THE Legislature has got down to work in fine style, and the way they are improving the law books ought to satisfy the most zealous reformer.

A CONGRESSIONAL reappointment bill, on a basis of a total representation of 325, has been passed. This bill leaves Maryland in possession of her six congressmen.

IF there be any virtue in petitions, the law requiring stamps on bank checks and taxing bank deposits will be repealed at this session of Congress. One petition sent to Congress was nearly a mile long, and contained names of persons from various parts of the Union.

COL. ROBERT G. KEENE and his brother, John Henry Keene, Esq., attorney for Thomas Reynolds, of London, on Monday last instituted an attachment suit against The Indianapolis and Evansville R. R. Co. to recover $76,250. Attachment laid in the hands of the B. & O. R. R.—a pretty big suit, and a bigger garnishee.

REPORTS from the scene of the Western floods give very disastrous accounts of the widespread destruction. The towns of Madison, Ind., Arkansas City and Helena, and along the valley of the Mississippi are submerged. Houses have been vacated, work stopped and may cattle drowned. In some places slow falling is reported, but in the majority of towns heard from there is but little improvement. Thousands of men are at work strengthening the levees. Travel about St. Louis has been to some extent resumed.

THE number of patriots who desire to serve the State in the capacity of registers of voters is a sore perplexity to Governor Hamilton. Delegations from all the counties wait on him and file in one after another until the temperature of the governor rises to the boiling point. Still he remains polite. Yet it really must be very trying to the patience, for at least two-thirds of all the O. L. D.'s in the State want office, and want it very badly, and when the governor has made all his appointments those who fail to get office will think "reform" is a humbug, and those who succeed in getting office will become ungrateful to the governor. The opinion of the O. L. D.'s freely expressed is, "What's the use of reform without office?"—Balto. Gazette.

IT IS TO BE REGRETTED that the spirit of proscription that Governor Hamilton has manifested in his appointments against all who do not choose to follow him should have marked Fish Commissioner Ferguson. This gentleman has been turned down to give place to a Hamilton follower. Certainly it was not because of any active opposition to the Governor, for Mr. Ferguson took no part in factional politics, but went right on minding his own business, and so well did he mind it that he has made for himself a reputation by his indefatigable study in fish culture. With him it was a work of love. Governor Hamilton has hardly been able to find a gentleman that can bring into service the valuable experience of Mr. Ferguson, and the great work of intelligent fish propagation in Maryland will undoubtedly suffer by his removal.

SITTING DOWN ON RIVALRIES.—Under this heading the Baltimore Sun's Annapolis correspondent says: "There is a project on foot of a novel as well as political character. If carried into effect a series of resolutions will be introduced, either in Democratic caucus or open session, setting forth that the following of the personal ambitions of individuals is detrimental to the interests of the people, and calling on those in high places to bury their differences and pull together for the good of the Democratic party and the people of the State, or if these gentlemen refuse or fail to settle their quarrels, calling on the people of the State to ignore all matters looking to the personal and political advancement of any man or set of men; that the representatives of the people in the Legislature may hereafter govern their course on matters of legislation by their own idea of right and wrong, and not because it is desired by or is of advantage to this or that faction or party. Such a movement as this would be healthy."

They Are All Hamilton Men.

The Governor's green bag was unloaded in the Senate on Tuesday, and some of the contents surprised those who were not the inside track. Probably most comment fell upon the nominations for supervisors of election for Baltimore city, Messrs. Enoch Fratt, Henry Seim and Thomas McCosker. The nominations of Messrs. Williar and Counselman for penitentiary directors also elicited discussion, and was taken as notice to Warden Wilkinson to vacate. The nomination of a new man in place of Fish Commissioner Ferguson is another of the surprises. The only change made in the coroners of Baltimore was Dr. Frank W. Germon in place of Dr. E. R. Walker. Three of the justices-at-large for Baltimore city, Parr, Fitzhugh and Nelson, were new men, unknown in the fight that has been going on for the places. The changes in several tobacco inspectorships will probably be contested. There are also several changes in the civil magistrates. The officers of registration will not be sent in until later in the session. The Senate will not confirm all nominations sent in unless satisfied that they are good and proper men. The failure to name Dr. Milton N. Taylor for any place is commented upon by the many friends of that gentleman. Warm times are expected before the Governor gets his nominations confirmed by the Senate.

The New Registration Bill.

On Friday last Governor Hamilton signed the new registration bill, and it is now a law. The substance of it is as follows: The bill provides for the appointment by the Governor of one registration officer in each election district in the counties, and twenty for each of the three legislative districts of Baltimore city; three registers to be assigned to each ward after the redivisions of the wards directed by the recent act of the Assembly. Under the present bill there will be one hundred and eighty precincts in Baltimore city, to be numbered regularly from 1 to 180, and the registration bill gives each register charge of three precincts, to be assigned to him in numerical order. At each regular session of the General Assembly hereafter the Governor shall appoint one register for each ward as then laid out. Registers during their sessions are clothed with the powers of justices of the peace; their terms of office both in Baltimore and the counties to extend for two years from the first Monday in May following their appointment. Before the fourth Monday in May, 1882, the Governor shall cause to be delivered to the registers, through the sheriffs of the counties and the police commissioners of Baltimore one resistry and two poll-books. Registers are to sit in Baltimore from the first Monday in June, 1882, to the first Monday in July, and for revision and completion of the registry for fifteen days from the first Monday in September, and for three days from the first Monday in October; and in 1883 and subsequent years for revision for fifteen successive days from the first Monday in September, and three days from the first Monday in October, with open doors, from 8 A. M. to 7 P. M.

In the counties they are to sit five days after the first Monday in July and August, five days from the first and second Mondays in September, and the first Monday and Tuesday in October. In subsequent years in the counties they are to sit five days after the first Monday in September and on the first Monday and Tuesday in October.

Registers in Baltimore to receive $4 a day while at work in 1882, and subsequently $500 per annum. The pay in the counties to be $4 a day. Notices of times and places of registration in Baltimore to be published in six daily papers ten days before the first and seven days before the September and October sittings; in the counties notices to be given in two newspapers of opposite politics. Registers are to administer an oath to all applicants for registration, but no questions to be asked touching causes of disqualification not enumerated in the constitution. Where registration is refused, or names improperly entered after the close of registration or revision, appeal is given to any judge of a Circuit Court of a county, or of the Supreme Bench in Baltimore. Baltimore registers, six days after the October sitting, 1882, must deliver the registry and poll-books to the clerk of the Superior Court, with a certificate appended to each that it is correct in all particulars, and after 1882, shall make new poll-books, the clerk of the court to deliver one poll-book to the police commissioners on or before the third Wednesday in October of each year. The same applies in counties to the registers, the clerks of the Circuit Courts and the sheriffs.

The sittings are designated the "first summer sitting," the "September sitting," and the "October sitting;" no register to enter or strike off any name except during a regular sitting. One month before the summer sitting a census of voters in Baltimore is to be taken by the police commissioners, to be returned to the precinct registers before the summer sitting; a similar census to be taken in each September before the election of members of the General Assembly. Penalties for registration frauds by registers or others having custody of the books are a fine of $500, or three years' imprisonment, or both; and for frauds or violence attempted upon the registers, or interference with, the same penaliy. A fine of $500 is imposed for failure or refusal to qualify or perform the duties of register after appointment.

Legislative Notes.

On Tuesday the Governor returned to the Senate without his signature the bill providing for an additional constable in the fifth election district of Caroline county, for the reason that the bill conflicts with an existing statute on the subject. Senator Roe has offered another bill in accordance with the suggestion of the Governor, and on his motion the veto was sustained.

A petition has been presented to the Legislature for a law abolishing the catching of fish in net, seine or weir in Chesapeake bay and tributaries.

It seems to be the impression that the temperance committee will report the general local option bill unfavorably. If the bill is thrown out, doubtless much complaint will be made by the advocates of local option.

The House of Delegates last week passed the bill to provide for the election of school commissioners by the people.

Comment on the Governor's Appointments.

Baltimore American.

A glance at the lists will show that in making his selections the Governor has kept within the confines of that wing of the party which has been faithful to him in the struggle that he has waged with the opposition for more than two years past. Of course, he will be charged with attempting to build up a personal faction with a view to his own aggrandizement; but that accusation would have been brought against him in any event, save his complete capitulation to the managers, and his permission that they should dictate the disposition of the offices. We do not see that any middle course would have been possible to him; for it has for some time been apparent that the war within the Democratic party is one that admits of no compromise, and that either the Governor must destroy the managers or they will destroy him. The scene of the conflict is now transferred to the floor of the Senate chamber, and unless Mr. Hamilton can be defeated there, his principles and policy will have a stronger standing and support than at any previous time during his administration.

Baltimore Gazette.

While it is humiliating to see good Democrats sacrificed for the unworthy by the hands of the chosen leaders of the party, yet office is not everything, while principles are a great deal. "Principles, not men," should again be the rallying cry of the party, and everywhere the men who love their party better than they do men should gather together and make one determined effort to rescue their standards from the traitor hands that now flaunt them in the faces of the faithful amidst the mocking derision of those who uphold them in their treason. Otherwise disaster will follow in the train treachery, and Republican misrule will erect her alters, blazing with the baleful fires of sectionalism and hate, upon the ruins where has stood so long the fair temple of the Democracy, lustrous with th light of constitutional liberty, yet destroyed by its own high priests.

Baltimore Herald.

Some of them who claim to be regular Democrats are not all satisfied with the manner in which Governor Hamilton and Mayor Whyte have bestowed their patronage. The purposes of both the Governor and the Mayor may be to have men in office who will reflect credit on the administration of city and State affairs rather than to reward political services. If this is their purpose, then the criticisms that they have chanced to make numerous appointments from a particular sort of politicians will weigh very little with the public. What difference does it make to taxpayers how many places are given to those who are professed reformers or how many to strict partisans, provided able and honest men are selected? It has not yet been charged that any persons whose nominations have created such sensations are incompetent or disreputable. When that is alleged the matter will rise above a party squabble and be worthy of public attention.

Taxation of Mortgages.

It would be a curious session of the Maryland General Assembly in which a bill providing for the taxation of mortgages was not introduced. Two years ago it passed one house and was stopped in the other, but it has made its reappearance at this session, and very probably the same fate awaits it. The measure is a favorite one with a certain class of legislators, who perversely look at but one side of the question and refuse to consider that the proposition is virtually to tax a debt, to impose a double tax on the mortgaged property, and to increase the cost to the mortgagor. In fact, the title of the bill ought to be "To increase the cost of money to the borrower upon mortgage." We quite well understand that the supporters of the measure have applied to the framing of it an ingenuity by which they suppose that they will compel the lender, under severe penalties, to pay the tax, and that they also suppose by reducing taxation pari passu with the lifting of the mortgage, they avoid the objection of taxing a debt. But this is simply a theory that does not hold in the face of knowledge and experience, and that would surely be contradicted by the practical workings of the law. Whatever may be the market rate of money, the capitalist will not loan it out at less, and he will refuse to place it upon a mortgage unless he reaps the profit of the ruling rate. If the statute compels him to directly pay the tax upon the amount of the mortgage as recorded, we may be positvely certain that in some way or other he will in the long run of the transaction make himself whole at the expense of the borrower by an evasion of the law. For instance, if the mortgage is made at 6 per cent. and the tax increases the cost of the loan to 6½ per cent., is it not absolutely sure that the extra half per cent. will, by hook or crook, be exacted from the mortgagor? To deny this is equivalent to saying that the mortgagee is a philanthropist, who, purely for the pleasure of the thing loans out his capital at half per cent. less than its value in the investment market. There is the other alternative to be sure, that the law would paralyze the business of lending upon mortgages; but that is hardly worth consideration, for any statue that could be enacted would be evaded, and the business accordingly maintained at a profitable standard. What we have herein said does not describe the whole of the injury which would be inflicted upon the small borrower. The bill would be seized upon by mortgagees as a pretext that the risk involved in making loans is increased by the levying of the tax, and then they would find an excuse for additional charge. It being within the pleasure of the lender to make or refuse a loan, and the element of self-interest ruling in all such transactions, the law would place the borrower more than ever at his mercy, and its provisions would be the most onerous to owners of small properties who are necessitated to save themselves in pressing emergencies. As a general thing, the smaller loans carry the largest rate of interest; and when to this is added the tax, it will at once be seen that this class of mortgagors will be loaded down with burdens that must exhaust their resources and cause the sacrifices of their homes or farms or business properties.—Baltimore American.

Well Indorsed by our Own Citizens.

No matter how useful anything may be in itself, good indorsements seem to increase its usefulness greatly by insuring a wider field for the display of its special merits. We were thus impressed in view of the following statements received by one of our representatives from leading individuals connected with some of the largest enterprises in our midst. Among others whose testimony was freely given was W. H. Stearns, Esq., Master Mechanic of the Conn. River Railroad, residing at No. 28 Boylston street, who observed: St. Jacobs Oil has had remarkable effect among the men employed here. One of them jammed his arm very badly, and by the use of St. Jacobs Oil was greatly benefitted, and the arm was healed. Another used it for severe rheumatic pains in the knee, and pronounced the Oil a complete success as he was cured by its use. Mr. A. B. Taylor, of the "Ray & Taylor Manufacturing Co," was pleased to say: "My aunt, Mrs Pillsbury, of Mount Clair, N. J. while visiting at our house tried St. Jacobs Oil for rheumatism and neuralgia, and found immediate relief every time. She pronounced it the best thing she had ever tried for the trouble." Mr. J. B Weston, 45 Greenwood street, Supt. Car Works, Boston & Albany Railroad, thus addressed our reporter. "I am one more of the fortunates who have had the good luck to hear of that wonderful remedy, St Jacobs Oil. I had rheumatism in the shoulder severely and could find no relief until I used the Oil. I applied it and must confess I was surprised at the results. I am almost well and expect to be entirely so in a few days."—Springfield (Mass.) Union.

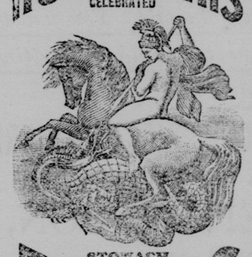
HOSTETTER'S CELEBRATED



STOMACH BITTERS

A remedy with such a reputation as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters deserves a fair trial. If you are dyspeptic, your malady will eventually yield to it; if you are feeble, lack flesh and feel despondent, it will both build and cheer you up; if you are constipated, it will relieve, and if bilious, healthfully stimulate your liver. Don't despond, but make this effort in the right direction.

For sale by all Druggists and Dealers generally.
