J. H. EMERSON, Editor.

DENTON, MARYLAND:

THURSDAY MORNING, NOV. 29, 1877.

The House of Representatives last week repealed the operative part of the Resumption act. Should it now pass the Senate, it is more than probable the President will interpose his veto.

James Roseberry Hawkins, colored, was hanged at Towsontown on Friday last, and paid the extreme penalty of the crime of rape, committed on a little white girl. He confessed his crime and professed a preparation for death.

Loss of the Huron.

ONE HUNDRED LIVES LOST.

During the storm on Saturday last the U. S. Sloop of War Huron was wrecked off the coast of North Carolina, involving the loss of one hundred lives and much suffering on the part of those saved from a watery grave. The Huron struck two miles north of Life Station No. 7 at 1.30 A. M., on Saturday morning, and is a total wreck, and of her crew of 135 men only thirty were saved. All the others have perished, among them Commander Ryan, Lieutenants Simons and Palmer, Masters Conway, Tyler and French; Ensign Danner, Surgeon Culbreth, Paymaster Sanders, Chief Engineer Olson and Cadet Engineer Loomis.

Surgeon Culbreth was a citizen of Smyrna, Del., where his family now reside.

Mob Law in Kentucky.

Col. Crittenden, United States marshal for Kentucky, reports some very remarkable doings in Wayne county in that State recently. A deputy marshal recently arrested there two men for violating the revenue laws, and put them in the county jail at Monticello. On the night of the 15th thirty men forced the sheriff to open the jail and release them. On the night of the 18th another mob forced the jailor to release John Lovelace, another revenue law breaker. Two days prior to these occurrences a mob took Granville Brummet from his house, whipped him and threatened him with death if he ever again assisted a United States Marshal. Brummet left the county on being released. William Cox, another assistant of the marshal, was also whipped, and left the county in fear of his life. On the 18th United States Commissioner Tuttle was grossly insulted by a mob and forced to leave his home. All the parties implicated in these outlawries will be pursued.

Southern Senators in the United States Senate.

In the United States Senate on Monday Mr. Wadleigh, chairman of the committee on privileges and elections, submitted a majority report in favor of seating Wm. P. Kellogg as a Senator from Louisiana, and asked immediate consideration of the report, but objection was made and it was laid over until Tuesday. The minority of the committee reported in favor of seating Henry M. Spofford. Mr. Edmunds offered a resolution calling upon the Attorney General for information as to all criminal prosecutions under the Department of Justice instituted in the State of South Carolina since 1873. Objections was made on the Democratic side, and the resolution went over. The bill repealing the resumption act, adopted in the House last Friday, was presented to the Senate by Clerk Adams. The unfinished business was then called, being the resolution to discharge the committee on privileges and elections from the further consideration of the case of M. C. Butler as Senator elect from South Carolina. Mr. Davis, of Illinois, spoke in favor of the resolution, and Mr. Edmunds in opposition, after which he moved to go into executive session, which was voted down, yeas 28, nays 30, Patterson and Conover, republicans, voting with the democrats in the negative. Messrs. Patterson and Conover then made personal explanations, denying that they had entered into any alliance, holy or unholy, with the democrats, but declaring their purpose to vote for the seating of Gen. Butler as Senator from South Carolina. Mr. Edmunds then moved an amendment for the resolution, instructing the committee on privileges and elections to inquire and report whether M. C. Butler had made any threats, promises or arrangements respecting a criminal prosecution against any Senator for the purpose of influencing the the vote of any Senator. The amendment was rejected, yeas 27, nays 30, Messrs. Matthews, Davis of Illinois, Patterson and Conover voting with the democrats. A motion to go into executive session was then rejected, yeas 27, nays 30. A number of dilatory motions were made and voted down.

A Kentucky Treasurer.—The city of Covington, Ky., discovered a few months ago that its treasurer, L. N. Hawes, was a defaulter for a large sum. Hawes fled to Canada. Soon after this a city clerk named Sanford stole as much as he was able by a system of forged checks and left for parts unknown. Citizens of both parties at the recent elections united in a reform movement and elected William G. Stone treasurer. Now it is discovered that Stone himself is a defaulter in a large sum, which will probably not fall below $10,000. The matter, which has been invested secretly, culminated Wednesday in his indictment for embezzlement and arrest.

Death on the Witness Stand.—At Lewiston, Juniata county, Pa., last week, Jerome Hetrick, a former member of the Legislature from that county and a highly esteemed citizen, fell dead on the witness stand whilst testifying in court to a bank robbery. Hetrick was a director in the bank, and was about to relate the confession of his own brother-in-law acknowledging the robbery when his limbs seemed paralyzed; he straightened himself as if making great exertion to move forward; a friend rose with him as if to support the quivering form, when Hetrick's jaw fell with a gurgle, and he sank back lifeless in the arms of his friend.

The blistering process we have applied to the editor of the Journal of late, must have been effective, as he wriggles and cringes and is ill at ease in whatever position or attitude he assumes. He put to us several questions, and for answering them in the most positive and truthful manner, our information being derived from the parties connected with the incidents related, he belittles and bemeans himself to the level of a common blackguard by bandying such epithets as "infamous and slanderous lies." Is this the best evidence he can give to his readers of refinement and culture?

Our first answer to his questions, relating to a difficulty with colored men on the morning of the election, was from the colored men themselves. The adage used to be "negroes and children tell the truth."—The report as we stated it last week, was that the editor of the Journal purchased the vote of Thomas H. Davis, a colored man, to vote the Fields' ticket. This the colored man asserted, and still asserts, and declares the editor did not pay him. Will the editor deny that he went to the polls and voted him? These things, then, are merely a matter of veracity between the editor of the Journal and the colored men, the connecting circumstances preponderating in their favor. This is a true statement of facts, drawn out by the Journal's own questions. If it does not desire its questions answered it would be much better to keep mum.

But the Journal takes occasion to go back some fourteen years, and refer to an incident which occurred upon our streets, when we were attacked with a bludgeon, and defended ourself. But the statement is unreliable and untruthful, and if he cannot state facts as they really occurred, it would be much better to say nothing. At the time of this occurrence, if the editor of the Journal was anything, he was nothing more than a little snotty-nosed school boy, scarcely out of his swaddling clothes. But he has suddenly sprung up, like a mushroom in the night, and filled with self-conceit and an inordinate vanity, immagines himself competent to dictate to those of maturer years, and lay down for them a code of morals by which they shall be governed. He must have been hard pressed for something to say, to have gone back, beyond his own recollection, to find a defect in the life of another, to justify his bad practices.

But the editor of the Journal declares that we are "contentious and of late litigious." We suppose he refers to the late suit instituted against that paper for libel. The editor also remarks, "If we had, in the management of our paper during the heated contest, offended or done injustice to any one, we are ready and willing to acknowledge it, and promptly to make all honorable amends." Now the editor had done us a gross injustice in charging us with having committed a criminal act.—We waited upon him, demanded the author of the article, which request he refused. We then demanded that the charge should be proven. This was also refused. Then, we demanded that a retraction of the charge should be made. This demand was likewise refused. We ask in the name of common sense and common justice, what other course was left us but an appeal to the Courts. We could do no more, hence the cause of our litigation. There was one other course we might have pursued, which many others would have done, who have less respect for law and order, and that was to have taken the law in our own hands. We might have thrashed the editor of the Journal out of his boots, which we believe ourself physically competent to do, although nearly forty years his senior, and so disfigured his countenance that his best friends would not have recognized him, but our own self-respect and a desire to avoid brawls, together with a decent respect for law, induced us to adopt the course we did. And now if the editor of the Journal really wants an explanation of those criminal acts he charges against us, he shall have it to his heart's content. We have labored heretofore to accomplish this end, but have been baffled in our efforts.

If the Journal is so ready to make acknowledgments for wrongs done, why does it not go to Mr. Garey and Mr. Holmes, whom it slandered, and in deep penitence make humble confession? It charged Mr. Holmes with robbing the widow, and taking the bread from the mouths of orphan children, and with other heinous crimes.—And the editor of the Journal, when face to face, was asked if he did know he was publishing lies, was speechless and dumb, and opened not his mouth. The cause of Mr. Holmes has been vindicated by the people of the county, and especially by his friends and neighbors, in his own district, who have hurled back the insult and falsehood upon the Journal with such a scathing rebuke that has put to shame and confusion the Journal and its sattelites. It charged Mr. Garey as being a public defaulter—as grinding the face of the poor—with robbing his tenants, and even invaded his domestic circle—a spot so sacred that even the sanctity of law approaches it with reverence. The honest masses of the people of the county, heard of these things; they triumphantly vindicated Mr. Garey, and by the unusual majority of three hundred, hurled back into the teeth of this beardless youth, who slandered our best citizens, and attempted to dictate to gray haired sires how they should vote, these base and groundless charges. The Journal stands to-day before the sovereign people of this county, branded as a public slanderer, for in a great measure upon these false charges, was the issue in the late canvass made. Is the Journal willing to "make amends" to these gentlemen?—We shall see.

A private letter from Augusta, Maine, written last Saturday, confirms the report that Senator Blaine is fast convalescing. He is able to sit up, his appetite has returned, and he is in such excellent spirits that his friends are confident that he will be able to resume his active duties within a brief period.

Peninsular Methodism.

The following bit of history of the Wilmington Conference of the M. E. Church is of interest to our readers. For the facts contained therein, which have been carefully prepared, we are indebted to Every Evening and Commercial.

Nine years ago the peninsula was cut off from the Philadelphia Conference and constituted a Conference of itself, which has since grown in wealth and importance scarcely second to its parent body. The Conference embraces Wilmington and what is known as the Maryland and Delaware peninsula including the strip of Virginia known as the eastern shore of that State. The Conference is divided into four districts, presided over by four members of the body, Presiding Elders Quigg, of Wilmington, Hill, of Easton, Hough, of Dover, and Brown, of Salisbury.

The Methodists are the largest religious denomination on the peninsula, and the actual number of members and probationers number nearly thirty thousand, as follows: Wilmington districts, seven thousand, five hundred and fifty; Easton district, six thousand, three hundred and forty five; Dover district, seven thousand, four hundred and twenty-eight; Salisbury district, six thousand, nine hundred and eighty.—The Conference itself, which is composed of the preachers, has one hundred and thirty five members, there being no lay members of the Annual Conference, although recently lay members have been admitted into and compose a part of the General Conference of the whole church, which meets every four years and establishes rules for the government of the church, and elects the Bishops. Last year the members of the churches on the peninsula paid in salaries to the preachers over $76,000, the highest salary being $2,500, paid by Grace church, Wilmington, and the smallest, $102, Hooper's Island, Salisbury district. The churches paid for the support of the four Presiding Elders $5,327, and for the support of the Bishops $891.21. The collections by the churches for benevolent purposes were as follows:

For missions, $9,648; for Womens' Foreign Missionary Society, $729; for Church Extension, $706; for Sunday School Union, $260; for Tract Society, $286; for Freedmen aid, $877; for Education, $779.49; for Bible Society, $524, making a total of money paid for the support of the Methodist church on the peninsula, not counting the money subscribed for building churches, of nearly $100,000. Besides this $34,000 have been paid for building and improving churches and parsonages.

In the Conference there are three hundred and ten churches and fifty-three parsonages valued at $1,250,000 upon which there is an indebtedness of $110,000. The value of this property increased last year nearly $15,000, while the indebtedness upon it decreased $7,057.63. The most valuable church property in the Conference is Grace, at Wilmington, valued at $217,000 upon which there is an indebtedness of $60,000. The church at Port Deposit comes next, and is valued at $45,000.

The Conference Fund, which is for the support of worn out preachers and their families is raised by collections and interest upon a Permanent Fund. This year it amounted to $8,937.37, which was distributed among seventeen claimants, the largest amount paid to one claimant being $337, and the smallest $50.

In the Conference are three hundred and nineteen Sunday schools, four thousand two hundred and eighty-three officers and teachers, and nearly twenty-five thousand scholars, and forty thousand library books. The expenses of these schools have reached $8,009.

The Rome of To-Day.—Rome is no longer a city of the dead—of catacombs, ruins and sepulchres—of intolerance and superstition. The Ghetto has been broken down. Jew and Gentile are now on an equality—sons of the same God, subjects of the same King. The dungeon of the Inquisition are demolished. Free speech and a free press exist. The prohibited books of the Index may be nailed on the doors of the churches, but no one pays any attention to the proscribed list. Public education under Government auspices is increasing. There are now forty-six common schools for gratuitous instruction, and ninety-four private schools. Before 1870 few were the children of the poor who could read or write. Now it is a badge of reproach for a family not to send its children to school. Several of the monasteries have been converted into hospitals. Free libraries have been established in different quarters of the city. One horse railway along the Via Flaminia from the Porta del Popolo to the Ponte Mollee, two miles in length, is in operation, and we shall 'ere long have three others.—Philadelphia Press.

Drowned in the Bay.—Sebastian Adams was drowned on Friday in the bay off James' Point, while dredging for oysters from the deck of the schooner William J. Carroll, Captain James Worten. The body has not been recovered. Adams was about 35 years old, unmarried, and lived in Dorchester county. Captain John Mezick and two seamen belonging to a small, unknown schooner, are reported drowned between James' Point and Hill's Point on Thursday last. Captain Mezick was a native of Nantico, Wicomico county, Md., and leaves a wife and several children.—He is said to have had over one thousand dollars in his pocket. The bodies have not been recovered.

A Fatal Duel in Mississippi.—The Memphis (Tenn.) Avalanche, of the 18th inst. has this brief account of a duel which proved fatal to both parties: "Eight miles south of Ashland, North Mississippi, a few days ago, Homer V. Hunt was challenged by C. Mason Lane for saying of a young lady friend of the latter, "How I loathe any girl who is her equal!" He accepted, and as both were excellent shots the distance was extended from fifteen to thirty five yards. Hunt was killed and Lane mortally wounded at the first fire."

Mistaken for a Deer and Killed.—While James Johnson and S. T. Stewart were standing for deer last Friday, on Shaw's Fork, Highland county, Va., Mr. Stewart was fatally shot by Mr. Johnson, and died on Saturday. Johnson seeing the leather shot bag on Stewart's person through the brush, thought it was a deer and fired, the ball penetrating the body of Stewart, resulting as above stated.

A house at New Durham, New Hampshire, was saved from destruction in a curious manner on Monday. A spark flew from the chimney to some clothes in a chamber and set them on fire, and was spreading rapidly over the floor when it reached some acorns spread there, which popped so loudly that the family heard the noise, and, going to see what the trouble was, found the fire and extinguished it.

During the gale of Saturday the schooner Charles Herrick, owned on York river, and commanded by Captain Harvey, was capsized off Thomas' Point, and two men, Robert Schilling and James Carter, the latter colored, were drowned. Captain Harvey and three men were rescued and carried to Baltimore.

IMPORTANT DISCOVERY!

DR. ARTHUR MITCHELL'S

VEGETABLE

AMERICAN SOAP!

For Removing all kinds of Stains, Grease, Tar, Pitch, Ink Spots, Tobacco Stains, &c., &c.

THIS is truly a wonderful discovery, patented in 1875.

The Soap is purely vegetable, containing no acids, alkalies, or chemicals of any kind, and is made without Lye or Grease.

For Laundry purposes it is unequalled.—Clothes can be washed perfectly clean in thirty minutes with this Soap, without the use of a washboard or washing machine.—Thousands have used it, and given their indorsements of the value of the discovery.

It is the cheapest soap used. It can be made in TWO MINUTES for LESS THAN HALF A CENT PER POUND. The material can be bought at any grocery store.

Every family should secure the right to make and use it. FAMILY RIGHTS can be bought for $2.00. It saves labor, and saves money.

It does not injure the colors of cotton or worsted goods, but rather improves them.—This is an important consideration with those who wear Calico.

Call at the UNION Office, in Denton, and secure the great secret of making the American Soap.

Dr. Mitchell will remain in Caroline county only a short time; do not therefore delay the purchase, as the opportunity may never occur again. ARTHUR MITCHELL, M. D.

TESTIMONIAL:

EASTON, Nov. 15, 1877.

Dr. Arthur Mitchell last week made for my family 54 pounds of his American Soap. The materials were bought at retail, and cost but 50 cents. It was made in less time than it would take to make a pot of tea.—My family has since been using it; and my wash-woman says it is the best soap she ever used. I cannot too strongly recommend it, and would not be without the secret of making it for twice the cost of ten family rights.

It is absolutely surprising how very cheap we can offer these things to our customers.—Our cheap prices and pretty styles cause an unconcious smile as the buyer hurries off to his home, fearing some mistake has been made, be called back to arrange it. We can give you a nice Cassimere for 50 cents per yard, and other inducements to cash buyers.

Both Carriage and Cart, Bridles, Collars, and all articles in that line, we offer at figures that suit the times. We will sell you a suit of new buggy harness for $10. They are here for you—come get them.

Hardware.

Nails from 2d to 40. Carriage bolts all sizes. Plow bolts. A gimlet you cannot break.—Best Hickory Felloes and Spokes, Carriage Shafts and Hubs all sizes, Carriage and Dearborn Arms and Axles. The best Rowland Shovel and Spade, $1 each. Hay and Straw Forks. Trace, Back and Tug Chains. Knives and Forks very low, odd forks.
