The Greensboro Community Club held its regular business meeting on Tuesday night. The Hon. W. Laird Goldsborough opened the meeting with a comprehensive outline of current events, both domestic and foreign, that was most interesting. In the discussion of local affairs the question was brought up as to whether Greensboro has adequate fire protection. Some years ago there was a volunteer fire department but at present there is no such organization and although the town is supplied with appartus it would doubtless prove worthless in an emergency for the lack of men who are experienced in handling it. The Community Club suggests to the young men of Greensboro that they form a volunteer fire brigade under the direction of the town board. To wait for a serious fire before undertaking such an organization is hazardous in the extreme.

The club was glad to welcome Mr. Phillips, the new principal of our school, and Mrs. Phillips, who were present at the meeting. Mr. Phillips gave a cordial invitation to all club members and patrons of the school to visit the school as soon as they are able to occupy the new buildings. Mr. Phillips plans to have special chapel exercises to which the public is invited, as soon as the auditorium is habitable. Greensboro is fortunate to have secured so able and progressive a principal for its school and it is unfortunate that the new building was not completed in time for the opening of the term. In spite of the many difficulties that have had to be met, Mr. Phillips has organized the work in a most efficient manner and the teachers and pupils are very happy under the new regime.
