HOW WALL STREET DOES IT

Were it not serious, there would be something amusing in the latest reports published in the conservative press of New York relative to the prospects for the cotton crop. We are told there is "a growing conviction that the new crop has made a good start, and that with an increase in acreage, a plentiful use of fertilizer, and a determination on the part of the farmers to secure a liberal yield, there is prospect for another large crop." All of which is handed out to impress upon the cave dwellers of the East the idea that the farmer has prosperity in sight. As a fact if the farmer does produce a bumper crop, he will get little or nothing for it. He will work twice as hard, produce twice as much and get much less cash.

Then, in order to straddle the issue, after the manner of all well-ordered Wall Street newspapers, we learn that "in the western half of the belt, as a result of the protracted drought, the crop is not so well advanced." This lays the ground work forhigher prices of cotton products for the people. The farmer will be paid a low price for a poorer quality of cotton, because the farmer must be gyped whichever way the cat jumps, and the impotent and apathetic public will pay the rest of the bill.

These financial jugglers, these speculating harpies who live on the sweat of men who work, passing out their propaganda without governmental or private protest, are sewing the seeds of discontent that unless there be some change before long will produce a bumper crop that may shake the teeth out of the nation. The farmer is tired of continuous exploitation.

MIDDLEMAS -TODD

A wedding of unusual interest to the comunity was that of Miss Miriam Jane Todd and Mr. William Middlemas at Concord church Wednesday morning, May 20, at 11 o'clock.

Mss Todd is the daughter of Mr. Atwood Todd, and was educated at Beachwood College. She was attired in a beautiful gown of white crepe and carried white bride's roses. Her attendants were her sister, Mrs. Roland Seeders, as matron of honor; the Misses Louise Cohee, Louise Nuttle, Adeline Fisher and Mary Middlemas, a sister of the groom, as bridesmaids. Mrs. Seeders wore pink, Miss Cohee nile green, Miss Nuttle, yellow, Miss Middlemas blue over pink, Miss Fisher orchid. Each attendant wore a hat to match her gown, and the effect of so many beautiful colors was charming.

The church was decorated with pine boughs, peonies, pink roses and orange blossoms, making a delightful setting for the event. Rev. Atkins performed the ceremony. Mrs. Paul Knotts, a sister of the bride, played the familiar wedding music, and was gowned in orchid. Miss Adeline Fisher sang "Oh, Promise Me." Messrs. Enoch Nuttle, of Federalsburg and Elias Nuttle of Denton were the ushers.

TALBOT CO. FARMERS SAVE $2,478.50 THROUGH FEED POOL

A saving of $2,478.50 was made by Talbot county farmers as a result of last year's Feed Pool according to advices from the office of the Talbot County Farm Bureau at Easton. The pool was conducted by the Agricultural Corporation of Maryland, the purchasing department of the State Farm Bureau Federation and the saving was made on the purchase of the different kinds of feedswhich included about 350 tons of dairy and poultry materials.

A recent report from the Talbot County Farm Bureau office says: "All who have used feed this season have been well pleased with the results." This is just one illustration of what the farmers of the state might save by pooling their orders and by figuring ahead on their requirements for feed and other supplies. Attention of the farmers is being called to this year's feed pool and due notice will be given as to when it opens and the closing date.

Greensboro Baptist Church Services

The Rev. Melvin G. Morris will preach sunday morning on, "A Life Made Over." At 7:45 p. m. he will preach on "Is It Well With Thee?" The ordinance of Bible baptism will be administered at the close of the evening service.

There will be a community birthday party in the lower auditorium of the Greensboro Baptist church, Tuesday, May 26, at 8 p.m. A big 60 pound cake will be the center of attraction among the eats. A fine program is being prepared and a very enjoyable evening anticipated. Everybody invited.

MISS ECKHART GIVES DEMONSTATION TUES.

As part of the program for better homes week here Miss Bertha K. Eckhartd of the Educational Department of the Victor Talking Machine Company, Camden, gave an interesting demonstration to several hundred children on the court house green Tuesday morning.

The teachers as well as many parents present enjoyel the games and songs. The occasion was a splendid opportunity to know and appreciate the importance of music as a part of the recreation and play for the children's play time.

The closing feature of the entertainment for the Community lCub Monday afternoon was the talk on "Music in the Home" by Miss Bertha K. Eckhardt representative of the educational department. A similar entertainment was given at oCncord, Ridgelya and Greensboro and was much enjoyed by all.

"God on Broadway"

An unusual project has been set in motion in New York. A business building, taller than the Woolworth, is to rise on Broadway — and dedicated to Christianity. It is to be known as Broadway Temple, containing, a church, auditorium, schools, hotel, stores and business offices. "Help God open an office on Broadway" is the bond slogan. Dr. Christian F. Reisner, a Methodist minister from Kansas, is the leader in the movement.

"Baby Farm" Head

Helen Geisen-Volk is under arrest and N. Y. City authorities are investigating the deaths of 23 babies in 17 months at her "baby farm." It is charged babies left there were starved and brutally treated.
