MISS CAROLINE REDDEN WRITES NEWSY LETTER

Miss Blanche Hobbs this morning received a letter from Miss Caroline Redden who is enjoying a four weeks' automobile tour through Europe. The letter was written at the Carlton Hotel, Paris and in part read as follows:

"We visited the Palace of Versailles on Thursday. tI was most interesting. We went through many of the rooms. Some of them were where Louis XIV lay in state, where 17 princes and princesses were born. Marie Antionette's private apartments, the gallery of battles, chamber of peace, chamber of war, etc. Between these last two lies the Hall of Mirrors. Here the Peace treaty was signed, the Germans signing first, then the others. The stairs where they all came up are quite beautiful. When the German representatives went up they were carefully guarded by French guards. When they came down they were treated like the other statesmen.

One guide we had was the same one that took Mrs. House around. He told us that Mrs. Wllson was given one of the tapestries. These date back to 1675 and the color is still fresh and beautiful.

"The gardens are a dream of loveliness. Men toiled to make them for 6 cents a day in the time of Louis XV. Many died of malaria and fever, but as quickly as they died others were compelled to take up the work.

"It makes it all seem very real to actually see where all this took place. I could go on for hours, but must get ready to take another trip."

Miss Redden is the daughter of Mr. F. W. Redden, Riverton avenue, and is accompanying her uncle and aunt.

AGRICULTURAL COURSE FOR CAROLINE HIGH

At the regular session of the Board of Education which was held Wednesday instead of the regular day on account of the holiday, numerous matters were taken up, principal among which was the subject of extending the agricultural work of the county to the Denton high school, as well as having it only at Ridgely.

Much interest has been taken in this work by the local students and the board decided to begin next year with a Smith-Hughes agricultural course in Caroline High School.

Prof. L. M. Goodwin, in charge of the agricultural work at Ridgely will give daily and equal attention to both the Denton and Ridgely agricultural pupils. The work will include club plats and projects of actual work as well as the theory and the course will continue 11 months of the year.

Federal and State aid make it possible for this extension of a great work among the boys of the rural sections, giving them an insight into the causes and explanations thereof, for the growth of the vegetation, as well as teaching ways and means of protecting against disease and pests and makes the work more interesting to the boys and gives them an attraction to stay on the farm instead of going to the cities. Only one quarter of the salary and the local expenses is board by the county, the balance being paid by the government.

Candidates for the two positions of high school principal at Denton and Federalsburg were considered, but no decion made. Professor A. C. Nortedt has resigned and Prof. A. C. Crower, of Federalsburg, died recently.

It is hoped that the budget will be completed and presented to the county commissioners next week.

Denton Lost 7 to 6

In the baseball game held here on Tuesday between East New Market and Denton, the visitors went home with the bacon, scoring seven runs to 6 for Denton. A discrepancy in the matter of the score was brought up at the end of the game when it was thought that the score was tie. An error was made in keeping the score by the changing of score keepers so our boys gave the visiting team the run they claimed.

Rain Called Game

Last Saturday's game between Goldsboro and Denton, here, was called in the third inning on account of rain, with the score 3-0 in favor of Goldsboro.

Denton will play a return game with Goldsboro at Goldsboro this Saturday.

STREET DANCE HELD FOR BASE BALL TEAM TUES.

Last Tuesday evening a street dance was held in the square in front of the Court House for the benefit of the Denton Base Ball club.

Benny's Talbot five furnished the music, which was very much appreciated not only by those who danced, but by the large number of people who viewed the dance from the side lines. About 1500 people were present and at different times over 100 couples were dancing. The street was well lighted and made a very pleasant place to hold the dance. The weather also was very pleasant.

CONVICT PREFERS A PERFUMED REVENGE TO CRUDE VIOLENCE

"Lifer"—Hero of 'Heliotrope' Has Method Artistic and Effective

BENEFIT DENTON VOL. FIRE CO.

Tomorrow and Saturday evenings the Denton Volunteer Fire Company will offer to the theatre goers of Denton and vicinity an opportunity to see one of the biggest pictures of the year, right at their own door, for they have secured the lease of "Heliotrope" the biggest movie since "Humoresque" and it can be seen at the Palace Theatre Friday and Saturday nights only, June 2d and 3d. Mr. Bryant very kindly consented to give these two nights to the firemen for their movie benefit, in an endeavor to make it a big thing for them in the way of returns.

Every one wants a good fire department in Denton, which can fight a fire efficiently when the necessity arises. These men have gone together and organized a fire company and are willing to do their part, if you will but do yours—with your pocket book. The tickets are being sold by the firemen. If you have not gotten yours and do not know who to see, call us or see Mr. Dukes Roe, Mr. Clarence Roe, Mr. Sherman Tribbitt or Mr. Earl White, who will be glad to furnish you with any quantity. The price is small which they are asking for this big production—Do your part and buy at least one ticket.

An exchange writes of the picture:

Killing was too inartistic a revenge to take upon the woman who was threatening his daughter's happiness, according to "Heliotrope Harry". He favored something more subtle, something that would inspire terror without involving even the laying on of a hand.

So "Heliotrope," the convict, the ex-"lifer" concocted a scheme of revenge marvelously clever and uncannily effective. Just a whiff of heliotrope perfume—that was all that was needed to bring a hardened woman, the accomplice of gangsters and crook groveling to his feet.

How? And Why?

The answers will be found at the Palace Theatre next Friday and Saturday nights, June 2 and 3, when "Heliotrope," the latest Cosmopolitan photoplay, will be shown. The picture was adapted from a story by Richard Washburn Child. Frederick Burton, Wilfred Lytell, Diana Allen and Julia Swayne Gordon play the chief roles.

Resolutions of S. S. Convention

We wish to record and express our appreciation to the pastor and officials of this church for the use of their beautiful and comfortable building for our convention. To the ladies of the churches of the town and all others who assisted in preparing and serving such a bounteous and satisfying meal. To the choir and Professor Mack for their soul-stiring and uplifting songs; and to the children for their impressive lesson taught us; for the beautiful decorations and splendid spirit of welcome.

Whereas, We have heard with a great deal of pleasure and profit these county and state officers: Col. Cudlipp, Dr. Hamm, Mr. A. B. Brown, Mr. Hugh Cork and Dr. Ellis, who have brought these messages that thrill and fill our souls;

Resolved, That we, the delegates and friends of this convention assembled, will return to our home schools to put into action these plans and truths that will mean so much to the growth and advancement of Christ's kingdom in Caroline county.

One of the richest blessings God gave to man was the Sabbath day and since we have heard, through our secretary of the Sabbath Day Alliance, how some seek to rob us of this blessing:

Resolved, That this convention not only adopt its plans for the safeguarding and preserving of the sanctity of this day, but also put on such program in our schools and church as was outlined by him.

With profound gratitude to God for all His rich blessings to us and as an expression of our gratitude and love to Him, we will speak out in terms of service all our hearts feel and we will use our talents, time, powers, possessions, wherever, whenever and however pleases Him.

Rev. O. T. BAYNARD,
Rev. MELVIN WHEATLEY,
Rev. S. A. TROXELL.

New Variety of Strawberry

Mr. W. H. Jopp, who lives a short distance from town on the Burrsville road brought into town last week several boxes of strawberries of his own variety, which he calls the Caroline Beauty. The berries do not belie the name, for they are beauties in both looks and taste, not to say the size. They were the largest berries seen in Denton this year, we believe, and surely do great credit to the enterprise of Mr. Jopp.

Several years ago he crossed the Gandy and Superior plants and succeeded in getting a few plants of what he calls the Caroline Beauty. These he has cared for specially for several years and had a nice patch but last year a number of the plants were killed. He hopes that by next year he will have about an acre of these plants He has had berries of this variety so large that it took only 18 to make a quart.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT COUNTY FEDERATION MEETING

the efforts of two social service workers, this section has been brought to public attention and the project is receiving aid for its development.

Other features of the State Federation were interestingly told in the address of Dr. Gordon, of the University of Maryland, being deemed noteworthy for its discussion of "Nitrogen" and "Forestry," both of these topics, at the conclusion of Mrs. Stowell's report, being recommended by Mrs. Small for study programs by the individual clubs.

The report of the Eastern Shore Federation meeting, held at Hurlock, May 17, very succinctly and forcibly given by Mrs. Arthur Smith of Greensboro, showed that this new organization, with clubs from nine counties, is very wide-awake and active despite its youth, and that its second meeting was filled with helpful addresses and discussions.

After hearing these two reports and before adjourning for lunch, the County Federation voted to continue the February meetings—the discontinuance of these having been previously discussed—as well as the plan of having luncheon served by the hostess club.

At this point the President announced that an anonymous gift of $20 to be devoted to the enjoyment of the inmates of the County Almshouse received by the County Commissioners, had been turned over to the Federation for investment. The Federaton decided upon a phonograph and numerous records to accompany this were donated, whereupon someone donated the phonograph to the almshouse, and the money, being still available, was intrusted to a special committee to spend as was deemed best upon investigation and consultation.

Luncheon, a delicious repast served by the Denton club, afforded opportunity for pleasant social intercourse.

At the afternoon session, Miss Emily Kellogg, County Demonstrator, presented so interetsingly and earnestly the work of the girls' clubs—their purpose, their pledge, their projects and their great possibilities—as to inspire the Federation, at her conclusion, to sponsor in a very practical way this important phase of the work, i. e., to offer three cash prizes to the three girls excelling in this department at the autumn county exhibit.

Mrs. F. R. Owens then read a report of the Health Department and its efforts to organize a County Public Health organization, the next meeting for this purpose to be held June 21 at Denton.

Following a piano solo by Miss Anne Anthony, of Denton was a general discussion of "Better Every-Day English," Miss Wetterman, of Greensboro, opening this with an excellent paper full of vividly-presented truths. There were many informal contributions on this topic and a formal paper, loaned by a Washington County School, setting forth the wonderful accomplishments of a "Better English" campaign there, was read by Mrs. Ramsdell, of Denton.

Five minute programs by the various clubs, included beside the paper by Miss Wetterman, of Greensboro, readings from Riley and Guest by Mrs. Young of Denton and a solo by Mr. William Fleetwood of Denton; an humorous story read by Mrs. T. J. Todd of the Andersontown-Hobbs' Club; readings by Mrs. Hennison of Ridgely; piano solo by Mrs. Robert Eddington of Woman's Club, Federalsburg, and a reading—"A Day Off" by Mrs. Blades of the Twentieth Century Club, Choptank.

With these enjoyable features, terminated one of the most successful gatherings of this rapidly-growing and increasingly active organization.

KLANSMEN DOING VERY HELPFUL WORK IN DIFFERENT SECTIONS

Further efforts to organize Caroline county with the mysterious order of the invisible empire, the Klu Klux Klan were very successful last week, reports being circulated that 168 true born American men of Caroline county have added their names to the millions of others throughout the country to obey the order of the Imperial Klegal and answer to the summons of the burning cross.

Activities in this section is not all that is being done. Members of the order at Clarksdale, Miss., recently gave a helping hand to the Civic Club hospital campaign organization of that city by subscribing for 100 shares in the new hospital for which money is being raised. A communication received by the chairman of the campaign read as follows:

"In harmony with all that is for the public good, standing ready to contribute to every interest of community, city and county welfare, the Ku Klux Klan of Clarksdale hereby subscribes for one hundred shares of Clarksdale Hospital stock, for which it will pay to the Clarksdale Hospital Corporation the sum of $1,000."

This is the second instance recently where members of the Klan have aided in the erection of a hospital in Mississippi. Several weeks ago the Klan at Brookhaven subscribed $1,000 to the institution being built in that city. The Klan ever stands ready to lend both its financial and moral aid to such worthy causes.

JUST SUPPOSE

Not so long ago a book was published in which the author attempted to imagine conditions on our little old world 100 years from now. He saw electricity as the controlling element—everything, so it seemed, was accomplished by the press of a button.

Electricity though still an infant of the world, is playing a potent part in your life. Make the most of it. Suppose we join hands in things electrical—one for all, all for one. Thus we shall make our neighborhood a better, brighter, happier place in which to live and work.
