EDITORIAL NOTES.

"The Defeat of the Underworld" is the title of an article of intense interest in Collier's Weekly, telling the startling story of the cohessive power of the criminal classes in New York, how they have banded together and prey upon the helpless public. The methods enployed by the big criminals are astounding. By their secret orders they defy the highest tribunals of the land—they use the juries only as whitewashers of their lawlessness, their appalling wickedness, and hold the ordinary court in contempt. Exposure came at last, after the lapse of many years. A police lieutenant, with a moderate salary, had grown very rich, very arrogant. He ordered the killing of an enemy who was about to make damaging disclosures, and the man was promptly killed. Some one bungled, and an unbought, unafraid State's Attorney went to work. What he has unraveled in the court has shocked the world. It is shown that murder can be procured in America's great metropolis for the paltry sum of two hundred dollars! The lieutenant and his four hired murderers are to die in the chair, and their death will or ought to have a wholesome effect.

Maryland mourns for one of her greatest sons, United States Senator Rayner, whose death yesterday was imminent. Few men in the nation's history of the last half-century have gained a greater, worthier fame than has he. Maryland was proud that it had in him a statesman of profound learning and a champion on the floor of the Senate to whom the national Democracy looked for the successful upholding of Democratic principles.

While the whistle of hundreds of steamers within a radius of half a mile joined in a rousing salute President-elect Woodrow Wilson, Mrs. Wilson and two of their daughters left the harbor of New York on Saturday on the steamer Bermudian, on their way to the Bermuda Islands, where the distinguished American and his family will enjoy a stay of several weeks.

Col. Roosevelt regards the party's showing in polling more than 4,000,000 votes, in the face of numerous obstacles naturally in the path of a new movement, as "literally unparalleled in the history of free government." This means that Col. Roosevelt is again "in the ring" for another fight—that he proposes to supplant and destroy the g. o. p., his first choice.

A New York club gave a banquet in honor of President Taft, and that gentleman closed a speech with a toast to his successor. Said Mr. Taft: "Health and success to the able, distinguished and patriotic gentleman who is to be"—and he raised his glass while his hearers rose to their feet—"the next President of the United States."

After the showing made by the new party its members ought to have no difficulty in capturing the organization of the old party, if they desire to do so. This is the statement made by William Jennings Bryans, discussing the future of political parties, since the recent election.

A writer in the Baltimore Sun suggests former Governor Edwin Warfield as good timber for the coming Democratic Cabinet. The Governor's record in the Executive chair is an excellent one, and the writer safely concludes therefrom that he would make a good Cabinet official.

Even Republican and independent Republican press of the cities with remarkable unanimity hail President-elect Wilson as a man well-fitted for the responsibilities of the lofty position he is soon to assume.

There will be an informal opening of the Panama canal next year, and pilgrimages thither will be popular with American engineers and many others, to examine the government's great work.

In the electoral college which is to finally elect Governor Wilson President and Governor Marshall Vice-President will be two women, one from Washington State and one from Colorado.

Mr. J. D. Baker, of Frederick, is suggested to President-elect Wilson for Secretary of the Treasury. Mr. Barker is one of Western Maryland's biggest and best Democrats.

State Senator Blair Lee, treasurer of the Democratic auxiliary committee, reported that $14,072.66 had been collected and spent in the campaign.

It is very generally believed that Mr. William Jennings Bryan will be a member of President Wilson's cabinet.

It is said Senator John Walter Smith will likely be made chairman of the naval affairs committee.

OUR NATIONAL THANKSGIVING.

What keener delight than an American Thanksgiving day—Thanksgiving with its abundance of good cheer, turkey, cranberry sauce, plum pudding and all that goes with it! Everybody won't have turkey, 'tis true, but nobody will go hungry unless from pride or choice, for in the United States, where practical philanthropy is a glorious monument to the times, rich and poor are indeed kin on Thanksgiving day at least. Throughout the country the usual preparations are being made to feed the poor, and large sums of money have been contributed.

It has become as much an American habit to eat more than we ought to Thanksgiving day as to make presents at Christmas or a noise on the Fourth of July. The epicure may have his other 364 dinners de luxe, but his Thanksgiving dinner must be the genuine turkey-cranberry-sauce-plum-pudding kind or he will develop a grouch of generous dimensions, intense bitterness and long duration. So if we're going to be home Thanksgiving day we're lucky, mighty lucky.

Thanksgiving day as a national holiday is a legacy from our Puritan ancestors. And fine specimens of sturdy optimistic manhood and womanhood were these pilgrims. Beset by discouragement though they were and facing the rigors of approaching winter, yet they were thankful for the blessings of the summer harvest, and when Governor William Bradford decided to set apart a day for prayer, praise and thankfulness the idea was adopted with the zeal that characterized everything that the pilgrims did. This Thanksgiving of almost 300 years ago lasted several days. The ladies of Plymouth spread a great feast, wild turkey and deer meat constituting the main dishes. The Indians joined with the settlers in this historic feast.

Wherever Americans are gathered together on Thanksgiving day in foreign countries there is sure to be an elaborate observance of the epicurean holiday. In every foreign capital a Thanksgiving banquet at the American legation is one of the fixtures in the ambassador's or minister's ceremonial calendar, and to his official reception are welcomed all of his countrymen residing abroad, temporarily away from their own firesides. The American churches hold religious services, and in their absence the natives usually offer their places of worship to the Americans for the day.

In this year of grace the people have received many things of great value and many blessings have been sent among them, and these should inspire every heart with deep thankfulness; and for the golden opportunities at hand there should be deep gratitude.

SQUARELY ENDORSES GOV. WILSON ON TARIFF REFORM.

In an interview in the Baltimore Sun Senator John Walter Smith is very clear and emphatic in his advocacy of the national Democratic position of a tariff for revenue only. Senator Smith has also a word to say about some criticisms made by his political enemies. Senator Smith's public utterances are always interesting, and this is no exception.

"My conviction is," said Senator Smith, "that in this question of a special session, as well as in the whole big question of tariff revision, the wise and reasonable thing to do is to wait until Governor Wilson himself makes known his views. Until he announces his own attitude and belief it seems to me there is little use in speculating upon the matter or in getting unduly excited over it.

"When Governor Wilson does make known his views, in my opinion, it will be the duty of all Democrats to accept them and put their whole heart into carrying them out. Speaking for myself, I have no hesitation in saying that that is exactly what I propose to do.

"I am in complete accord with Governor Wilson so far as he has made known his attitude toward the tariff, and I am in absolute harmony with every utterance and every promise made in the Democratic platform on that subject. I stand with my party on the tariff and will stand there.

"I am aware that there has been some criticism—exceedingly unfair and unjust criticism, I think—of my vote on the tariff in the past. All I care to say is that I have never voted to increase the tariff on any article. If it were possible, I would like to see the tariff removed altogether, but I am not foolish enough to think—and I do not believe there are many persons left in the country who do—that free trade is now a possibility.

"We must have revenue to run the Government, and the only means at present by which that revenue can be raised is through a tariff. A tariff of any sort means protection.

"As we must have a tariff, I want that tariff to be as low as possible, and I want what protection such a tariff gives to be as equitably and fairly distributed as possible and not confined to any one section of the country.

"I am a tariff-for-revenue-only Democrat and always have been. So far as my vote on the lumber schedule is concerned, my enemies have intimated plainly that I voted to further my own personal and selfish interests. My enemies are welcome to this belief. If they are right, then I am, indeed, a contemptible public official, unworthy of the consideration of honest men.

"My friends know better. So do my colleagues in the Senate. They know that I would leave the Senate sooner than violate the sanctity of my oath, lose my self-respect, stultify my conscience and shame those whom I love and whom I will leave behind me when I am gone.

"In my vote on the tariff I followed the lead of Senators Daniel, of Virginia; Money, of Mississippi; Tillman, of South Carolina; Bacon, of Georgia, and other distinguished Southern Democrats. I stood with them on every proposition to reduce the tariff on lumber. I invariably voted to decrease the tariff on lumber and never to increase it. The tariff on lumber now is only 7 per cent., and this is a reduction of from 40 to 50 per cent., for which reduction I voted. On every serious proposition to reduce the tariff I stood with the majority of my Democratic colleagues.

"I have no apologies to make for my vote on the lumber schedule or for any other vote which I have cast since I became a member of the United States Senate, nor am I ashamed of any vote I have cast there or of any stand I have there taken.

"In his efforts to carry out the pledges made in the Democratic platform and in revising the tariff downward Governor Wilson will have the strongest support I am capable of giving."

About the Parcels Post.

Postmasters are receiving this notice from the Postmaster General: "Shortly before January 1st, 1913, each postmaster will be furnished with one or more copies of the official parcels post map of the United States, showing the unit of area in which his postoffice is located and the eight postal zones indicating the distances on which the parcel post rates of postage are based. Distinctive parcel post stamps will be issued to each postmaster. On and after January 1st, 1913, ordinary postage stamps will not be valid for postage on fourth-class matter. The department is endeavoring to give the widest publicity to the following. That distinctive stamps must be used on all fourth-class matter after January 1st, and that such matter bearing ordinary postage stamps will be treated as "Held for Postage."

The new parcels post service, designed to facilitate the dispatch of packages as a part of the national postal business, will be simple enough for the general public. All that will be necessary will be to take a bundle to the postoffice, have it weighed and attach thereto the proper stamp. The postal authorities will take care of the rest. For purposes of operation and fixing rates the country will be divided into about 3,500 squares, each to measure "30 minutes" square, geographically considered. These squares are to be the units of area upon which the rate zones are to be based. At the beginning the law provides for seven zones definitely, and any territory not included in these will be embraced in an eighth zone. Any article that is offered must be transported by the parcels post if it can be shipped with safety and does not weigh more than 11 pounds. Eleven pounds will be the maximum weight allowed. There are some articles that cannot be carried in the mails in safety. The authorities are now deciding what these are. By the parcels post one can send to or receive from Baltimore a package weighing one pound for 6 cents. Each additional pound, up to eleven pounds, the limit, will be 4 cents. If the distance be not more than fifty miles the rate will be 5 cents for the first and 3 cents for each additional pound.

Experiments looking to the improvement of the wheat crop of the United States by crossing the seed of American wheat with that of the wild wheat of Palestine, which, it is claimed by Prof. Aaron Aaronshon, of Chicago, would produce a superior quality of the cereal, will be made soon by the United States Department of Agriculture. Prof. Aaronshon, after many years of search, has found the original wheat plant growing wild in Palestine. He has conducted several experiments in that country, and claims that by crossing the Palestine plant with that of the United States it will be possible to double the wheat crop of this country. His experiments show, it is claimed, that a variety of wheat which is well adapted to the soil and climatic conditions of the United States, Tunis Syria, Algeria, Egypt, and Turkestan, can be produced by this crossing of the two kinds of seeds.

Experts say that there is no rapid deterioration in cars that makes them of short-lived value. They declare that a motor car practically never wears out. A company that has produced more than 50,000 cars has recently learned that the second vehicle manufactured, now more than a decade ago, is still giving satisfactory results. It is true that insurance companies estimate the depreciation at from one-third to one-half each year, but this loss is estimated on the basis of the selling value of the car, and is too high by far. If the owner takes reasonable care of his machine, its real usefulness decreases by only a small fraction of the original every year. The depreciation is at no arbitrary rate, but depends upon the first stability of the car, and the treatment given it.

The Pennsylvania Railroad has announced that it will shortly have available for use on the lines of its system a total of 2,872 solid steel passenger equipment cars, probably more than one-half of the all-steel passenger equipment in the United States, and representing an expenditure of approximately $40,000,000. These steel passenger cars have been added to the Company's equipment since June, 1906, when it was announced that all future additions to passenger equipment on the Pennsylvania system would be of all-steel construction.

DON'T KNOW THEY HAVE APPENDICITIS

Many Denton people who have chronic appendicitis, which is not very painful, have doctored for years for gas on the stomach, sour stomach or constipation. A. L. Duffey, druggist, states if these people will try simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as compounded in Adler-i-ka, the German appendicitis remedy, they will be surprised at the QUICK benefit. A SINGLE DOSE relieves these troubles INSTANTLY.

OPTICIAN'S NOTICE

It has been truly said that nature never produces duplicates—two of a kind. Thus our two eyes generally look alike and most of us believe them to be equally good until examined by a competent specialist, when many times we are surprised to learn that we have one good eye and one defective one.

In cases of this kind the good eye is doing all the work, while the defective one with its muscles unused, is becoming weaker each year. The only relief is in lenses properly-fitted, such as we supply.
