

To The Honorable,

The Board of Police Commissioners.

Gentlemen:-

On August 19th. last one Sam Munafo, who conducts a saloon at 1013 Low street, appeared at this office and stated that he wanted to make complaint against Patrolman Robert T. Noel, Central District, who, he claims, was persecuting him. I had Munafo's statement stenographically taken and transcribed, after which I placed the same in the hands of Detective Thomas W. Quirk for investigation, and in addition obtained a statement from Patrolman Noel himself, all of which are contained in statements hereto attached.

Patrolman Noel has been very active within the last few months in rounding up violators of the law in the locality occupied by the Munafo's and in my judgment the accusations against Patrolman Noel are pure and simple a matter of prejudice owing to his activity in seeing that the law is not being violated.

The Manafo Brothers themselves have been a menace to the police working in that section, as well as the others who are making accusations against Patrolman Noel.

In view of the integrity and reputation of the complainants in this matter I would respectfully recommend that the complaint against Patrolman Noel be ignored and filed.

Very respectfully,

THOMAS F. FARNAN, Marshal."

(See Exhibit No. 4167.)

Hackney Carriage Stand.

Upon the recommendation of Captain George G. Henry, Central District, approved by the Marshal, permission was granted to James A. Jones, 829 Linden avenue, to stand three automobiles for hire on Lexington street near Holliday, in front of the Hotel Lexington.
