REPUBLICAN TICKET

For Senator

JOSEPH IRWIN FRANCE

For Congressman

CHARLES J. BUTLER

ARE WE TO BE BOSSED ?

Voters of Caroline County and the other counties of the State should consider carefully the question of voting for the first two amendments to be found on the ballot to be voted on next Tuesday.

These first two constitutional amendments, will, if approved by the voters, give to Baltimore City two more Senators and twelve more delegates in the General Assembly.

Any one who has ever been at Annapolis while the General Assembly was in session has been impressed by two facts—First, That the city delegation in the House was in appearance and conduct, almost to a man, an example of what law makers should not be, and secondly, That the city delegation in both the House and Senate practically always voted as a unit on important bills.

It seems strange that twenty-eight men should so repeatedly think and vote alike until it is explained, that as a rule, as the city bosses tell them, so they vote.

Once in a generation we find a William Purnell Hall, but he is the exception that proves the rule. And how do they vote ? For Sunday baseball, Sunday movies, legalized race track gambling, etc.

Are you, the voters of Caroline County, going to give to a Mahon and Kelly fourteen additional votes and so put them in a position to dictate to us what laws we shall have ?

Is that the kind of government you want ? Will you not say to them, "Hands off" and say it in such a way that counts, that is, by VOTING AGAINST THE FIRST AND SECOND CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS NEXT TUESDAY.

DON'T LET THE CITY BOSSES RUN OUR STATE !

HELP HOLD IT UP

Since its origin, sixty-three years ago, The American Union has held steadfastly the faith of the Republican Party. Today the great planks which form that party's platform are our planks. But this year a new issue has crept in—the safety of part of our Constitution and the relative laws are at stake.

The Eighteenth Amendment is as legal and as binding, as the rest of that document; it is as much the will of the people. If the Eighteenth Amendment can be repealed as easily as some seem to think, there is nothing to assure us that the rest cannot be repealed.

In this crisis, The American Union goes higher than the Republican Party. It pledges its allegiance to the Constitution of the United States, and to the men who support it, regardless of party. It urges all voters to register themselves at the polls as supporting the Constitution by voting only for those candidates who solemnly swear the enforcement of the good laws already in existence.

THE COMING ELECTION

Never in the history of temperance warfare in the United States have the lines been more clearly drawn or the duty of the citizen more imperative than in the approaching election.

For half a century the conflict between the friends and foes of the home, virtue and sobriety, has been waged.

The liquor traffic in its blind fatuity has never been able accurately to gauge the force of public sentiment gathering against it.

Not until Prohibition was written into the Constitution of the United States did the awakening come.

Now, however, they are thoroughly aroused. Thirty-odd wet organizations have been put into the field charged with the responsibility of destroying prohibition. These organizations have been liberally supplied with funds and skilful leaders, and have publicly announced their purpose to encompass the destruction of prohibition.

The call is to every American voter to meet this challenge of the wets. Never have the prohibition forces of America faced such a field of determined foes as at present. It is no time to haggle over fine points. It is time for the exercise of practical politics.

Let every friend of the home egard himself as a special committee of one charged to get out every dry voter in his precinct. Indifference or negligence at such a time as this is nothing short of criminal.

Upon the determined efforts of the drys depends the welfare of the youth of the coming generation.

The duty of the hour is to get the dry vote out.

The churches and the schools have created an overwhelming public sentiment against the liquor traffic. The call now is to get that vote recorded and counted and victory is assured. —The American Issue.

BUILD YOUR COUNTRY'S HOUSE ON ELECTION DAY

Government is a matter not of bunk and graft but of life and death. What sort of place will you work in? What hours? When will your pay come round? What wages will you get? Will your pay be paper or cash? What prices must you meet for rent and food and clothes? Will the streets be safe for little Jenny? the schools good for little Jim? Will both of them be safe from greed and cruelty and sickness, and have a chance at a better life than their old folks knew? The kids and you cannot run off to the woods alone and work it out there. The answer to these questions, you doing your own best, is largely a matter of government.

Stand up then and be counted for the making of this Government, this common purpose toward better things. The choice between candidates may look to you like a choice between German marks and Russian rubles, but our welfare gains or loses by that choice. No one else can make it for you. It is your part in building the great house of your country's future. Vote for your own sake, for your own interest, if that is the best you know, but vote. That is your job, your trust, on Election Day, and, in the long run, our human world will be the work of those men and women who have voted for what they love.—Collier's.

THIS IS GOOD ELECTION DAY DOCTRINE

The faith that many of us need to-day is well stated in these words from a wise and helpful book called "Disenchantment," written by an English newspaper man, Montague of the Manchester "Guardian"

To get down to work, whoever else idles; to tell no lies, whoever else may thrive on their use; to keep fit, and the beast in you down; to help any who need it; to take less from your world than you give it. . . . Humdrum decencies, patiently practiced through millions of undistinguished lives, were the myriad bricks out of which all the advanced architecture of conduct was built—the solemn temples of creeds, gorgeous palaces of romantic heroism, cloud-capped towers of patriotic exaltation. Our best friends for a long time to come will find a part of their satisfaction in being nobodies; assured of the truth of the saying that there is no limit to what a man can do so long as he does not care a straw who gets the credit for it.

It is those who go faithfully to the polls and cast their vote —even though the ballot offers but a dreary choice of candidates—who are building bricks into the house of their nation.—Collier's.

HELP OUR BOYS

One of the finest things of the day is the Boy Scout movement. With the future dependent upon the children of today, it is only wisdom and economy to seek a method of training these children to the point of able and wise citizenship. This is the whole aim of the Boy Scouts; to train physically and mentally and morally for better and higher manhood.

A project is on foot to establish Boy Scouts in Caroline County. Those who are farsighted enough to see the advantage of a trained group of boys for the future of the county, and those who are "hindsighted" enough to remember their own boyhood and girlhood days will do their utmost to further this movement. Find out about it; enroll your boy; enroll yourself to big-brother it; back it up in every way possible. IT WILL PAY THE HIGHEST DIVIDENDS IN BETTER BOYS AND BETTER MEN.

RIDGELY

MR. ANDREW J. REED

Mr. Andrew J. Reed died Monday afternoon about four o'clock after several weeks' illness. The deceased, who was 79 years old, was a native of Seaford, Del., and had resided in Ridgley for several years. He was a Civil War veteran and a Mason. He is survived by a widow, five daughters and three sons, and one sister. Funeral services were conducted by the Masons at Seaford, Del., on Thursday at 2 o'clock. Interment was in the Seaford Cemetery.

Hallowe'en was celebrated in the basement of the Reform Church on Tuesday evening. The goblins and witches were there in abundance. Prizes were awarded to the best dressed, and the most comical, and were won by little Miss Margaret Saulsbury, dressed as Autumn, for which she received a large cake donated by Miss Irene Neff. The comical prize was awarded to Miss Ruth Richards dressed as a typical southern farmer. "And she was one," for which she received a small box of homemade candy. A program was rendered and after a sociable time refreshments were served, consisting of pumpkin pie and hot coffee. Net proceeds amounted to $60.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Smith entertained the M. E. Sunday School Bible Class on last Thursday evening. After the business meeting refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. At a late hour the members departed, having spent a very sociable evening.

The pupils of Miss Sarah Neff gave a recital in the auditorium of the high school last Saturday afternoon, proceeds to go towards the high school piano.

Mrs. W. L. Porter has as her guest this week her niece, Miss Alise Porter, and girl friend, Miss Lydia Hopkins, of Centreville, Md.

Mrs. T. W. Jones is visiting this week with her mother at Thurmont, Md.

Mr. Carlton Lord of Chester, Pa., is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hemmons.

Miss Helen Roop and friend, Miss Nellie Griffen, of Denton, spent the week end at her home here.

Mrs. L. J. Allen and little son Laurance, Jr., of Cambridge, Mass., are visiting her mother, Mrs. Andrew J. Reed.

Mrs. W. A. Sculley recently entertained her sister, Mrs. John C. Porter of Marcus Hook, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Day are now boarding at the Ridgely Hotel, having closed their home in Main Street for the winter.

Miss Rebecca Swing, a student at Beechwood School, Jenkintown, Pa., is spending this week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Swing.

Miss Evelyn Lane entertained a party of young folks at an informal dance at her home on Railroad Ave. last Monday evening.

Mrs. Samuel Saxton of Centreville recently visited at the Methodist parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. George Slaughter and Mrs. H. C. Robinson motored to Marcus Hook, Pa., Wednesday to spend the week end. Mr. and Mrs. Slaughter are to visit with their son George Jr., and Mrs. Robinson with her husband at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Forman Perry.

Miss Esther Holland spent last week end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Holland, of near town.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Elliott and children visited Sunday with Mrs. Elliott's mother, Mrs. Blaine Skinner, at Queen Anne, Md.

Mrs. H. C. Robinson entertained her cousin, Mrs. Ida V. White, of Wilmington, first part of this week.

County extension agents, in carrying the result of research by the United States Department of Agriculture and the experiment stations of the State agricultural colleges to the farmer, visited 650,000 farms in 1921 and held 125,000 community and other meetings, with an attendance of 6,000-000.

Self-reverence, self-knowledge, self-control, these three lead life to sovereign power.—Tennyson.
