PHILIP W. DOWNES,
WILLAIM MASSEY,
JAS. W. HOLT,
State Central Com. for Caroline Co.

JUDAH P. BENJAMIN, Q. C., the famous Secretary of State of the Confederacy, died in London last Tuesday. He was once a prominent leader in American politics, but, at the close of the late war, fled to England and entered upon the practice of the law, in which he achieved a phenomenal success.

OUR valued contemporary, the Centreville Observer, has added another column to each page, making it the largest country weekly in Maryland. The growth of the legitimate business of the paper fully justifies the enlargement. Its columns have been for years crowded full of the sinews of newspaper success in the shape of advertisements, and not to allow this happy condition of things to encroach upon the reading space, our contemporary has spread itself out. The publishers of the Observer, the Messrs. Busteed, deserve the success that has come to them and will doubtless maintain it by publishing an independent, but soundly Democratic newspaper.

BY a majority of only four votes, the Morrison tariff reduction bill was killed in the House of Representatives last Tuesday. We have regarded this question as the greatest now before the American people, and believe the ultimate result will be the wiping away of these burdensome taxes, which are not needed to carry on the government but which have been maintained by the powerful monopolies which the system has built up. To abolish them is a distinctive and emphatic policy for the Democracy. "The Morrison bill," observes the Wilmington Every Evening, "was not more radical in its reductions than measures which have received the approval of President Arthur, Secretary Folger, and other leaders of the Republican party in the not very remote past; and its defeat is not by any means the defeat of the revenue reform movement. The tariff issue is simply adjourned to Chicago, whence an appeal will be taken directly to the people of the whole country."

ONE of the brightest lawyers and most astute men in Maryland is A. Leo Knott, for several years prosecuting attorney of the Baltimore criminal court and during trying times of 1865-6 chairman of the Democratic State committee. To an old friend he has presented some striking views on the political situation. "The tendency of events," he remarked, "to those who look beneath the surface is towards the nomination of Grant and Tilden. There is no disguising it, Grant is the man of destiny. The Arthur and Logan talk is mere masquerade. When the proper time comes they will both be at the side of 'the old commander.' Realizing that Blaine is the choice of three-fourths of the whole Republican party the plans have been arranged with the deepest sagacity, and in my opinion they will succeed. Lincoln may be a party to them and in all probability will the the nominee for Vice President. The third term scare is over and almost forgotten. The soldier element will be for Grant and the negro vote for Grant, the South will be for Grant, Wall street will be for Grant, and the moneyed and commercial interests, as well as all who feel the need at this critical time of a strong government will urge his nomination. Greater than all, he has the sagacious, practical politicians, who no more consider the wishes of party than they care for any consideration of national welfare except to win. It is this element that will tell in both conventions. Many who are supposed to be for Blaine after the first complimentary vote will be his no longer. Bayard is a man of too lofty character and fixed principle to receive the Democratic nomination. In many respects he resembles Blaine. The result, I think, will be a kangaroo ticket—one physically strongest in its hind legs. Tilden is no doubt disturbed by the choice of an associate. Hendricks will not take the second place again and perhaps he has seen that he is not wanted. He is too proud. When Tilden was unheard of Hendricks was one of the apostles of the party. Tilden no doubt wants Payne and dislikes McDonald. Tilden and Payne would be a strong combination in many points. It would have money back of it and would probably carry New York and Indiana and perhaps Ohio, but it would be open to the objection of too strongly representing the moneyed and corporate powers. Most likely the ticket-

man acceptable to him, who will also represent the peculiar ideas in relation to money and the tariff which the Democratic party of late seem bound to advocate."

Gen. Johnson on Protective Tariff.

The Balto. Day of Wednesday last published a number of expressions of opinion on the defeat of the Morrison Tariff Bill, and among them had the following from Gen. Bradley T. Johnson: "The defeat of the Morrison bill by Democratic votes is the worst disaster that has befallen the Democratic party in twenty years. The prohibitory tariff is legalized robbery. It is not taxation. It is contrary to the principles and professions of the party. It is against the fundamental idea of Democracy, for it taxes the many for the benefit of the few. It takes the property of the people at large, and gives it to a portion of the people. To reform this tariff, to reduce taxation to a revenue standard, is the mission of the Democracy, and it must stand up to it or some other party will assume it and take our place. Every man has the right to the whole product of his labor, to use and enjoy it at his pleasure for his own benefit. Society has only the right to take from him such equal proportion of his earnings as are absolutely necessary for the support of government. This is taxation. When society seizes more than this necessary proportion and gives that to other people in the way of bonus or protection, then society takes private property from one man and gives it to another, and this is robbery. It might as well by law declare that a portion of my crop shall be given to my neighbor to support him because his own industry fails to do so. There are only two sides to this question, the Republican side and the Democratic side. The lines will be drawn and the division will be made. From a mere party point of view the defeat of the Morrison bill by Democratic votes is most disastrous. Its puts us before the country with no issue and no distinctive principles. No matter how distinct a declaration may be made by our convention at Chicago we are placed in a false position. We will be charged with being in favor of free trade and direct taxation, and we will have no programme to point to to know what we really do propose, because if we insist on the Morrison bill the other side will reply that you are not in favor of that, for you yourselves defeated it. The position of the Maryland Democratic representatives who united with the Republicans is opposed to the position of the party in this city and State and will meet with its disapprobation. Now is the time for the Democrats to form a Revenue Tariff Reform League and insist on the deliberate, determined and persistent agitation of the question, and that party issues be made and fought out on it. Let us go to the people on it and argue the question before them."

A Tragedy in Talbot.

EASTON, MD., May 6.—George Jackson, a colored farm hand, was killed about 6 o'clock this morning by Joseph Kirby, a farmer living near this place. Kirby, who is weak from recent sickness, was threatened by Jackson last night, and thinking he was not safe in remaining at home, went with his wife to his father's farm, which adjoins his own, and prevailed upon his brother Lambert to go back and stay with him. Jackson made his appearance this morning, armed with a pistol and heavy stick, and in answer to Kirby's question about what had passed the night before, he answered that he was there to settle the difficulty, and saying with an oath, that he would kill him, drew the pistol and fired, but failed to hit Kirby. The latter ran to his house, and returned with a gun, when Jackson shot at him again. Kirby fired both barrels without hurting Jackson, as the gun was loaded with small shot for shooting hawks. Jackson attacked Kirby with a stick, but his brother Lambert knocked it from his hand. Joseph Kirby managed to get the stick, and struck Jackson two heavy blows, which killed him. Justice Robinson immediately summoned a jury. No marks of shot were found on Jackson's body. Mr. Kirby was represented by ex-Governor P. F. Thomas, and J. F. Bateman, and Major Stewart appeared for the State. The jury rendered a verdict that George Jackson came to his death by a blow inflicted with a hickory cane in the hands of Joseph L. Kirby.

The Claims of Caroline.

From the Democrat.

Caroline county has been particularly unfortunate in the distribution of Congressional honors. For half a century no son of hers has sat in the halls of the National Legislature. No county in the State, and probably no county in the United States, has ever been so shabbily treated. * * * * * * But "let the dead past bury its dead;" we would speak only of the present. The Democracy of the county as with one voice asks the nomination of a Caroline man at the coming Cambridge Convention. We seriously doubt if ten Democrats in the county could be found who are not in favor of the nomination of the gentleman to whom we refer. This universal tribute to the ability, worth and sterling integrity of the gentleman whose name this county will doubtless present should have, and doubtless will have, great weight with the convention. He is a gentleman of classical education, of marked ability as a lawyer, one of the largest taxpayers in the county, a careful business man and one of the most enterprising citizens of the Peninsula. Although he has never held any elective office and is now in the prime of life, he has never voted anything but a straight Democratic ticket. With him in Congress, the interests of the district would be in safe hands, and his abilities as a debater and public speaker would do much to place him in the front rank in the next Congress. We refer to HON. PHILIP W. DOWNES, and trust that the Cambridge Convention will recognize the claims of our county and the pre-em-

Col. Downes at the Front.

Our esteemed contemporary, the Chestertown Transcript, referring to the congressional contest in this district, says:

"It is understood that our present representative, the Hon. George W. Covington, is out of the fight. There are already several candidates openly in the field, and doubtless the entries are not yet closed. Col. Philip W. Downes of Caroline seems to be at the front at present. Caroline has not been represented in the national assembly for more than fifty years, and the friends of Col. Downes think it about time that Caroline should be recognized, and that Col. Downes would faithfully represent both his county and his district.

THE INFORMER flourishes under the local option law of Anne Arundel county like a green bay tree. The law invites him to assume his rightful and honored place in the organization of society, and gives him an honored status. Patriotism and obedience to law as such passes for little and is not equal to plumb to the depths of the local option iniquities, but fortunately the informer is right along with his deep sea soundings. He has his plummet with which he can reach to any possible infringements of the law—a golden plummet, valued at each trial of its wonderful efficacy up to $150 in any given case. Ten informations, and who could not accomplish that much patriotic work in two or three days? and a nice—a handsome income of $1500—FIFTEEN HUNDRED DOLLARS!—is secured for the law-abiding and patriotic informer.—Anne Arundel Advertiser.

Cro(w)cuses.

The screech of the stately rooster, the bright face of the early spring flower, both help our little story. Do we crow? Yes. Do we bloom? Yes. Crow because we bloom, and bloom because we crow. Oak Hall blooms out with a stock that makes the old counters groan, and the old walls burst, and the older salesmen wonder, and the woolen dealers wink. And we do crow because it has been bought cheaply and made well. And it is to be sold quickly because cheap. Four great varieties in Spring Suit Stock—Men's, Youths', Large Boys', Small Boys', and between these several lines there are over four hundred sorts. They go from $7.50 to $30.00 for Men's, from $7.00 to $25.00 for Youths', $5.00 to $18.00 for Large Boys', from $3.00 to $12.00 for Small Boys'. Variety enough, eh!

A Spring Opening.

We have none. No chance for it. If we would keep our choice things put away until a given time, and then offer them to the public all at once, we should be foiled, for people come in the winter when the frost is in the air, and snow and ice hold the earth in bondage, while our preparations are just forming for the spring campaign, and demand the new goods. It would be ungracious to refuse; and so, perforce, we cannot have a Spring Opening. But we can open with a spring, and as we write, while hardly a bursting bud is to be seen upon the trees, the spring trade is springing on us with a refreshing rush. Times dull, you say? Not to the bold dealer that takes no counsel of fear. And Oak Hall is just such. Already the opening spring tells of abundant sales just ahead.

Early Pinks.

The sort that we cultivate at Oak Hall are well-dressed young men. In pursuit of our great mission of making young men as charming as early pinks, we have arranged a set of sizes denominated "Young Gents" which cover the larger youths' and smaller men's sizes. Special patterns were prepared for this class of stock, and into it we introduce all possible style of cut, material and make. The prices range from $7.50 to $25.00. Elsewhere in our stock are choice materials beautifully made, but nowhere else in Oak Hall is there such a concentration of superiority. The generation of men for whom these goods were made cannot recall the time when there was no Oak Hall in Philadelphia And yet there is no proof of the perennial youth of Oak Hall equal to that which is found in this particular stock.

The Sacred Elephant

Is the sensation of the hour. Have you seen him? No! Do you propose to see him? Yes! Well, then, when you get him off your mind, give us a chance for a quiet word with you about your spring clothes.

They should be bought at Oak Hall. Like us or dislike us, as you may please, you ought to find in our great acres and cords of good clothing just the sorts to suit you in body, brain, and pocket.

The reasons why are few and simple. Oak Hall is the plucky clothing house. While others have been letting "I dare not, wait upon I would" we have been picking up great lines of desirable goods and putting them into the best clothing, which under existing conditions has cost us less than ever. Result, bargains for you.
