DENTON, MARYLAND.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 13, 1902.

THE Republicans will still control the nekt House of Representatives, their majority wil be reduced from 40 to about 25 or 27. There is reason to study the cause of this. In times of prosperity like we are now enjoying this should not have occurred. There is no doubt that the people have no desire to return to the discomforts and idleness of a few years ago, yet they will stay at home too busy or too indifferent to vote and b fore they are aware of it the scheming politicians and malcontents will vote themselves into fat offices and at the same time vote away the business confidence of the country.

FROM reports it appears that the Democrats in some of the wards in Baltimore city tried their old-time plan of roughing the polls. They did not accomplish much, but it only shows what they will do when they have a partisan police force with them. In a year or two more under the present regime, the city will be back again under its former rule of terror.

THE prediction that the Democratic election law, passed for the purpose of making Gorman Senator, would prove a boomerang to the party that enacted it, seems about to be realized. The flop from a Democratic majority last year to a Republican majority of more than 8,000 indicates that it is not working exactly as intended.

THE "I told you so" gentleman and the explaining Democratic editors have been making "ten hours" since the election.

IF money did it there were lots of of Democrats for sale on election day.

STATE PRESS NOTES.

Salisbury Courier (Rep.): "While Mr. Jackson undoubtedly received a large number of personal votes, at the same time the fight this year was vastly different from the battle of two years ago. At that time party lines were largely lost sight of in respect to Mr. Jackson's candidacy, and the endeavor was to honor a fellow citizen for whom the people wished to express their appreciation and admiration. This year party lines werr more closely drawn and Mr. Jackson won a straght-out fight for Republican principles as well as for himself. This is very gratifying to the party in the State and district and will put Mr. Jackson on a different footing with the Republicans, very much to his and their advantage. He is all the more firmly established as a leader of national prominence and will be so considered in Washington. And the Republican party of the Eastern Shore has at last found its true leader and captain-general that can carry his well-organized forces to the front in every campaign that affects their mutual welfare and the welfare of the country, of which we are all patriotic citizens."

Belair Times (Rep.): "The Republican majority of 8000 in Maryland at Tuesday's election is very significant and shows that, notwithstanding the manipulation of our election laws by the Democratic politicians, in order to make their control more certain, Maryland is still debatable ground, and that there is a fine prospect of the Republicans electing the next Governor. The one commanding figure in the public eye in Maryland today, whose nomination would command the hearty and enthusiastic support of his own party and would draw heavily from other parties, is Stevenson A Williams of Harford. His nomination would create such enthusiasm that he would undoubtedly sweep the State. Mr. Williams, however must be reckoned with. He is not ambitious, nor does he seek political honors. His close friends understand thoroughly his devotion to his profession and his unwillingnes to give up his large and lucrative practice for political preferment, but even these recognize the fact that the finger of destiny has singled him out in an unmistakable manner and that the call from every quarter of the State to be the standard-bearer may prove to be well-nigh irresistable."

Regarding the slump in Worcester the Snow Hill Messenger, (Dem.) says: "The Democratic campaign in this county was conducted on lines laid down by Mr. Ellegood, while the Republicans had boodle to burn and captured many of those known as 'doubtful voters.' The negroes turned out to a man and were educated up to the point of believing that if they lost this election they would never have another opportunity to vote. These are some of the things that caused the slump in Worcester. The Democratic vote was short all over the county, as it always is at a congressional election. The next election, with a full local and State ticket in the field, will show a Democratic plurality in Worcester county of 600 to 1000. Mr. Ellegood was too good a man to have been defeated by such methods as were employed against him. He was loyally supported by his own party adherents, but his good qualities and 'manhood suffrage' platform did not appeal to many voters other than Democrats."

Centreville Observer, (Dem.): "There is something almost cowardly about the way the campaign statesmen disappear after the election and leave the misguided partisan press to work their explanation department overtime."
