a market without the state; but also, and more especially in time of war, to supply our navy with masts and other productions of the forest, and the indispensible article of salt, to any extent which the wants of many millions may demand.

Pursuing the downward course of the Pocomoke, the committee perceive that it meanders through a large extent of Worcester and Somerset counties until it debouches in an expanded bay of the same name on the northern border of Virginia. They have been informed that the difficulties of the shallow water which interrupt the navigation at the mouth of that river, might be overcome by a canal across the southern extremity of Somerset county

The committee, therefore in pursuance of that liberel policy which has distinguished the legislature of this State, with intent to ascertain the practicability and probable cost of the several improvements in contemplation, beg leave to recommend the adoption of the following resolution.'

Then follows a resolution, naming Commissioners, and assigning to them the duty of making the requisite reconnoisance, surveys and estimates, and of reporting to the legislature, the result of their examination.

We proceed now to show the vote upon the proposition. January 28th, upon the 278th page of the Journal.

'On motion by Mr. Lee, the house proceeded to consider the report made on the 25th instant, from the committee on internal improvement, which had been instructed by an order of the house, to inquire into the practicability and expedience of improving the navigation of Pocomoke river, &c. The said report was read the second time, and the question put. Will the house concur in the report, and assent to the resolutions therein contained? It was resolved in the affirmative.

The yeas and nays being required by seven members, were ordered and taken.

Those who voted in the affirmative are,

Messrs. Chapman (Speaker) Thomas, Hawkins, Gough, Blackistone, Billingsley, Mitchell, Rogerson, Spencer, Done, Gibbons, Teackle, Donoho, Eccleston, Wright of Dorchester, Gnatt, Duvall, Watkins, Turpin, Boyer, Roach Smith of Worcester, Hitch, Kemp, Bowlus; M'Pherson, Shriver, M'Mahon of Balt city Steuart of Balt., Shafer, Yoe, Miller, Beatty, Gittings, Gaither, Hughes, Lee, M'Mahon of Allegany, Buskirk,—39.

Those who voted in the Negative, are,

Messrs. Osburn, Hynson, Brown, Stewart of A. Arundel, Hood, Turner of Calvert, Smith of do., King, Turner of Balt. co., Ely, Price, Hughlett, Denny, Millis, Phelps, Hardcastle of Dorchester, Gale, Mercer, Somerville, GRASON, Wright of Queen Anne's, Oldson, Pope, Johns, Sutton, Smithson, Burchenal, Hardcastle of Caroline, Pearson, Willes, Dilty,—31.

The captain of a Missouri volunteer company sent out in pursuit of a band of marauding savages, thus briefly reports their capture and destruction to the commanding officer—'I kotched—I killed—I scalped.'—Western Weekly Review.

Improvements in Dental Surgery.

"A mouth without Teeth is a mouth without charms."

Strength, beauty, and durability are combined in Dr. KNAPP's late improved Incorruptible Teeth.

These teeth never change their color—never decay— nofœter arises from them and therefore do not injure the breath. They can be inserted in such a manner as to elude detection from the most scrutinizing observer, and so as to make the articulation of the voice perfect, and assist very materially in the process of mastication. These teeth have been universally approved of by those who have worn them, as well as numerous gentlemen of the most profound science, both in this country and in Europe.

Among them may be found the names of Proff's R. N. Smith, J. D. Ducatel, J. R. W. Dunbar, and Geo. Gibson M. D of Baltimore.

VALUABLE LANDS

"FOR SALE"

Part of the Estate of the late Thomas Hayward, Esq. is offered for sale.

THIS land is beautifully situated on Tread Haven Creek, abot six miles from Easton, and within half a mile of the Steam boat as she passes to and from Baltimore.

It possesses every advantage to be derived from the salt waters in an abundance of fine fish, crabs, oysters, terrapins and wild fowl. The shores are firm and clean, and have ever been remarkably healthy. The land is fertile, with an inexhaustible bed of the best shell marl on the Eastern Shore, and plentiful resources of other kinds of manure; & the quantity intended to be sold is from four hundred to four hundred and fifty acres, one hundred of which are well covered with White Oak and Pine Timber. The buildings are an Overseer's House, Quarter, and Granary, all in good repair.

A proportion of this land, (which has been marled over) will be prepared for a crop of Wheat, if not sold before the 8th of October, next the whole on that day will be offered on the premises at public sale. The land will be sold in the whole or divided into two farms to suit purchasers. An indisputable title will be given; as the subscriber will sell under the authority of the last Will and Testament of the late Thomas Hayward, Esq. The terms will be made known on application to

THE AMERICAN SILK GROWER, AND FARMER'S MANUAL:

Embellished with Appropriate Engravings;

Edited by

WARD CHENY & BROTHERS,
Burlington, N. J.

And Published by

CHARLES ALEXANDER, Philadelphia.

THE first number of this highly important and valuable work is now ready for delivery to subscribers,—we beg leave respectfully to call the attention of our citizens to the praiseworthy objects it has in view, and for the promotion of which it has been put in operation.

There has not probably heretofore been a time when the attention of the people of this country was as much engaged on the subject of the Silk culture as at present, nor a time when those who have already embarked in this business felt such entire confidence not only that liberal profits may be derived from it, but also in their ability to produce as good silk as can be procured in any part of the world. It is believed that all that is now wanting to fully establish the great interests in this country, with all its vast advantages, is but the dissemination of plain practical information concerning it! and convince our citizens of what we know to be true, viz: that there is no more difficulty in raisin a crop of silk, than there is in procuring a crop of grain—the capital thus bestowed yields a far greater return than can be obtained from any other branch of husbandry.—The editors have long been engaged in the silk culture, and intend hereafter to give thir entire attention to it—they have an extensive arrangement for feeding the silk worms and cultivating that invaluable species of mulberry tree, the Morus Multicaulis. And from their long experience in the occupation and extensive correspondence with silk growers, they believe they may say without ostentation that they shall be able to make the American Silk Grower, useful and entertaining, and to communicate through its pages information as valuable respecting every branch of the silk business, as can be elsewhere obtained in the United States. A portion of the work will be devoted to noting such improvements of Agriculture and such matters as are generally useful to the cultivators of the soil.

The proprietors respectfully solicit contributions on Agricultural subjects generally; and also the silk growing business in particular. Address the editors Ward Cheny & Brothers, Burlington, N. Jersey.

The work will be published monthly; every number containin 24 large octavo pages, with the addition of a cover for advertisements &c. and at the end of each volume a complete table of contents will be furnished to subscribers. ☞Terms $1, a year, payable in advance, for single subscribers. 20 subscribers will be supplied a whole year by forwarding a current $10 bill free of postage.

All orders for the work, postage paid, will be promptly attended to, if addressed to the publisher Charles Alexander, Athenian buildings Franklin Place, Philadelphia.

Citizens, Silk Growers, Agriculturalists, and others, who wish to procure this work from the present time will please forward their names and the amount of subscription.
