The Maltby, at Baltimore, under its new management is said to be one of the best hotels south of New York, and its charges surprisingly moderate.

All Sorts of Weather.—This part of the world has suffered from more varieties of weather this winter than in a long time. The Oldest Inhabitant admits the total depravity of the weather to excel his experience. During the whole of January it was a regular change every day or two from slush to sheet, freeze to thaw, mild to cold—in short, a mixture of the elements sent along unassorted. The damage to the wheat fields has been great.

Middletown Fair No More.—The regular annual meeting of the Peninsular Agricultural and Pomological Association was held in Middletown, Del., last Saturday. Although the treasurer's report showed receipts for the past year of $5,856 and expenses of only $4,589, thus reducing the society's indebtedness from $2,255 to $1,087, the directors determined to discontinue the annual exhibitions, the board being unanimous on this point.

The Building Boom.—The activity in building that took possession of Denton last year promises not to abate during the season about to open. Operations are only stopped now on account of the severe weather. The most notable buildings in contemplation are a brick banking house on the corner of Main and Third streets, and two large stores, with a hall, offices, &c., above, to take the place of the present unsightly blacksmith shop near the centre of the town.

Fred Douglass's Marriage.—Here in Caroline county where Fred Douglass was known in early life and since has been respected for his struggle to raise himself from the depths, the announcement of his marriage to a white woman lowers him in everyone's estimation. Of course the woman is a silly thing, and could not lower herself in anybody's estimation. Her name is Ellen Pitts and came from among the fanatics of the North. The marriage took place in Washington one night last week. The bride, who is about 45 years of age, went to that city several years since from Avon, New York. Most of that time she has been a copyist in the office of recorder of deeds, which office Douglass has held since his removal from the position of marshal of the District of Columbia by Garfield. Fred Douglass is about 70 years of age. The woman is fine looking, her special attraction being in a wealth of black hair. She has been a woman's suffrage advocate.

Sussex Midland.—At a meeting of the town commissioners held last Monday the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, the commissioners of Denton feeling that the building of the Sussex Midland Railroad on the line recently surveyed through and near the town, will be of great advantage and benefit to the interests of the citizens of Denton and vicinity who are anxious to facilitate and encourage the same in every appropriate way, therefore be it

Resolved, that they do hereby tender to the officers of said company the hearty and earnest co-operation of the town and its citizens, and express the desire and purpose to do all in their power to aid and assist in the construction of the road; and be it

Resolved, that Dr. Enoch George, Wm. Stevens and Luther H. Gadd be appointed a committee to submit these resolutions and to express more fully the wishes of our people; also to consult with and to secure suggestions from the officers of said company as to any action desired.

Old Jack Collins, a negro who supplied fiery draughts to the thirsty from miles around his hut just in the edge of Delaware, has come to grief. The old man was arrested in Farmington the other day by a United States Marshal and carried to Wilmington on the charge of selling liquor without paying the special tax. It is said that he has conducted the business for upward of thirty years and eked out a bare and wretched existence by dispensing vile concoctions without the law's sanction. He lived in a miserable log cabin in a swampy forest near Marsh Hope and his patrons came from many miles to drink from his stores. On Sundays his trade was particularly active, and vehicles of all kinds stood in the secrecy of the forest while their owners sought the refreshment which the hut afforded. He kept a sharp outlook for officials and a few weeks since when the marshall went to arrest him, he sought the protection of the deep forest. He was reputed to be a bad negro who would kill his man rather than submit to arrest. In addition to his trade indoors he carried his liquors about with him and dispensed them to wayfarers who always knew him. He claims to be over 80 years old, and has done no manual labor since he was set free from old Governor Collins, whose slave he was.

—The establishment of another bank is being agitated in Centreville. It is proposed to make the capital stock $50,000, divided into five hundred shares of $100 each.

A triple source of happiness—a good business, a contented mind and a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup.

Property Sales.—Howard Bryant, trustee, will sell 14 acres of valuable Tuckahoe Neck land next Tuesday.

—George T. Melvin, trustee, will sell on the same day the "Thomas Harris Farm," located 6 miles above Greensboro'.

—See advertisement of the Peter Willis real estate by Geo. T. Melvin, trustee.

—Also the sale of Mr. Edwin C. Fields, adm'r of the large and valuable personalty of his deceased father, Hon. Daniel Fields.

—Mr. John Seward, of Queen Anne Station, has recently built a large and handsome dwelling near the station and smaller dwellings are being built by other parties.

Sketches of our Delegates.—The Balto. Sun publishes the following short sketches of Messrs. Culbreth and Douglass: "Caroline county, which at the legislative election of 1881 went Republican, is now represented in the House by two Democrats—Robert B. Culbreth and James H. Douglass. Mr. Culbreth was born in Caroline county in 1819, and ever since leaving school has been engaged in farming at a point near Henderson. He was elected to the House of Delegates in 1875, and again last fall. He also served as county commissioner about ten years ago.

Mr Douglass is a native of Dorchester county and was born in Cambridge on the 9th of October, 1852. His parents removed to Preston, Caroline county, when he was two years old. He was educated in the county schools and at Crittenden's Commercial College, Philadelphia. Since 1873 he has been engaged in the apothecary business. He never held any public position until elected to the House of Delegates last fall.

Repeal the Law.—Complaint is loud on every side against the law which was passed in 1880 whereby certain powers were conferred on the magistrates in a number of counties. A very great burden on the tax payers is the result of the law. The bills which have been brought against the county by the justices of the peace, constables and the prosecuting attorney for their services in enforcing these laws are enormous, and thus the direct cause of heavy taxation. At the rate of last year's charges by a single justice of the peace in Denton, the minor courts of the county will cost four times as much as the terms of the circuit court. The speedy repeal of the act is demanded by citizens of all political parties. The justices, too, cannot fail to see the onerous, oppressive and unjust taxation that must follow their heavy bills, and while their consciences are tender they will doubtless favor the temptation being taken away. As the law now stands its effect has been to cause the arrest and trial of any number of petty offenders for petit larceny, trifling assaults, &c., which the public sense of right and justice did not require to be noticed at all, and which, without the passage of this act, would not have cost one cent. For the slightest fancied grievance one has against another, a ready justice is found who will bring the offender to trial which ends in a farce and a heavy bill of costs and fees. This sort of thing has been of frequent occurrence. The county commissioners will petition the legislature to repeal the objectionable law.

PERSONAL MENTION.

THE Orphan's Court last Tuesday appointed John C. Brown, a Greensboro' youth, to fill the vacant scholarship in Washington College at Chestertown.

MR. JAS. H. COULBOURN, who is doing a big commission business in philadelphia, stopped at Denton last Tuesday. He is on a trip through this section of the Peninsula, where his house has a large trade.

COMPTROLLER TURNER has offered Mr. Peter Stevens, late deputy clerk of the Talbot circuit court, a clerkship in the Comptroller's office, and Mr. Stevens has accepted the offer. He will have the desk occupied by Mr. Palmer under Comptroller Keating. The salary is $1,200 a year. Mr. Stevens entered upon his new duties, which are to take account of the reports of clerks of the courts and registers of wills, last Friday.

Passing Away.

Don't know where I could find as dead a subject except in the following lines:

I wandered one morning, in youth's early hours,
In a garden all sparkling with dew drops and flowers.
There was beauty and sweetness around and above,
And my wild heart was throbbing with rapturous love,
To pluck a bright bud to entwine in her hair;
But even as I grasped it from off the frail spray
Its bright petals murmured—"Passing away."

In our daily walks, or wherever we may happen to wander—whether through crowded marts, over flowery fields or amid the gray old forests—we behold upon every side a thousand truthful emblems of the frailty of all things pertaining to this transitory sphere; yet their monition, "here to-day and gone to-morrow," is as little heeded by us momentary nomads as a cow cares for the warning notice at a railroad crossing—"Look out for the Engine when the Bell rings!" Evanescent mortals: all the furniture, fixings, utensils and other moveables, animate and inanimate, belonging to earth, may truly be said to be "here to-day and gone to-morrow"—though of mosquitoes and creditors it may just now be said that they are gone to-day, but here to-morrow.

Maryland's Winter, grown old in his boyhood, is now draggling his trail through seas of mud toward a premature grave. He is "passing away," while green-slippered Spring comes tripping along, strewing garlands upon the spots made desolate by his blighting tread. Soon the baby violets will open their blue eyes, and almost laugh aloud in their grass fringed cradles; golden buttercups will spangle the dull pastures, and a joyous sisterhood of daisies dot the sunny hill-slopes. But these, my friends, must all pass quickly away, and summer's bright roses bloom for awhile upon their silent sepulchres. Then these must fade and remind the idle gazer that "all things fair must fade" and pass forever away. "Passing away." The flowers whisper it as they drop their bright petals and bow themselves down to the dust. I see it printed in Italics, wherever I go. "Passing away," writes Time with his leaden pencil upon the polished brow of Beauty. I behold the ominous inscription engraved upon the uppers of my weather-battered boots, and mark the same in every wreath that curls upward from my cigarette—then Fancy begins to feel sick and Hope contemplates hanging herself. "Passing away! passing away!" is whispered, written, proclaimed, shouted and sung throughout the whole human empire: but you, reckless care-for-nothings, take no notice of the warning, as if you were rooted in an everlasting soil and nourished by immortalizing dews, instead of "Passing away."

JOHN JUNIOR.

A FAMILY POISONED.

The Oldest Daughter, Who Has a Bad Reputation, Accused of the Crime.

ELKTON, MD. Jan. 29.—A second attempt was made yesterday to poison the Hall family. The mother and four children were taken ill after eating. The mother accused a daughter who had turned out badly of the crime, and the last-named was arrested and sent to jail. The family consists of William Hall, the father and husband, an industrious farm hand, who receives as wages $15 a month and board, and his wife and seven children. The eldest, Lizzie, aged 16, is at service, but sleeps at home. Lucy, aged 14, is also at service. These two were not poisoned. The others, who were, are: Ella, ten years; Housekeeper, a boy, named after a physician of that name, eight years; Arthur, aged five; Willie, aged 4, and Johnnie, aged 22 months.

Lizzie Hall has served a term of term of three months in the House of Correction. She is a very wild character and addicted to running about late at nights. Her mother, wearied of sitting up waiting until the girl should come in, told her a week ago last Friday that if she did not come home at a certain hour she would lock up the house and go to bed. She did so, and Lizzie spent the night, which was a very cold one, out of doors, not even trying to awaken her mother, and slept part of the night on the porch. This is believed to have prompted the girl to the devilish scheme of murdering the whole family, and, baffled in her first attempt, she has tried a second time.

Mrs. Hall and the five younger children were taken violently ill immediately after eating. The meal consisted of bread, coffee and tea. The attending physician is inclined to think the poison was in the sugar. Mrs. Hall, who is the most seriously affected of all, says she only drank coffee and without sugar. She thinks the poison must have been placed in the coffee-grinder, which had not been used for several weeks and had been out on the back porch.

Mrs. Hall is afraid to eat or drink anything in the house. Mr. Hall, speaking of Lizzie's arrest, would not own that he suspected her, but said: "Some people think that Lizzie might have done it and I think it best to keep her away. If she is away and we get poisoned we will know that she did not do it."

LEGISLATIVE OFFICES.—The Annapolis correspondent of the Herald relates several amusing incidents of the officers of the Senate and House of Delegates, which, if true, go to show that many who apply for clerkships are utterly incompetent. Here are some of the instances given: One of the doorkeepers of the Senate was detected trimming the gas jets with the scissors after having used a box of matches in the vain endeavor to get a light with the gas turned off. In the House affairs are as equally bad. Clerk Moore is pestered almost to death with the incompetents under him. Bills are frequently sent to him which, orthographically, are marvels of Nasbyism. A few days since he picked up a bill which read: "Frum the comittee on Klams. Be it enacted by the senat and hous of delegates, &c." The clerk, hastily glancing at the document and reading rapidly, almost petrified the Speaker with the announcement that it came from the committee on clams. It was some minutes before the House could understand that "claims" was the committee intended. The young man who drafted that bill was at once requested to vacate the premises, but it was understood he refused, and the matter was finally compromised by his changing places with the fireman.

AN ENORMOUS ICE CROP.—The ice crop on the Hudson this year will be the largest ever harvested, and the prospect is that it will all be securely housed within ten days. The crop in 1881 was 2,500,000 tons; in 1882, 2,000,000 tons, and in 1883, 3,000,000 tons. This winter the crop will reach 3,500,000 tons on the account of the different companies, and private parties will house all of 200,000 tons additional, making a grand total of 3,700,000 tons. The ice is represented to be of splendid quality, clear as plate glass, with a frosting of only two or three inches of snow, leaving from 12 to 16 inches of hard, good ice, and therefore the waste will naturally be very slight.

CALLOWAY.—In Harrington, at the residence of her mother, on January 21st., of pneumonia, Susan Emily Calloway, aged 34 years.

Nor earth's care assail thee more.

JONES.—In Baltimore city, Dec. 26, 1883, of pleuro-pneumonia, Mollie H., wife of Oliver Jones and daughter of Mary A. and the late Elisha W. Chaffinch, in the 26th year of her age.

"How old are you?" said an ancient dame to a grinning little tar-pot. "Well, if I goes by what mudder says, I'se most ten; but if I goes by de fun I'se had, I'se most a hundred." O! that all could measure their years in this way, but how many measure them by long night watches, and almost fatal coughing spells, which might have been cured by a bottle of Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup, taken in season.

The Wonderful Efficacy of

DR. SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS

Has been so frequently and satisfactorily proven that it seems almost superfluous to say anything more in their favor. The immense and constantly increasing demand for them, both in this and foreign countries, is the best evidence of their value. Their sale to-day in the United States is far greater than any other cathartic medicine. This demand is not spasmodic, it is regular and steady. It is not of to-day or yesterday, it is an increase that has been steadily growing for the last thirty-five years. What are the reasons for this great and growing demand?

Dr. Schenck's Mandrake Pills contain no mercury, and yet they act with wonderful effect upon the liver. They cleanse the stomach and bowels of all irritating matter, which, if allowed to remain, poisons the blood, and brings on Malaria, Chills and Fever, and many other diseases. They give health and strength to the digestive organs. They create appetite and give vigor to the whole system. They are in fact the medicine of all others which should be taken in times like the present, when malarial and other epidemics are raging, as they prepare the system to resist attacks of disease of every character.

Dr. Schenck's Mandrake Pills are sold by all druggists at 25c. per box, or sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of price.

Dr. Schenck's Book on Consumption, Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia, in English or German, is sent free to all. Address DR. J. H. SCHENCK & SON, Philadelphia, Pa.
