IT WILL BE A LOT COLDER NEXT WINTER

If you are a consumer of anthracite coal, you face the prospect of another coal shortage this coming winter. One thing only can prevent it; the getting together of operators with the miners' union on a made agreement before the present one expires, August 31. That coal men can be sensible is shown by the action of the bituminous group. At the invitation of the United States Coal Commission last January, those operators and miners signed a new agreement three months before the old one expired. Their action saved millions for consumers, steadied prices, and prevented a shortage. The anthracite men have the same chance to play fair with the public. Negotiations take time. If they do not start at once, it is almost certain hat the present agreement will run out. While the Coal Commission cannot arbitrate, it can use its good offices to bring the hard coal men together. September 1 will be too late.—Collier's of our talks with you, we understand that you have concluded that some arrangement might be made:

(1) To operate from Love Point to Ocean City via Easton through a physical connection to be made at or near Queen Anne.

(2) To operate as far as West Denton, the cost of maintenance of the long trestle in to Denton proper and the lack of traffic on the line east of Denton to Lewes, Del., making it impossible, as you see it, for the Pennsylvania to justify continuance of service east of West Denton.

(3) To give the Queenstown-to-Centreville and the Hillsboro-to-West Denton sections a period of trial service, and if the revenues under a fair plan of accounting warrant continuance, then the operation to be continued, otherwise the service to be stopped, but in the latter event, the people of these localities to be given the opportunity to acquire the sections at a low price to be now agreed upon with the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic or an affiliated company to operate the sections under some equitable guarantee arrangement, should the people so desire;

(4) Should an improved public highway from Love Point to Queenstown be provided, and the Bay Shore to Queenstown ferry be diverted to Rock Hall, the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic or an affiliated company to purchase or construct a fast ferry with ample room for automobiles trucks and vehicles and with ample passenger accommodations, the vessel to be of most approved design and construction for the particular service required, and for this service the company to receive a like and proportionate subsidy to that, if any, received by other ferry companies crossing the Chesapeake Bay.

Attitude Sought

"It is our understanding that the Pennsylvania and its subsidiary or allied companies cannot see their way clear to do more than has been outlined above, and that if any other company or person is willing to operate the whole line you will interpose no obstacle to the consummation of a plan that will result in the continuance of the operation of the road.

"We have just received a letter (a copy of which is enclosed) stating that certain business men of Baltimore will undertake to pay the amount with interest bid by the E. B. Leaf Company and will operate the road from Love Point to Lewes. By this mail we are writing to the E. B. Leaf Company. We would appreciate learning the attitude which your company will assume toward the purchase and operation of the Maryland, Delaware and Virginia property by interests other than the Pennsylvania system and its allied companies."

The letter to the E. B. Leaf Company concludes:

"We hope you will see your way clear to cooperate with us in saving this property for the people of Maryland and Delaware. A conference with you in the next few days would be helpful, and we will appreciate it if you will name a time and place for such conference."
