Postmaster General worthy of the great responsibility of the office, and of the American people?

We invite attention to the letter.

A letter from an intelligent gentleman, now in Washington, says:

'We have a rumor to-day (15th Feb.) that Mr. Van Buren has encountered a new difficulty.—You are already informed that with a view to counteract the exposures anticipated from the Senate's committee, on the Post Office, another committee composed of the friends of Mr. Van Buren, was raised in the House of Representatives, who held their session during the recess.—You may not be so well informed, but I learn, that up to the 8th January, Mr. Van Buren's friends entertained strong hopes that Judge White could be induced to run as a candidate for the Vice President, on Mr. Van Buren's ticket; but at the celebration on that evening: an incident occurred, which made it manifest that he had taken his stand. Col. Benton was made President, Mr. Polk, of Ten first Vice President, and Judge White was arranged as fourth or fifth Vice. He declined the honor, but attended the dinner, and acted and spoke, as if he understood, felt and resented the trick. But whether by accident or design Mr. Barry was not called upon for a toast—feeling the indignity, he retired from the table. Some one asked the reason, when Mr. Payton, of Tennessee who is a decided friend of Judge White, jumped on the table and said that Mr. Barry had been insulted and that he had left the table because he had not been called upon for a toast. Parties took sides; White's friends called for Barry, who was brought back, and made an eloquent appeal From that day however, Mr. Van Buren had ascertained that Judge White was to be made a candidate, and that Mr Barry would be his friend, and from that day Mr. Van Buren resolved to sacrifice Mr. Barry. Accordingly the majority of the Committee of the House who, until they had acted out the purpose of their appointment, went in advance of the minority in inculpating the department. Hence the secret of the report against the department.—Do you ask why is this?

Mr. Van Buren finds it necessary to break down Judge White by building up another and a stronger interest in Tennessee, Mr. Polk, of Tenn was the pupil of Mr. Grundy, and Mr. Grundy and Mr. Polk are at daggers points with Mr. Bell, the present Speaker.—Polk wishes to supplant Bell, and Van Buren finding that Bell and all the other members from Tennessee, except Johnson, are for White, seeks to strengthen Grundy and Polk by placing one in the Post Office, and the other in the Speaker's Chair In the mean time, Amos Kendal is an aspirant for the Post Office department, and relying upon his influence over the old chief, he has contributed his aid, and stimulated Hawes, one of the committee, until he has become one of the next better in the chase against poor Barry. Amos, aspires to be Van's successor. He is Benton's competitor, and his plan is to keep Barry in office until Congress adjourns, then send Barry to Spain; step into his place, and by availing himself of Barry's retrenchments, make a show of a judicious administration, profit by the payment, of the debts of the department and by dint of management squeeze through the Senate. The best informed, say that the department will have a surplus and be out of debt in less than 18 months. This would indeed be a windfall for Amos. But if what I learn be true, these intrigues are about to recoil. Barry will not resign, and the President will not remove him. The result is an irreconcilable breach between Barry and Van Buren, and a loss of Van's ascendency with the President. If I am well informed, Barry understands the mercenary & treacherous character of Kendall, and you may put it down as sure, that Van Buren's control over that department is at an end.

EASTON GAZETTE

EASTON, (MD.)

Saturday Morning, March 7.

The Trustees of the Maryland Steam Boat Company, it appears, are determined to get a new boat.—We have viewed with pleasure, an elegant model of the one contemplated to be built and called the "Maryland Junior," it is placed at the Store of Thomas H. Dawson and Son, for the inspection of the public.

We have received no mail from Washington, Baltimore or Annapolis for the last seven days.—Congress must have adjourned on Tuesday night last.—Our State Legislature it is said will adjourn the 15th of 20th of this month.

MR. POINDEXTER.—Mr. Smith from the special committee, appointed by the Senate, on the Lawrence affair, to whom the letter of the Hon. George Poindexter was referred reported on Thursday the 27th ult. that the Committee had concluded their labours so far as regards the taking of testimony, but that as the evidence was volumnious and would require much time to copy, and as it was understood that the Senator had refrained from taking his seat until the examination should have closed, he was instructed by the Committee to report that not a shade of suspicion rested on the Hon. George Poindexter, in relation to that charge, and in this report all the members of the Committee concurred. The report was received by a simultaneous burst of applause from the galleries—after which Mr. Poindexter took his seat.

A writer in the Baltimore Morning Chronicle, having examined the question—'When do the functions of the present Congress cease?'—adds—

'From these premises I draw the following deductions: that the constitutional term of service of each Congress is two full and complete years, commencing on the first Monday in December, immediately succeeding each biennial election; and, therefore, that there will have been no expiry of the functions of the members of the House of Representatives of the present, or 23d Congress, untill the first Monday in December next, when those of the members of the 24th Congress commence.—That should an extra session be called in the intervening time, the members of the present Congress could constitutionally meet and fulfil their duties.

'The law limiting the second session of each Congress to the 3d of March, being an act of Congress it is competent for that body to repeal the law prior to the 3d March, if they see fit, and thus elongate the present session."

THE JUDICIARY BILL.—Extract of a letter to the Editor of the Patriot from a Member of Congress, dated

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24, 1835.

I have just learnt that the Committee, to whom the bill for making a new arrangement of the Circuit Courts throughout the United States was committed, have so arranged Maryland as to have Chief Justice MARSHALL assigned to it with Virginia and North Carolina.

It appears to me that this bill will pass—pass the Senate it no doubt will, I think, by a large majority, and thus a triumphant good will come to Maryland by the delay that has taken place.

I send you the probable arrangement.

JOHN S MARTIN,
IRVING SPENCE,

Snow Hill Feb. 23, 1835.

The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Gazette, says)—

"Mons. Serrurier leaves here to-morrow. M. Pegot, First Secretary of Legation, remains as Charge. M. Serrurier takes a Liverpool packet, the brig of war not affording sufficient accommodation for his family. So far from being in disgrace at home, his conduct meets the entire approbation of his Government.—Although originally of opinion that 25 millions was more than was really due so soon as the Treaty was made, he urged its prompt and honorable fulfilment."

From the Washington Telegraph.

If any thing coming from that quarter could surprise us, the publication in the Globe of yesterday relative to the conspiracy to implicate Gov. Poindexter in the attempt to assassinate the President would do so.

The history of this affair, exhibits an outrage on the part of General Jackson, most disreputable to him as a man, and most disgraceful as a magistrate. He first calumniates Gov. Poindexter in a public tavern, by alledging that having bought his wife by the promise of a settlement of twenty thousand dollars, he had forfeited his pledge and paid her in stripes. Upon hearing this Gov. Poindexter impelled by an honest indignation wrote to the Editor who had published the slander, denouncing it and its author in terms, severe it is true, but such as the feelings of an honorable and proud man under the circumstances would dictate.

Gov. Poindexter knew that it would be useless for him to call on the President for personal satisfaction. He knew that the President would neither give him personal satisfaction, or atone to his wounded sensibility by retracting the calumnious imputations.

At the time when Lawrence made the attempt, the President declared that he had been hired by Gov. Poindexter, which coming to the knowledge of that gentleman, he addressed a letter to Gen. Jackson, disclaiming all knowledge of Lawrence, asking if it was true that the President had used the language reported of him. This letter was insultingly returned To these repeated outrages upon his character and feelings, it now appears that the President has been engaged in hunting up affidavits to identify Gov. Poindexter with Lawrence. This, it might be supposed, was the last step; but, no—the President's prostituted press is furnished with copies of these depositions which are published with a libelous assault upon the Senate and its committee, intended to commit, the partisan press in advance, and to prepare the public to condemn Gov. Poindexter unheard, upon this secret, illegal and disreputable proceeding. An outrage which would disgrace the most contemptible pretenders for the bar.

Upon these exparte affidavits, we, for most obvious reasons forbear present comment. The committee of the Senate have the subject before them, and we do not feel at liberty even to do Gov. Poindexter justice by stating what we know on the subject. We will however add, that the assertion of the Globe, that the Editor of this paper called on one of the witnesses, and endeavored to induce him not to promulgate what he has stated in the affidavits, a falsehood, and we are authorized to say, the same as the statement about Mr. Ewing of the Senate.

Why has the Globe introduced the name of the Rev. Mr. Hatch. Has Mr. Hatch been playing a double part? Has he been pretending to the opponents of the administration, that he was opposed to the President, while he was carrying tales to the President to court his favor. Mr Hatch owes it to himself to disbase the public—if he does not, we will do it for him—we forbear to say, what the occasion could justify.

MR. POINDEXTER.

The subjoined are the affidavits referred to in the communication of Mr. Poindexter to the Senate. They are small concerns—too small we should think to occupy the attention of the President of the United States.

THE NEWS FROM FRANCE.

From the extracts given in this day's paper from the foreign journals, and especially the remarks of the French Minister on the introduction of the law to provide for the treaty, it will be seen that there is now the fairest prospect of a speedy and happy adjustment of our difficulties with France. We have perused a private letter, by an arrival a day later than the Sully [which brought the news given in the last New York papers,] which says there was no doubt entertained among the well informed at Paris, but that the law for the indemnity would be passed in the course of four or five days. This letter comes from a source which entitles it to great credit. Mr. Livingston will not, it appears, apply for his passports, but will await the action of the Chambers in relation to the law proposed by the Ministry.

The private letter seen by the Globe, "by an arrival a day later than the Sully," must have come by the French brig of war Dassas, and must of course have been received through the medium of the French Legation The Globe further says:

We believe all the difficulty in the matter has grown out of the intrigues of some one on our own side of the Atlantic, originally opposed to the treaty, who has acted through an unsuspected channel upon influential members in the French Chamber of Deputies. But of this hereafter.

We hope this has no allusion to the French story of Mr. Serrurier's reported agency in defeating the treaty.

The National Intelligencer of yesterday, says in relation to the news from France.

The complexion of the news from France is more and more favorable to the preservation of peaceful relations between that country and this; which as we believe it to be now sincerely the desire of the discreet men of all parties in this country, will, we are persuaded, be universally acceptible to our readers.

The latest date of papers which had reached France from America at the last accounts was the 25th of December. The Report of the Foreign Relations Committee of our Senate was made on the 6th January, and it was definitely acted upon on the 14th of the same month. We scarcely entertain a doubt, that, on the arrival in Paris of authentic accounts of those proceedings, the Bill of Indemnity will be promptly acted upon, and the Treaty carried into full effect.

MILITARY.—The following companies are ordered from Fort Munroe to Fort King, Florida via St Agustine—under the command of Col. Fanning.—Company C. 1st Reg. Art.—Lieuts—Farley, French; Capron and Morris; Company F. 4d.—Captain Mellon—Lt. Smith; Company C. 3.—Captain Thrushton—Lieuts. Maitland and Simpson; Company. I. 3d—Captains Lendrum and Lee—Lieuts. Talcott and Miller.—These companies will sail as soon as transportation can be obtained.

The Petersburg Intelligencer states that the ship Hark! Away, at Norfolk from Liverpool, has on board the celebrated English Horses TRANBY and WHALE, imported by Messrs. Avery & Co. of Greensville. Va. From the high character which these Horses acquired on the turf, they will no doubt attract the attention of those engaged in the improvement of the stock of that noble animal.

THE RACES.—First day's regular Race of the South Carolina Jocky Club, Wednesday 18th Feb. The purse of 1000 dollars was contended for yesterday by Argyle and Bertrand, jr. Both nags had acquired a celebrity which is seldom obtained, and victory was matter of great importance to each One had to establish a reputation already high, & the other to sustain one seldom surpassed on any course. The course was very muddy and heavy, which was much to the disadvantage of the smaller horse, carrying weight. The day was cloudy but without rain. The assemblage was very great, and many ladies were on the stand to witness the great trial of speed & bottom. After the usual preparations, they were brought to the post, the track being assigned to Argyle by lot. The start was tolerably fair but rather in favor of Argyle. After a most animated contest, the heat was awarded to Argyle, beating Bertrand, jr. a length.

The second heat was now to be contended for and each nag came to the post finely cooled down, with the fire and animation of the true mettled racers. They were off at the word, the start decidedly in favor of Argyle. This advantage was soon regained, and the heat throughout was desperately contended for, and on the last quarter Argyle had to receive divers admonitions, that unless he put forth all his MIGHT, all MIGHT be lost. He was not found wanting to the necessities of the occasion and kept his position of a length ahead to the post; thus beating one of the proudest champions of the turf The result of the race was as follows:—Argyle 1 1: Bertrand, jr. 2 2. First heat, 8m. 4s.—Seconds heats, 8m. 8s.

GENTLEMEN'S VADE MECUM, OR THE SPORTING AND DRAMATIC COMPANION.

ON the third of January, 1835, was commenced in Philadelphia, a new periodical, bearing the above comprehensive title. Its contents will be carefully adapted to the wants of that portion of the public who patronize Dramatic Literature, the Turf, Sporting & Fashions. From the growing wealth and increasing population of the United States, and the near assimilation of the national appetite with whatever promotes the rational Recreations of Life, it is presumed that this Journal,—possessing, as the projectors of it will, ample means to diversify its pages, and a determination to render them subservient to the formation of a correct taste in all matters relating to its design,—cannot fail to meet with a liberal and creditable support from an enlightened community in every quarter of the country.—The difficulty of sketching out such a plan as might be fancifully strewed with any of the charms of novelty to ensure it popularity and encouragement, has been not the least embarrassing obstacle which the projectors of this work had to surmount in its inception Feeling confidently assured, however, that its success is certain when its character becomes properly known, they have already incurred considerable expense in forming correspondents over the Union, and have also ordered regular supplies of the best selected English periodicals to assist in procuring materials for its columns.

It is not altogether feasible, when a new publication is contemplated, to present in detail to the public its prospective attractions! It is necessary, nevertheless that its principal features should be drawn out, as it is by them that its merits, if it has any, shall be judged. This is the more readily accomplished, the publishers being satisfied that whatever industry and a watchful zeal can effect in completing the filling up, will be done and that they never will be found deficient or neglectful in the prosecution of this enterprize, and in striving to produce a beneficial and profitable result to themselves and to others.

THE DRAMA—Will form a material portion of the Gentlemen's Vade Mecum. It is intended to publish alternately every week, an entire play and farce—to be selected with a single eye to their merits alone; a preference, however, will be extended, in all cases, to native productions, when they can be obtained. Independent criticisms, carefully excluding all individious comparisons, and recommended by their brevity, will be regularly inserted,—besides Biographical Sketches, Anecdotes, and Bon Mots, of prominent Comedians of the present and past ages, of which a rare and inexhaustible compilation is in store.

THE TURF—A faithful record will be kept of all the Running and Trotting matches in this country and England. Biographies and correct Portraits of celebrated thoroughbred Horses will be published once a month. Every fact relative to the breeding, management, keeping, and the diseases of this invaluable animal, will be particularly selected.

SPORTING—Under this caption, will be enumerated accounts of Shooting Matches, Pedestrian Feats, Gymnastic Exercises, Aquatic Excursions, Fishing, Gaming, &c. with Anecdotes of noted Dogs.

GENTLEMEN'S FASHIONS—A quarterly review will be procured, explanatory of the various improvements and changes which costumes worn in the fashionable circles constantly undergo; by which it will be rendered an easy task for drapers and tailors at a distance, to suit their customers with the most approved colors and modern style of dress, at the earliest possible periods. Providing sufficient encouragement shall be given by this portion of the public, a full length engraving, illustrative of the same, will also be prepared and published.

MISCELLANY—Although the purposes of our sheet may appear to be confined to the four leading subjects which have been stated—we deem it proper to say, that there will be, in addition to these, a considerable space allowed for Miscellaneous matters—such as Tales—Poetry—an Epitome of News—List of Hotels in this city, and Places of Amusement—Statistics—the Grain Market—Agriculture—Prices of Stocks—List of Broken Banks—Counterfeit Note Detector—also, the American Songster, consisting of a great variety of Popular Airs, set to Music—and all other matters, regarding which an interest may be supposed to exist at home or abroad.

This work, then as will be seen by the above explanation of its probable character, is particularly designed as a companion for the patrons of the Turf, the Drama, Sporting, the Fashions, &c. &c. It will prove, also,—as all its publication of facts will be authentic,—a ready Record of Reference for Travelling Gentlemen, and should consequently be kept in every hotel in the United States. It is worthy of notice, that its patrons, in the course of one year, will be furnished with fifty-two popular Plays and Farces—the price of which, separately, at any of our bookstores, would be at least THIRTEEN DOLLARS! Here there is an absolute saving of ten dollars, in the purchase of a well-stored Dramatic Library—(to be had for an unprecedented small sum!)—not taking into consideration the multiplied variety which is to accompany it, without additional charge. Tailors who desire to procure early and correct information of the changes in Dress will find this an invaluable guide.

The GENTLEMEN'S VADE MECUM will be published every Saturday, on fine imperial paper, of the largest class, at three dollars per annum, payable in advance.

By enclosing a five dollar note to the publishers, postage paid, two copies of the paper will be forwarded to any direction ordered, for one year. It is respectfully requested that those who desire to subscribe for this Journal will forward their names immediately—the terms will be strictly adheard to.

Address SMITH & ALEXANDER, Athenian Buildings, Franklin Place Philadelphia. A specimen number may be had on application at the office. Public patronage is respectfully solicited.

Country editors, who insert the above advertisement three or four times will be entitled to an exchange.

NOTICE.

100 DOLLARS REWARD.

Ranaway from the subscriber, living in Caroline county, Md., on Sunday night last, the 14th inst., a negro man who calls himself about 26 years of age, five feet four or five inches high, of dark chesnut colour, bald head occasioned by a burn when a child, scar on one side of his face, and several other marks not recollected,—has a bold look when spoken to and talks fluently. Had on when he ranaway a new suit of kersey, of blue warp and black filling, tow linen shirt, hair cap and coarse shoes. He has no doubt changed his clothing.

The above reward of 100 dollars will be given for the apprehension of the above runaway negro man if taken up out of the State, and confined in Denton or Easton jail, so that I get him again, or a reward of 50 dollars will be given if taken in the State and secured as above.
