and Downing refused to pay. I interviewed Brenner and he corroborated Morris' story. I swore out a warrant for Downing on information received and along with Detective Bradley, gained entrance to his home 2443 Barclay street and on the 3rd. floor we found two telephones and a table with the clipping of the horse races, papers and other material used in making a book. We were informed by his mother that he had left the city the day before, and along with Detective Bradley and Sergeant Foreman we continued a search for him and searched his house early Friday morning without success. This morning, September 14, 1912, Downing surrendered himself at the Northern Police Station. We summoned the witnesses who appeared, and Downing was released under $500. bail for the action of the Grand Jury. I, along with Sergeants Foreman and Welsh have made several attempts to gain entrance to this house.

Report, as follows, was received:-

"Baltimore, Md., September 16th., 1912.

To The Honorable,

The Board of Police Commissioners.

Gentlemen:-

The enclosed postoffice money order for Ten Dollars, ($10.00), which was received by Detective William N. Atkinson from Mr. Don Cobb, Tarboro, N.C. for services rendered in effecting the arrest of Percy R. Lewis, is respectfully referred to your Honorable Body with a recommendation that the same be returned to Mr. Cobb. From what I can learn Mr. Cobb is a man of meagre circumstances and can ill afford to dispense with this amount, and in view of the fact that Detective Atkinson did not perform any extraordinary service, I make this recommendation.

Very respectfully,

THOMAS F. FARNAN, Marshal."

In view of the fact that Mr. Cobb offered a reward of $25.
