Victim of Electrical Storm.

During a violent electric storm which passed over Denton shortly before noon Tuesday, the home of Mr. Isaac J. Moore, a prosperous farmer and well known citizen residing near Denton was struck by lightning and his wife, Mrs. Jane Moore fatally injured, dying at a quarter after eleven Tuesday night. It is believed that the lightning entered the house by means of telephone wires. Mrs. Moore, who was an invalid and 66 years of age, had gone from the house to the side porch in quest of respite from the excessive heat and was in the act of returning and within three feet of the door when struck, the lightning passing from point of entrance about ten feet over her head in its passage to the door near which she was struck. The house was much injured, the dining room, pantry and kitchen being badly torn up.

Mrs. Moore's hair was singed, one of her slippers was torn from her foot and a hole burned in the bottom of her stocking, the electricity finally tearing a hole in the porch floor beneath her feet and thus escaping to the ground. A colored woman doing the family washing was knocked down and rendered unconscious for several minutes. Her hand and arm were badly burned by contact with a wire clothes line upon which she was hanging clothes.

When the accident occurred Mr. Moore was in Seaford for a week's visit with friends and a daughter and son were in the town on business. Dr. F. N. Nichols was at the home in a few minutes and telegraph and telephone messages soon informed all the relatives. Mr. Moore drove over from Seaford, a son T. Lane Moore, of Philadelphia, arrived on the evening train and all the children were present at the bedside when the end came.

Mrs. Moore had been a member of the Methodist Protestant Church from girlhood. Surviving relatives are her husband, Mr. Isaac Moore, six children Miss Jennie Moore, Mrs. Lillie Nichols wife of J. Ed. Nichols, T. Lane Moore, of Philadelphia, J. Virgil Moore, and Misses Mattie and Lida Moore, of Denton. Also three brothers, Messrs. Latshaw in Jail.

L. D. Latshaw, who for the past few months has been at the home of his father, Michael Latshaw, a well-to-do farmer near Ridgely, was at the instance of his father, taken into custody here on Monday afternoon and confined in the jail, the father believing his son to be insane and fearing violence at his hands.

The prisoner, aged 38, who is totally blind from having his eyes pierced by shot in Florida several months ago, has had a thrilling experience. While in Denton a week ago he said that some time ago he met and loved, near his home in Michigan, a lady of rich parentage. His suit, he said, was objected to by the lady's parents, and in order to break off his attention, they sent her to Florida. He followed her there and renewed his attention and his arrest was ordered.

He said as he had broken no law, he refused to submit to arrest, and shut himself up in his boarding house. A large posse, he said, gathered around the boarding house, and on looking from a window the load from a gun fired by someone in the crowd pierced his eyes.

The father went to Michigan about three months ago and brought his son to his home near Ridgely. Attorney Henry R. Lewis has been consulted, and it may be that a suit will be docketed in the United States Court at Baltimore, against the Florida authorities for Mr. Latshaw's injuries, though nothing definite has been determined upon.

Latshaw is a man of phenomenal strength, it requiring nine men to overpower and place him in jail. A pair of nippers put on him by the sheriff he instantly snapped in two.

Mrs. Morgan Released.

Mrs. Minnie Morgan, of Burrsville, who was committed to jail here last week charged with the murder of her husband, was given a hearing before Judge Adkins, who drove over from Easton on Thursday last. Mrs. Morgan was represented by Attorney T. Alan Goldsborough, and Hon. H. R. Lewis, appeared for the State. A number of witnesses were examined, including the 8-year-old son of the Morgans. He testified to a quarrel between the pair and spoke of his father striking his mother and also testified that his mother ran up stairs and his father followed swearing that if he "got her," he would kill her. Mrs. Morgan also testified, and a number of neighbors told of frequent quarrels in the family. After hearing the testimony, which consumed most of the day, the accused was released on $1,000 bail to await the action of the Grand Jury, and accompgnied by her father and children left town for the home of her brother-in-law in Queen Annne's county.
