BURRSVILLE.

Major Stokes, the oldest resident of our town, died at his home here on Sunday afternoon about two o'clock. Mr. Stokes would have been ninety on the 16th of next April. Just three weeks before he died he received a fall from which he never recovered. For ten years he was both deaf and blind, but bore his affliction—like a true soldier—without a murmur, yet he longed for the time to come, when he could be at rest, and often prayed God to take him home. He leaves a widow, who has been his companion for sixty-one years, two sons, John and Charles of this place, and one daughter, Mrs. S. J. Dinner of Frederica Del. Funeral services were held at the house at ten o'clock Tuesday morning, Rev. T. J. Sard officiating, interment in Wesley cemetery.

The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor died on Sunday.

Superintendent of public schools, E. M. Noble, Miss Smedley, the trustees, and a number of friends visited the school here on Monday, a number of important questions were discussed besides the rendering of an excellent program by the pupils. A debate by the larger pupils—Resolved that we learn more from observation than reading—was very interesting. Affirmative; Henry Blight, John Stallman and Homer Stafford. Negative; Wesley Thawley, Olas Smith, and Arta Baker. The judges were E. M. Noble, Miss Smedley and Geo. L. Blades. The decision was two to one for the Negative side. Prof. Noble organized a society for the betterment of the school, of which Mr. A. T. Porter was made president, Mrs. Robert Thawley vice-president, and Miss Iva Russell secretary. Both the teacher, Miss Farrah, and the pupils were congratulated on their work

Murder At Preston.

Sheriff Chaffinch and States Attorney Deen were summoned to Preston on Monday morning by a report that a murder had been committed at that place, and upon arrival there found a colored woman whose head had been crushed in with an ax. The woman was the wife of Edward Driggins a colored man, who disappeared immediately after committing the crime. He was tracked by the officers to the edge of Linchester River, which divides Caroline and Dorchester counties, where his hat was found beneath a tree near the shore, but no further tracks or trace of him could be found. The river will be dragged in the hope of recovering his body, but the search for him in other places will not be abandoned, as the dropping of the hat may have been a trick to throw his pursuers off the trail. The belief that he drowned himself is strengthened however by statements of those who knew him well, he frequently saying that if he ever got in trouble he would kill himself rather than be taken alive.

Upon the arrival of the Denton officers Justice Harrison summoned a jury, with J. F. Lednum as foreman, and an inquest was held. It was learned that Driggins had dressed and started away to work when his wife's sister, who was also going to work, told him to leave some snuff home for his wife. Driggins at once returned to the house placed some snuff on a stand beside the bed where his wife lay, and then went into the kitchen, got an ax, returned to the room where his wife lay sleeping and struck her on the head, crushing her skull and killing her instantly.

Two children of the sister of the murdered woman, aged six and four years were in the room and saw the murder. After striking the blow Driggins laid the ax on the bed and left the house. The children ran out to the road screaming, and their mother, who was working at F. P. Reynold's home, 200 yards away, heard their cries, hastened home, and learned of the crime. The husband and wife had always lived peacably, and no motive has been discovered to account for the crime. Some of Driggins' associates had heard him say he wished he were not married, so he would not have to pay house rent and support a wife. Some who knew him did not consider him bright intellectually.

Will of W. B. Usilton.

The will of W. B. Usilson was admitted to probate in the Orphan's Court on Jan. 13. It is one of the shortest wills ever filed, and simply directs that his estate be divided among his heirs-at-law, according to law, after setting aside $100 to pay for the cost of keeping his lot in Chester cemetery in repair. The estate, consisting chiefly of mortgages and life insurance, is valued at $25,-000. His eldest son, Frederick G. Usilton, is named as administrator. The will bears date of April 3d, 1902.

Church Property Sold.

The Beulah Church property, situated two miles from Preston, in Dorchester county, which was abandoned by the Methodist Protestants three years ago, after having been a place of worship for over thirty years, has been purchased by the Independent Holiness Union, of Caroline county. The Holiness Union will move their place of worship from Linchester, to the newly acquired property and hold regular services there hereafter.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it. Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, b effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigesti But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have trifled with indigestion, have been sorry for it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it.

Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia.

Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, dullness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary pepsin "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Pepsin is only a partial digester—and physics not digesters at all.

Kodol is a perfect digester. you could see Kodol digesting ev particle of food, of all kinds, in glass test-tubes in our labora you would know this just as as we do.

Nature and Kodol will alway cure a sick stomach—but in orde to be cured, the stomach must rest. That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.

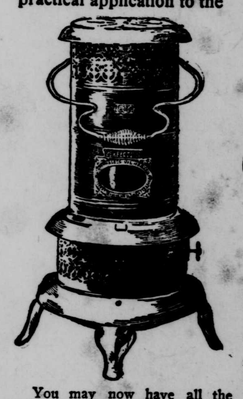
The large bottle contains 2½ times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

Kodol is prepared at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

Smokeless

Until science discovered a way to construct the Automatic Smokeless Device, and make it completely dependable, all oil heaters had one common great fault—smoke.

With the advent of the Automatic Smokeless Device, and its practical application to the



PERFECTION Oil Heater

[Equipped with Smokeless Device]

the smoke problem was successfully solved.

The Perfection Oil Heater is the only heater equipped with this which insures a steady, full-glowing heat, with the wick turned up as high as it will go, without a shred of smoke. Reverse the motion, turn the wick down—there's no odor.

The smokeless device automatically locks and prevents the upward movement of the wick beyond the proper exposure. That is the secret. This splendid result gives leadership to the Perfection.

You may now have all the heat you want—when you want it—and where you want it—without the annoyance of smoke or odor.

Brass font holds 4 quarts of oil, which permits a glowing heat for 9 hours. Brass wick tube—damper top—cool handle. Cleaned in a minute.

The Perfection is beautifully finished in Nickel or Japan.
