A GOOD POSITION

can be had by ambitious young men or ladies in the field of "wireless" or railway telegraphy. Since the 8-hour law became effective, and since the Wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country there is a great shortage of telegraphers. Positions pay beginners from $70 to $90 per month, with good chance of advancement. The National Telegraph Institute operates six official Institutes in America, under supervision of R. R., and Wireless officials and places all graduates into positions. It will pay you to write them for full details at Cincinnati, O., or Philadelphia, Pa.

CHURCH OF THE BRETHREN.

The dedication of the new Church of the Brethren in this place will take place on Sunday next. The main auditorium is 30x50 feet; the lecture room 28x28 feet. The contract price for building was $5,000, but when entirely completed the price will exceed these figures. The building is of concrete and finished inside with hardwood with metal ceiling of appropriate design. It is lighted throughout by electricity. The dedicatory services will be conducted by Rev. W. J. Swigart, of Huntingdon, Pa., who will preach at 10.30 a. m. and at 8 o'clock in the evening. The hour for Sunday School will be 9.30 a. m., and Christian Workers at 7.30 p. m. A member of the congregation has kindly contributed the following short history of the church in this county:

"The history of the Church of the Brethren in this vicinity dates back to the year 1884, when the first adherents of this branch of the Christian Church settled here, most of them coming from Pennsylvania. Though at first conducted as a mission point, a church was organized the following year. In 1887 a more complete organization was effected, resulting in the Ridgely congregation, with the Bethel church in Tuckahoe Neck and, later, the church at Boonsboro. Since that time the church has been steadily growing, receiving some of its increase in membership from other States, such as Virginia, Ohio, etc., so that now the membership numbers above 160.

"It was recently considered wise to divide and re-organize the congregation, one part was re-named the 'Ridgely Congregation' with a new church structure in the town of Ridgely, which was dedicated about two years ago. The other is known as the 'Denton Congregation', and will, on September 25, dedicate the new church on South Seventh street, in Denton."

All are cordially invited to attend these services.

ENDS LIFE WITH POISON

Mrs. Edna M. Lynch Drinks Carbolic Acid and Corrosive Sublimate.

While in a fit of despondency, to which she had been subject for several years, Mrs. Edna M. Lynch, the wife of Eugene Lynch, station agent at Downs for the M., D. & V. Railroad, drank carbolic acid and corrosive sublimate Wednesday afternoon, of last week, and died at 6.30 Thursday morning. She seemed to be in her usual health and spirits on Wednesday and attended to her household duties and the little store attached to the residence. She had made no threats to take her life and her husband had no apprehension that anything of so serious a nature had happened when, at 4 o'clock, she sent to the depot for him to come over to the house at once. There was a train there and Mr. Lynch could not leave at once, but went in about 20 minutes, where he found his wife lying unconscious in the woodshed, and beside her a bottle and cup, both of which had contained the deadly drugs. He telephoned to Ridgely for Drs. Stone and Madara, both of whom responded in a few minutes and did their best to relieve the unfortunate woman.

About midnight she regained consciousness and talked to those about her, but only for a short time, sinking gradually until Thursday morning, when she died,

Before taking the fatal dose she took her finger rings from her hand and tied them around the neck of her six-months old baby and wrote the following note to her husband:

"Eugene—I do not know how things are; you never explain any of your business to me. If you would God knows I would do anything I could to save your pain. You know my trouble, and here it goes. Be good to our little darling. If you or some one of your family do not want him, give him to Archie and Mary, or to Louis or Agnes; or ask Maria to take him with her. Ask some of them to be a mother to him for me. God knows my heart is torn up. I stayed by you the best I could. Now bury me with the others. Please take my two rings and put them away for dear little Louis, and tell him that they were his mama's. Eugene, speak kind of me to him, won't you? Let him love me a little when he gets big. Pray for me, Eugene. I have prayed for you and baby, and you pray for me, won't you? Ask God to bless me sometimes when you pray."

Mrs. Lynch's home, to all appearances, was a happy one, and except when afflicted with her despondent spells, she seemed happy and contented. She was in the 34th year of her age and besides her husband and baby leaves four brothers and two sisters—Messrs. L. J. and R. W. Knotts, of Ridgely; W. J. and T. Archie, of Wilmington; Miss Maria Knotts, of Wilmington, and Miss Margaret Knotts, who resided with her deceased sister. Funeral services were held at St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Talbot county, Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, Father Murphy conducting the services.

Christian Science.

Mr. Editor:

In glancing over the last issue of the Greensboro Free Press we notice that a citizen of that town takes issue with the learned Dr. Ostler in his views on Christian Science, as published in an article in your paper, which also appeared in the Free Press. The writer in the Free Press attempts a defense of Christian Science, and elsewhere the Editor attempts to show up the other side of the question. Dr. Ostler's idea, of course, is that there is no cure for disease outside of his profession and the use of drugs, and yet, it is a fact, although there is very little fuss made about it, that hundreds of people are constantly being cured without the aid of drugs. Tuberculosis, the "White Plague," has baffled the skill of physicians and drugs for centuries, but is now being cured by dieting, eating pure foods and breathing pure air. So with other ailments. The Christian Scientists are not the only denomination who belive in the Spiritual gift of healing; and in these latter days many strange things are coming to pass.

Whatever the opinion of the Editor of the Free Press may be regarding Christian Science, and the leaders of the sect, in many ways they will compare favorably with other religious bodies. Does the Editor know that additional churches of this denomination are only built when it becomes necessary to relieve the crowded condition of other places of worship, and not for the purpose of proselyting or drawing members from other denominations? Does the Editor know that a Christian Science Church is never dedicated until every dollar against it is paid? Does the Editor know that a part of the religion of the members is to help each other in temporal matters, instead of "skinning" their brother under the guise of "business?" Very few of these people will go in debt. They buy what they can pay for—and pay for it on delivery. In morals they are the equal of any other religious sect, but like all other denominations, have some black sheep. In a flock of thousands these are always visible and their actions will always attract more attention than the hundreds who keep themselves clean and "spotless before the world." The Almighty has the power to use all things for good and even Christian Science may have a beneficial effect along certain lines. Who knows?

OBSERVER.

Are We Now at a Stand-Still?

Mr. Editor:

In 1890, Denton, the county-seat of this now most prosperous county on the "Shore," boasted of a population of only 649; in 1900 we had a population of only 909, but today, from the census just taken we find we have now a population of more than 1900 in the town proper and 300 across the river. It is easily seen that in the past ten years our population has more than doubled while for the ten years previous we gained only half as fast. Why this rapid increase in the past ten years and will it continue at this rapid pace during the next ten? We hardly think so unless something is done and done at once. In the first ten years quoted above we had no railroad nearer than six miles which necessitated an early morning or afternoon drive in all sorts of weather and in a slow coach.

With the advent of the railroad in 1897 the sleepy old town woke up, and for the next ten years all was hustle and bustle, and real estate values soared out of sight; the population increased with a steady growth of retired farmers, real estate dealers and a few mechanics. But for the last three years Denton, like all other growing towns, seems to be growing only along certain insecure lines and inflated real estate values. Each buainess man is now so thoroughly absorbed in his own particular line of get-rich-quick business that he knows little, and cares less, about anything new and substantial which might be brought into the town for the benefit of all, and not for the benefit of a few. Our expansion and growth reached high-water mark three years ago. Not so, you say. Well, let's take stock. How many new enterprises giving employment to the laboring man or woman the year-round are located here at present? Can you find one? No, not one! If there are no means of making a living in a community that town has received its death blow and will surely go into a Rip Van Winkle sleep.

Business men of this town, wake up! Opportunity is knocking at our door. A factory giving employment the year-round wishes to locate here. What will you do towards bringing it here? Get together and form some definite plan of action. All pull together for the benefit of the whole community and not for the individual self. Get the first factory started on a solid business foundation and others are bound to follow, giving employment to the class of people who go toward making a progressive, prosperous and populous community—the laboring man and woman.

Tonic or Stimulant?

There is an immense difference between a tonic and a stimulant. Up one day, way back the next; that's a stimulant. Steady progress day by day toward perfect health; that's a tonic. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a tonic, a strong tonic. The only Sarsaparilla entirely free from alcohol. Do not stimulate unless your doctor says so. He knows. Ask him. Do as he says. *J.C.
