CHRIST CHURCH WILL ENLARGE CHANCEL

At a meeting last Friday night, the vestry of Christ Church decided unanimously to extend the present building operations to include the enlarging of the chancel of the church. The plan is to extend the side walls of the chancel to the present width of the church, raising the ceiling at the same time to the same height. The present vestry room would be included in the chancel, and an addition built out to the wall of the new parish building for a new vestry room. This enlargement will allow the choir seats to be placed in the chancel and will make room for about 45 more people in the body of the church. The cost of making these changes while the contractor is at work on the parish house was so reasonable that the vestry felt it only practical to accept Mr. Walker's proposition.

Work on the parish house progresses in fine shape. The building committee is well pleased with the quality of work and materials of the building.

FIRST SOCCER GAME OF SEASON TOMORROW

Caroline High School will begin what is expected to be the most successful soccer season in its history by playing a game with Tri-County tomorrow, Friday the 28th.

This contest has a double importance. Besides being the beginning of the season here, it will be played on the new field which has been leased by the patrons. It is the first time that the booters of C. H. S. will have the advantage of playing at home on a standard-sized field. The squad heartily appreciates this help and hopes to repay its benefactors by going through the season with the orange and black always foremost.

Tomorrow's game, although only for practise, is quite important, for Captain Beck expects to get a definite line on his men and what he can expect from them during the season. The clash should interest also many of the townspeople, for they should want to know what kind of a team is going to represent them in the following season. From indications it is hardly expected that any of the followers of former teams can be disappointed in the prospect for this year.

From seven or eight well built and swift forwards it is exceedingly difficult to pick the best five, but when they are chosen the backfield of our opposing teams better be on their toes. Caroline's own back field, headed by Ted Norris, who is considered by officials one of the best all-round soccer players in the state, at center half, ought to resist any of the opposing teams' rushes for goal. Another encouraging feature is that it takes a mighty well-placed shot to go through Darling, the Star goal keeper..

This good material should find themselves against Tri-County, make a good showing and one week later on the same field give Federalsburg such a trimming as they have never had before. If the townspeople support the team at this game both with their presence and money, it is possible that new suits for the players can be gotten and a coach installed to coach them for the game against the Federals.

$35,000 CAMPAIGN TO REMODEL P. E. HOME

The Diocese of Easton of the Protestant Episcopal Church is through its various committees maturing plans for the early inauguration of a campaign to raise the sum of $35,000 for the purpose of remodeling and renovating the Home for Friendless Children at Easton. This is without a question one of the most laudable and most vital movements that has ever been launched by the Episcopal Church on the Eastern Shore of Maryland and it is certain to enlist the sympathy and support of the people in general as well as the communicants and members of the Episcopal denomination.

The home as it now stands, and as it has stood since its founding in the year 1869, is wholly inadequate to its needs. One has only to inspect its interior for evidence of this. There is one small and crowded dining hall, close and crowded dormitories, one playroom for thirty children, and there are only two bath tubs, one closet and one basin for the use of the 30 children. The kitchen and the laundry are in dilapidated condition; the space for storing vegetables and canned goods is very limited. There are no coal bins and the present furnace is located in a small inwalled space which has been excavated under the main building. There is no infirmary, a fact which has been the cause of great discomfort and inconvenience during periods of illness among the children.

These are but a few of the deficiencies and inconveniences. And it is for the object of remedying these sorrowful conditions that Bishop Davenport, the Clergy and a number of zealous laymen of the Diocese have deemed it advisable to launch this drive. Every parish and mission in the Diocese has been organized with chairman and committees and the machinery will shortly be put into motion for the splendid undertaking.

Since its inception the Home has done splendid work. One hundred and sixty girls have been housed and cared for both in body and spirit since it was founded. As some of the earlier records are incomplete, nineteen of the grils cannot be accounted for but of the others 55 came from Talbot county, 21 from Kent, 35 from Dorchester, 10 from Queen Anne, 10 from Caroline, 4 from Cecil, 3 from Wicomico, 2 from Worcester and 1 from Somerset. You will thus note that every county in the Diocese has had its representative in the course of the years. Most of the girls have been successful in their life's vocation and have developed into splendid womanhood as a result of the religious atmosphere and influence of the Home. Several of them have given excellent service as trained nurses; one has become a good milliner; many have become stenographers. Several have been happily and successfully married and have always maintained their interest in the Home, one old Home graduate having adopted one of the children in recent years. One of the girls is the wife of a very successful physician in Baltimore and one of the more recent graduates has achieved success as secretary of a large firm in Baltimore. Many of the girls after leaving the Home go to other institutions for higher training. It is one of the objects of the Home to make a careful psychological study of each child in order to ascertain its particular bent and to afford the child, after leaving the Home, opportunity for further training along lines best suited to her temperament and characteristics. At present there are 28 children in the Home.

PETITION TO END DOLLINGS RECEIVERSHIP IS HELD UP

Philadelphia, Sept. 24.—Federal Judge Dickinson today held in abeyance a petition of stockholders of the R. L. Dollings Company, of Pennsylvania, to vacate the receivership order so that the shareholders might take charge and elect a board of directors to administer the affairs of the firm.

Attorneys for the receiver opposed the motion and presented a proposition whereby the Dollings Company would relinquish all control over the Commercial Truck Company, one of the subsidiaries, in return for the cash payment of $340,000.

That move was contested by the stockholders and Judge Dickinson announced that he would undertake to settle the truck company proposition personally on Thursday morning. Following that, he said he would consider the vacating of the receivership.

Merriken Case Postponed

Monday, the trial of Richard C. Merriken vs. the C. & P. Telephone Company which was set for that day by the Circuit Court for Cecil county, was postponed until December 17th. All witnesses and legal advisors were present, but owing to the crowded calendar of the criminal court for that county, the case would not have come up before the end of the week.

Two years ago last summer Richard Merriken, in company with three other young men, were returning from a dance at Oyster Shell Point, when, in turning the curve at Williston pond, the car skidded, hitting a telephone pole of the defendant company. In the collision Mr. Merriken was rendered unconscious for some five or six weeks and since regaining consciousness has not had full use of all his faculties. The case is for damages.
