An Important Invention.

Mr. Frank G. Slemmer, of Goldsboro, has secured a patent on what is probably the most valuable telegraphic invention of modern times. It is a self-closing telegraph key, so constructed that when the operator lets go of the key it automatically actuates a circuit-closing device, thus keeping the main line wires intact at all times. Under the present system of telegraphing, if an operator in any office accidentally leaves his key open, the main line is broken and all business over the wires interrupted, and it remains so until the accident is discovered and the key closed. With the Slemmer key this cannot occur, as it closes the circuit automatically.

The line of succession of the four generations is made up thus: Mrs. Catherine Benson, her son, John T. Benson of Wyoming; his son, Wilmer D. Benson of Wyoming; his daughter, Lilian, 3 years old. Mrs. Benson has still another grandson, the father of a child. He is William Raymond of Philadelphia, and his daughter is in Virginia. She marks the fourth generation in that line of succession.

Pretty Home Wedding.

"The Maples," the home of Mrs. Marietta Anthony, was the scene of a very pretty home wedding at 7.30 o'clock on Wednesday evening, when her daughter, Miss Sarah E. became the bride of Mr. Albert R. Neal, a grandson of the late Wingate Neal. The bride was gowned in a traveling suit of navy cloth, and carried a white prayer book. Lohengrin's March, rendered by Miss Annetta R. Anthony, a sister of the bride, greeted the bridal couple as they entered the parlor, where they were joined in holy wedlock by Rev. T. J. Sard, of Burrsville. The parlor was beautifully and tastefully decorated in red and green. The bride was the recipient of many handsome and useful presents. Following the ceremony refreshments were served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Neal were driven to their future home, near Williston, where Mr. Neal is engaged in farming.

"Standing Still."

"O Power to do! O baffled will!
O prayer and action! Ye are one
Who may not strive, may yet fulfil
The harder task of standing still,
And good but wished, with God is done."

If the above lines bear any significance at all, to my mind they present a world of meaning. They suggest to my mind thoughts which are almost, if not altogether inexpressible.

If I were to read the first line only: "O Power to do! O baffled will!" my very being would be pierced as with a dart, and I would be compelled, as I so oft have been, to compare myself with a caged beast restlessly tramping around in its small enclosure suddenly rushing with great force against the walls of its cage seeking perchance a larger field in which to roam, only to return again (with defeat and disgust stamped upon its brow) to its monotonous tramp.

I am glad, however, the poet's thought was not complete in the first line; but we follow on and read:

O prayer and action! ye are one
Who may not strive, may yet fulfill
The harder task of standing still,
And good but wished with God is done."

We find the tenor of thought completely changed; instead of the shudder that first seizes our being there is hope and comfort, for as the keeper controls, and with food satisfies the beast, for a time at least, so these lines substantiated by the word of God, as I believe they are, satisfies the soul that is longing for larger capabilities.

Where in those lines, do you say, may we find comfort? The poet says prayer and action are one. And, under that head, what may we not claim?

Have we not, in prayer at least, reached out, grasped and ministered to the various phases of need to all the human race? Does that not mean in God's sight, for the word says: "the Lord looketh on the heart," that we have clothed the naked, fed the hungry, visited the sick, and in truth supplied, both temporally and spiritually, every human need? Then we may truly acquiesce, when prescribed by the Omniscient hand, to the harder task of standing still, (it truly is the harder task to the limited vision that sees nothing to compare with active ministering to the needs of soul and body) until He says it is enough.

So, though standing still our work goes on
If to God our hearts are given;
Even while on earth we may hear the "well done,"
But will wear our crown in heaven.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it. Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have trifled with indigestion, have been sorry for it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it.

Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia.

Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, dullness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary pepsin "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Pepsin is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all.

Kodol is a perfect digester. If you could see Kodol digesting every particle of food, of all kinds, in the glass test-tubes in our laboratories, you would know this just as well as we do.

Nature and Kodol will always cure a sick stomach—but in order to be cured, the stomach must rest. That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.

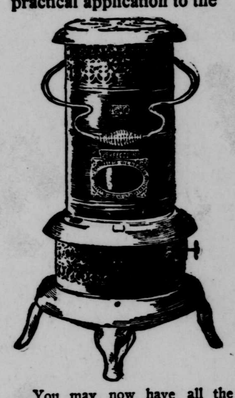
Smokeless

Until science discovered a way to construct the Automatic Smokeless Device, and make it completely dependable, all oil heaters had one common great fault—smoke.

With the advent of the Automatic Smokeless Device, and its practical application to the



PERFECTION Oil Heater

(Equipped with Smokeless Device)

the smoke problem was successfully solved.

The Perfection Oil Heater is the only heater equipped with this

Automatic Smokeless Device

which insures a steady, full-glowing heat, with the wick turned up as high as it will go, without a shred of smoke. Reverse the motion, turn the wick down—there's no odor.

The smokeless device automatically locks and prevents the upward movement of the wick beyond the proper exposure. That is the secret. This splendid result gives leadership to the Perfection.

You may now have all the heat you want—when you want it—and where you want it—without the annoyance of smoke or odor.

Brass font holds 4 quarts of oil, which permits a glowing heat for 9 hours. Brass wick tube—damper top—cool handle. Cleaned in a minute.

The Perfection is beautifully finished in Nickel or Japan.
