LORD'S DAY ALLIANCE CONFERENCE AT M. P. CHURCH

A conference in the interest of the Lord's Day Educational Program was held at the Methodist Protestant Church, Denton, on Wednesday June 25th, at 10:00 o'clock. The ministers and laymen of the various churches in the county were invited to attend and help put this program across.

Rev. Dr. W. W. Davis, General Secretary of The Lord's Day Alliance, and Rev. Dr. Charles W. Baldwin, of Baltimore, each made addresses. The Slogan of this program is: "We Live the Book—We Keep the Day." The program calls for the co-operation of every Pastor and Sunday school superintendent in this matter. It is a "Thrip-le-Three Campaign" which menas.

1. A Lord's Day Committee in every county. Aim: An annual Lord's Day meeting in every county seat.

2. A Lord's Day Committee in every Telephone District. Aim: An annual Lord's day meeting of all churches in the area covered by every telephone exchange.

3. A Lord's Day Committee in every Church or Circuit.

This will call for three Mid-Week meetings during the year in the interest of Lord's Day Observance. Also that three times a year every Sunday school superintendent be used in every Sunday school annually.

One way in which to be sure of the maintainance of the Sabbath is to lay the foundation for its observance in the minds and hearts of the child. This program will be mighty factor in this great work.

WHEN THE BOSS IS GONE AWAY

By THE CRACKER

He is taking his vacation, and we make the allegation that the boss is just as happy as can be. Where the mountain streams are foaming he is roaming in the gloaming, or splashing in the billows of the sea.

He is listing to the singing of the song birds gently winging, or angling in waters clear and cool. Where the moon casts grotesque shadows, o'er the hilltop, vale and meadows, he basks with peace reposing in his soul.

While the paper we are pressing, in humidity distressing, he is far away from printer's ink and dust; and our hearts are badly hurting, for we fear, by Heck, he's flirting with some damsels who had ought to flirt with us.

The linotype is clanging, and the motor press is banging, as the pressman feeds the paper in its maw; where the metal pot is sizzing, in the heat which makes him dizzy, stands the devil, growing whiskers on his jaw.

The foreman's perspiration is sufficient irrigation to keep the dust accumulation down; and the rattle of his Packard, notifies us that the CRACKER, has brought another foolish "pome" to town.

The bookkeeper's ire' riling in the waste basket is filing, all the ads for overcoats and coal sent in; and while we long to go wading, deep in Arctic snow fields shady, we're here to keep the paper on its pins.

FARMERS PLAN TO MARKET GRAIN

Growers of wheat and other grain, in this country will have an opportunity to co-operatively market their grain if plans that were set in motion at the recent meeting of the executive committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation at Chicago, do not miscarry.

This gigantic scheme, one of the biggest ever entered into by the Farm Bureau, was given impetus at the above meeting and includes the taking over of the five largest grain concerns in Chicago and 5,000 co-operative grain elevators and putting them under producer control. The deal involves the expenditure of millions of dollars and will mean a saving of hundreds of thousands of dollars on overhead expense. The corporation that would follow this consolidation would become farmer-owned, financed and controlled.

E. P. Cohill, of Hancock, Md., president of the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation, a member of the executive committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation attended the sessions when the project was considered, and in his opinion it is the biggest thing in which the Farm Bureau has ever engaged and in which its members will share. O. E. Bradfute, president of the A. F. B. F. was made chairman of a committee that was appointed to shape the plan and look into the legal aspects of the merger. The proposed plan which was presented to the committee of the farm bureau by the grain interests of Chicago contemplates acquiring the mechanical and managerial facilities of the Armour Grain Company, The Rosenbaum Grain Corporation the J. C. Shaffer Co., Bartlett-Frazier & Co., and Rosenbaum Bros.

ENFORCEMENT UP TO CITIZENS AS WELL AS OFFICIALS

The Town Hall was filled last Thursday night for the Langley-Kelser dramatic debate on the question of law enforcement. This most important and timely question was presented in a new way and made a vived impression on the many listeners.

Mr. Paul P. Kelser, of Ohio, represented the state's attorney. Mr. John W. Langley, of Chicago, took the part of the indignant citizen who wants to know why the state's attorney hasn't closed up the places where liquor is being sold. The defense is made that this matter of prohibition was slipped over on the people during the absence of the soldiers, that the American people as a whole knew nothing about it, that it is unpopular and cannot be enforced. Then Mr. Langley gave a brief history of the origin, in 1913, of a petition to Congress from the Anti-Saloon League; he gave the various steps which preceded the ratification of the amendment, all of which showed the people did know what was going on. For every argument put against, there was an answer for, until the district attorney was forced to admit he had been wrong. Just at that point he brought out the fact that even with the law back of him, it wasn't up to the official alone—it was a job for the citizen as well. He stressed the importance of registering, of attending the primaries, of voting, of reporting violations, of securing evidence, of defending prohibition against ridicule and false statements, of spreading the truth about its good effects. The wets have a private interest in this matter, hence their great agitation. The drys have only a public interest, and it is harder to get them to unite and do something. The debate finally ended with the admission on the part of each that he was partly to blame for the way things are managed, that he was partly responsible for the betterment of conditions; and that it takes both official and citizen to carry on the work of enforcement.

DRY ENFORCEMENT NETS U. S. $23,000,000

150,000 Actions Result in Sentences Aggregating 6300 Years

Since July, 1922, when the conspiracy section of the criminal code was invoked in enforcement, nearly $1,000,000 in fines and 450 years in sentences have been imposed in federal courts in 1000 cases.

Offers in compromise aggregating approximately $3,500,000 have been accepted in adjustment of the civil liability of breweries which have violated the law.
