Chestertown, Md., July 21—George C. Thomas, 21, son of the Rev. William M. Thomas, formerly of Baltimore and now a missionary at Porto Allegre, Brazil, was fatally injured in an automobile accident yesterday afternoon on the outskirts of Galena. He died in the Elkton Hospital.

The young man had been selling books in the vicinity of Galent. He went to Georgetown to deliver a book and while returning to alena his car skidded on the road just after rounding a curve near the Presbyterian church. The car turned turtle and pinned the young man under it, fracturing his skull.

Young Thomas was the nephew of Mrs. Thomas C. Cruikshank, of near Galena. This is said to have been the third accident within three days in the vicinity of Galena.

MORALS RELIGION AND COMMON SENSE

Standing beside the grave of the Unknown Soldier, President Coolidge said:

We do not need more national development, we need more spiritual development.

We do not need more intellectual power, we need more spiritual power.

We do not need more knowledge, we need more character.

We do not need more government, we need more culture.

We do not need more law, we need more religion.

We do not need more of the things that are seen, we need more of the things that are unseen.

A NOBLE CREED

Upon the monument erected to the late Senator Hoar. who represented the state of Massachusetts in the United States Senate for twenty-seven years, there is graven this declaration of his political faith—"I believe in God, the living God; in the American people, a free and brave people who do not bow the neck or bend the knee to any other, and who desire no other to bow the neck or bend the knee to them.

"I believe that liberty, good government, free institutions, cannot be given by any one people to any other, but must be wrought out by each for itself, slowly, painfully, in the process of years or centuries, as the oak adds ring to ring.

"I believe that whatever clouds may darken the horizon, the world is growing better, better today than yesterday, and tomorrow will be better than today."

TWO WAYS

There are two ways of defending a nation. One is to build vast navies, line the shores with brazen guns and create a huge army, and then say to the other nations, "Touch us if you dare!" The other way is to be so just in all our dealings with men at home and nations abroad, to exercise such righteousness and good will that no nation anywhere in the world will want to attack us either now or forever. That nation will be the greatest in the eyes of the future—perhaps a nearer future than we think—which dares take the new and better way.—The Expositor.

Eastern Shore Happenings

The two new pieces of fire fighting apparatus for the Robbins Hose Company are expected to arrive in Dover within the near future. The new machines were expected to arrive in Dover last Wednesday, but work on their construction was delayed.

The new apparatus, one a combination truck with a 350 gallon pump, and the other a hook and ladder truck, were shipped from Columbus, O., on July 6th, according to the latest information that the officials of the Robbins Hose Company have received.

At a special meeting of the directors of the Smyrna Chamber of Commerce the proposal of the Pennsylvania Railroad to discontinue the Smyrna-Clayton branch was discussed and a committee was appointed by the president, Charles D. Stockly to appeal to higher authorities to ask that Smyrna should continue to have adequate railroad facilities.

At this time when, through the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce, the American Legion and other public spirited men, Smyrna has taken on new life, a move like this on the part of the railroad, it is said, would be a death blow to all advancement. Two bank buildings are nearly completed, an up-to-date fire house and numbers of new houses are being erected and many places of business remodeled and improved. To lose the railroad transportation of passengers and freight would, it is thought, be very detrimental to the growth of the town.

Chestertown, Md., July 19—The Board of County Commissioners has completed the annual levy for the various items of expenses and has made ample appropriations to meet it, with the possible exception of the schools. They receive $106,208, which County School Superintendent Robinson in a public statement declares is not sufficient for the conduct of the institutions during the coming year.

The total amount of money appropriated by the board for all purposes is $222,447.09. Of this amount only $49,598.81 was levied in certificates of indebtedness, which shows that the county is rapidly approaching a cash basis and is relieving the taxpayers of an unusually large amount of interest payments every year because of the former practice of levying so much of the county's money in certificates which bear interest at the rate of 6 per cent.

The tax rate this year was reduced 3 cents from that of last year, making it $1.47, and the assessable basis of the county for all purposes $15,144,125.

Ocean City, Md., July 17—A new $25,000 pier for Ocean City was the topic of general discussion here Friday, when the first stock in the proposed corporation was sold. Fourteen names from Worcester and Somerset headed the list.

The object of the promoters is to furnish a convenient place for sea-fishing, which will attract tourists and make for a longer season at the resort.

The plan is to sell 250 shares of stock, having a par value of $100 each. The returns from the nominal charge made to the public for the privileges of the pier are to be turned over to a sinking fund, making the affair self-supporting.

Within the next three weeks all of Queen Anne's county's numerous packing houses will be visited by inspectors of the Food and Drug Bureau of the State Department of Health.

According to A. L. Sullivan, chief of the bureau, this work will be completed before August 15 to 20, when most of the canneries get under full swing.

In keeping with a custom which they have steadfastly observed since their tenth wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. George, of Suddlersville, left Saturday for their fifteenth "honeymoon" trip. They start this morning for St. Louis and then will go to Colorado Springs, Pike's Peak, Denver, Rocky Mountain National Park, Salt Lake City, Yelloystone Park and vicinity, thence to Minneapolis and St. Paul, Duluth and by the Great Lakes steamer to Buffalo, Niagara Falls and other points of interest along the Canadian border. They will be away for about three or four weeks.

Since their tenth anniversary it has been the custom of Mr. and Mrs. George to renew their "honeymoon" each year. Although they are not always able to leave on June 29th, the date of their marriage, the trips are always within a few weeks of this time. In recent years they have made motor pilgmimages to the mountains of western Maryland, Luray Caverns and Shenandoah Valley, Washington and vicinity, New England States, Canada in the vicinity of Montreal, Niagara Falls and Atlantic City.

Ocean City, Md., July 20—William Windsor, of Deals Island, was fined $10 in Worcester County Circuit Court today for failure to establish residence in this county while seeking crabs in Sinepuxent Bay.

Chief Judge John R. Pattison and Associate Judge Robert F. Duer were on the bench.

The case was an appeal from the decision of the magistrate, Windsor claiming that he resided on a houseboat in the bay while dredging for crabs. Sharges were instituted by William Scott.

Native dredgers in the Sinepuxent are up in arms over the alleged encroachmen in Worcester waters of "crableggers," who they claim are exploiting the new industry in the county due to the dearth of crabs in the Chesapeake Bay and along the East Coast of Virginia.

Besides their failure to establish a residence or declare intentions of doing so, they often fail to return the spawn crab to the waters, local crabbers claim.

The case at Snow Hill attracted considerable attention in the local industry, and the crab fleet was practically deserted today when more than a score of crabbers went to the county seat to witness the trial.

The Sinepuxent crab industry, made possible by a phenomenon of nature, was unheard of three years ago. This year the watermen expect to derive more than $500,000 from crabs alone taken from the bay.

In 1920 a northeast storm cut a natural inlet through to the bay from the Atlantic ocean, permitting the flow of salt water into the former body. Now crabs, oysters, clams and deep sea fish abound there.

With an almost warlike activity men in the armories distributed throughout Delaware are preparing for the annual encampment, August 1 to 15, of the 198th Artillery, Anti-Aircraft, Delaware National Guard, on the government reservaton, state rifle range, below New Castle, and at Rehoboth Beach. Major John P. McCaskey, Jr., has been designated instructor during the training period. Within a few days Governor Robert P. Robinson is expected to name the 1925 encampment.

Members of the State Fish and Game Commission are more or less worried over the future of the crabbing industry along the rivers and bays of Delaware as the result of the invasion of the Delaware Bay in the vicinity of Woodland Beach, Wednesday of last week, by fishermen of Crisfield, Md.

The Maryland fishers were driven away by the Fish Commissioner's patrol boat, but not before they had taught the Delaware fishermen how to crab. As the result of the visit of the Maryland fishermen, the Delawareans put out in boats to crab on Thursday, following the methods taught them by the Crisfield men, and thousands of crabs were caught.

One boat returned after a twenty-four hour trip with 60 barrels of crabs that were sold for $390 at the rate of $6.50 a barrel.

R. Arthur Derrickson, president of the Rotary Club of Milford, was the recipient of a Rotary pin, the gift of the club, at its meeting last Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Derrickson celebrated their eighteenth wedding anniversary last Friday, and it was a coincident that the Rotary Club met for its regular weekly dinner that evening. The Rotarians quickly took advantage of the occasion to present the pin. After C. Donnan Holzmuller, who is rapidly acquiring the position of "official presenter" for the club, had presented the pin, and "Buck" had very gracously thanked the club members for their gift when each individual member came forward with other gifts, each of which was the occasion for much merriment among the members. The presentations closed the evening's entertainment.

Hiking from San Francisco to her home in Dover, Del., Miss Claire Lavelle, 23 years old, a college graduate, was given shelter and food by the police in Carnegie, Pa., Wednesday night and continued on her way Thursday. Miss Levelle, clad in knickers and a blouse, told the police she left home after graduating from college, for San Francisco, where she was employed as a bookkeeper in a chain store. The firm failed several months ago and, almost penniless, she started to walk for her home. Miss Lavelle said she had saved some money, but used it for a physician when she became ill. She said her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Lavelle, did not have money to spare for her fare and she started to walk.

Several hundred persons attended the celebration at Delaware Beach last Saturday afternoon, in connection with the opening of the new $155,000 highway leading from the duPont highway, a short distance south of St. Georges, to Delaware Beach.

The visitors to the beach this year have been greatly impressed with the number of improvements that have been made. The beach has been enlarged inorder to handle the bathers seeking real salt water bathing.

An electric plant has been built to supply light and power. A waterslide on the beach has been a great favorite. A carousel, costing about $25,000, one of the finest in this part of the country, has been built. Scooters are also a new feature this year.

In order to handle the picnic parties who visit the beach many new tables have been built in the grove, which is one of the largest on the peninsula. A complete children's playground, where the youngsters can be "parked," is one of the big features this year.

Laurel, Del., July 20—Walter, 6-year-old son of Mrs. Walter Willen, was knocked down and run over late Sunday night by an automobile driven by Charles W. James, of Delmar.

The accident happened in front of a theater and scores of people on the street expected to see the child picked up dead or badly injured, but not a bone was broken, according to doctors.

Today the lad seemed as well as ever. James was in no way at fault, it was found by police.

Sea water is making further encroachments on the old lighthouse at Cape Henlopen, south of Lewes, which soon will be a thing of the past. The foundation is further exposed from 12 to 15 feet by the action of the sea washing away the sand. The foundation appears to have been built of limestone. Nothing is being done now to prevent undermining of the old lighthouse.

Carrying out his oft-repeated threat to end his life, Howard Clannahan, a carpenter, of Church Hill, committed suicide Thursday night in a little abandoned tenant house adjoining the farm tenanted by Alan McFarlane, near Church Hill. His body was found Friday morning about 7 o'clock by Richard DeFord, who resides near Hinder's Hill.

Thomas Fowler, Chestertown, has the sympathy of a large circle of friends in his series of accidents which occurred through no fault of his new rig when he started up recently.

The machine was at work on Ollie Ford's yard when the stack yard took fire and the rick of straw consumed. Then after this excitement another peculiar incident occurred. While being driven near the threshing machine on the stackyard the horse switched its tail, getting it caught in the whirling belt of the machine. The tail was entirely stripped of hair and skin. The animal ran away but was caught and given treatment.

It is said that there were three men about the machine stunned by lightning the same day.

Forms a perfect, unbroken "piston seal," which insures full power from your motor--and full power means greater mileage.
