Mr. Jackson of Indiana. Southwest and Northwest. A Webber and Fields Offer? A Tree for Tombstone.

Edward Jackson, indorsed by the Ku Klux Klan of Indiana, swept the State for the Governorship nomination. He got more votes than all five of the other candidates put together. Lew Shank, Mayor of Indianapolis, most important candidate against Jackson and enemy of the Klan, was wiped out 10 to 1.

This election is important outside of Indiana, and indicates that the Ku Klux Klan has gained rather than lost strength, and will play an important part in the coming national election.

An El Paso bank closes its doors, in the Southwest, that should know only prosperity. The other day an important bank in the Northwest was in trouble and only saved by merging with another bank.

Farmers can't make a living, and while everything is done for railroads and other corporations, to make sure that their stockholders get dividends, nothing is done for farmers except to give them fatherly advice.

Something better must be done before long or there will be trouble in more banks, and trouble in two old political parties.

Henry Ford bid real money for Muscle Shoals, agreed to manufacture fertilizers and the farmers know that he would manufacture them.

Many other concerns are now bidding, but not real money. One bid offers one hundred and twenty million dollars, and reminds you of the conversation between Messrs. Weber and Fields, burlesque actors, in the old days.

"I'd give $5,000 for that dog," says one. "But, Mike, we ain't got $5,000," says the other.

"I know it, but ain't it a good offer?"

Ford offered to pay the Government 215 millions, during the period of his lease, and he has the money.

Watchmakers assembled in Chicago predict that presently all clocks and watches will automatically get time by radio. The impulse will be sent out and the watch in your pocket will automatically adjust itself.

If only we grew individually and mentally as rapidly as we grow scientifically and mechanically, but alas, we don't. Men with intelligence enough to make a watch and then set it correctly by radio, haven't intelligence enough to get rid of the superstitions that make them hate and kill each other.

While Japan tells us how much insulted they feel because we don't let them come into the United States, the Chinese are warning Matsui, Japan's foreign minister, that they, the Chinese, are much insulted because they are not allowed to settle on Japanese soil. Somebody in Japan must lack a sense of humor.

In Presidential primary election of Haverhill, Massachusetts, 693 men, 121 women, took the trouble to vote out of 17,000 registered voters. Proud Americans seem to lack interest in politics. Had a trained chimpanzee walked a tight rope stretched above the principal street of Haverhill, on primary day, beating a drum as he walked, all the 17,000 registered voters would have been out to see that chimpanzee.

There's excitement in France about the charge that soldiers' bones have been collected on battlefields by junk dealers, ground up and sold for fertilizer. The idea is abominable to many, therefore the official denial is welcome.

But what better use could be made of our "remains" than to fertilize the earth when we are gone? To be buried at the foot of a fine tree, with a little brass tablet on the tree trunk, "John Jones is proud to help this tree grow," would be a pleasanter resting place than being tucked away with other skeletons in a vault.

Of two American geese talking to each other, often one is asking, "What do you think about business? Will the national election disturb prosperity, etc., etc." The United States hasn't started on its prosperity. With Mellon in the Treasury the nation's debts are cut down. Meanwhile the people are saving and putting away thirty million dollars a day, in savings banks and good investments. Why worry?

RIDGELY

Fire destroyed the barn on the farm of Mr. Harry T. Wood, near Ridgely, Wednesday afternoon of last week, while Mr. Wood was working in a nearby field and the family were away, entailing a loss of $1000 only partly covered by insurance. WEATHER AND CROPS

The week was cool, with a mean temperature of 4 degrees below normal. It was characterized, however, by the first favorable planting period in a month. There were thunder showers, light to heavy, on the 6th and 8th.

The weather of the week offered the first opportunity for general corn planting. Much corn was planted, but there still remains about 25 to 50 per cent. of the crop unplanted. The soil dried out sufficiently to permit much plowing and cultivation. Plant growth continues slow, except grains and grasses.

Considerable replanting of early planted corn and truck crops is necessary, owing to the cool, wet weather. Wheat continues fair to good and rye good to excellent, except in lowlands. Wheat has headed and is coming into bloom in the southern and central counties, and heading continues in the northern counties, except the Allegheny Mountain region. Rye is filling out well in the southern and central counties and continues to bloom in northern counties. Oats are fair to good, and are growing nicely.

Pastures and grasses continue good to excellent.

Early potatoes are good generally, but late. Peas are podding in southern and central counties, and are blooming in the northern counties, except the Allegheny mountain region. Harvesting of peas has begun in Somerset and Wicomico counties. Truck crops and gardens are fair to good, but backward.

Setting out of tomato plants has become general; the early transplanted have made slow growth, and are poor to fair. Setting out of tobacco plants has begun.

Tree fruit prospects are fair to good except rather poor for apples in some sections.

Strawberries continue to ripen to the eastward of the Blue Ridge mountains. Ripening has begun in western Maryland, except the Allegheny mountain region. Harvesting of the strawberries is in prog[illegible] in the southern and central counties. The harvest is at its height in the southern portion of the Eastern Shore.

In the Allegheny mountain region sowing of oats and planting of early potatoes remain unfinished.

Warm and sunshiny weather is needed.

The growing season continues two to three weeks behind normal.

Income Tax Ruling

A statement has just been made by Galen L. Tait, collector of internal revenue, district of Maryland which is as follows:

There appears to be a misunderstanding as to the amount of tax imposed upon corporations by the Revenue Act of 1924.

Under the provision of section 230 of the Act, the income tax on corporations is 12 1-2 per cent., which is the same rate of tax applicable for the taxable year 1923.

Therefore, corporations are not permitted to take as a credit any reduction in tax for the payment due June 15th, or any subsequent installment date.

The credit of 25 per cent. is limited to individuals, and fiduciaries who are required to file returns on Forms 1040 or 1040-A.
