TERRIBLE RIOT IN NEW YORK.—A riot was commenced in New York on the night of the 3d inst., but was dispersed by the police, but continued, at intervals, through most of the night, without, however, doing great damage. But on the evening of the Fourth the conflict was renewed with apparent determination to defy the police and every thing esle that could be brought to bere. It appears that the riot originated between two rival parties, calling themselves, "Dead Rabbit Boys" and "Bowery Boys."

We notice in several instances where men evinced the most reckless disposition—one in particular, and said to be a powerful and desperate looking fellow—though at last conquered by a small boy. This fearless fellow, undaunted by the deadly weapons in the hands of his enemies, advanced some thirty feet in front of a barricade, from behind which his "crowd" was fighting, and mounting upon a pile of bricks, stood there coolly stooping and firing bricks at the opposite crowd, and doing them much injury. Not less than twenty shots were fired at him, but every one missed their aim. Some of the bullets passed thro' his clothing. Still undaunted, the foolhardy fellow, despite the warnings of his companions, seemed disposed to maintain his position. A little boy, however, crept stealthily toward the head of the bricks and within a few feet of him, raised and taking deliberate aim, struck him on the head, and felled him senseless to the pavement. A yell of triumph from the one side, and of revenge and defiance from the other, followed this feat. Another, a man about 35 years of age, took a prominent position with musket in hand, when the last time he was taking deliberate aim, he was seen to leap in the air, and fall dead, from a shot.

It is stated that in nearly all these disturbances, the police who have been lately discharged by Mayor Wood, were active participants. The N. York authorities do not appear to have it in their power to suppress and keep under, a riot, as speedily as the Washington authorities—though it may be the former had no Baltimore "Plug Uglies," to shoot down, when the latter thought at the time of election, they had, (but which has since been proven to them to be a mistake.)

WE see some of the old line Whig papers are agitating the resuscitation of that party. Though we cannot see what ground they can have for any sort of success, we may be mistaken—they being able from age and experience to see farther in the future.—But we would suppose that that party would find it very difficult to re-organize and become a permanent and national organization, as it had to disband on account of its being powerless and unable to accomplish its designs. Many of their most prominent members, too, have allied themselves to the modern democracy, and as they were found missing from the old line Whig Convention which assembled in Baltimore last fall, it is proper to suppose they intend to hold fast and hug tighter to their bosoms the principles of (once) their greatest enemies. But there are many who would not be pressed into this party by smooth tongues and repeated entreaties. No doubt these are they who would, of course, like to see their old party revived and in the same condition it was some years back. But in case they fail in their efforts, they will support and carry out the principles of the party they think best adapted to the welfare and maintenance of the country—that of the American.

What do the democrats say in regard to reviving this party? If you want to raise your party vote with us! We will help you raise it—we have not said as hard things about you as some of the leaders of the "Know Nothings," therefore this is the only way to revive your beloved party.—How very ridiculous this must sound to the followers of Henry Clay—whom they vilified to his death in every possible manner. It is very probable if the old Whig party ever again raised they will prefer doing it without the help of so many kind friends.

Telegraphic despatches from St. Louis report that one hundred and fifty United States troops, of Col. Sumner's command, have been masacreed by the Indians in the vicinity of Fort Kearney. Later advices received from Leavenworth state that Gen. Harney discredited the reported battled.

GREAT TRIAL OF REAPERS AND MOWERS.—The trial of Reapers and Mowers, &c., under the auspices of the Maryland Agricultural Society, was held agreeably to public announcement, on the farm of Judge E. F. Chambers, near Chestertown, Kent county, on the 7th and 8th instants. A large concourse of spectators was on the ground, and the gentlemen who acted as judges on the occasion, it was admitted by all disinterested persons present, devoted themselves to the duties assigned them with zeal, and endeavored to render the amplest justice to all. We only have room for the premiums awarded, as follows:

|---|---|
| For the best Reaper and mower combined, Manny's Patent, with Wood's improvement, | $100 |
| For the best Reaper, with self-raker attached, Dorsey's patent, | 75 |
| For the best Reaper, Chas. L. Allen's of New York, | 50 |
| For the best Mower, Manning's patent with Johnson's improvement, | 50 |
| For the best implements of gleaning wheat fields and raking hay, by R. Sinclair & Co. | 29 |
| To Ketchum's combined Reaper and Mower, a discretionary premium, | 50 |
| And to Obed Hussey, for his 10 feet Reaper, a discretionary premium, | 50 |

TREASURE EXCITEMENT.—The Del. Reporter says that a large quantity of Spanish silver coin has been found under and about the wreck of a vessel on Phœnix Island, Maryland, just below the south eastern part of Deleware. The wreck is said to be that of a Dutch Galleot which was lost about fifty years since, having on board one million of dollars in silver. The excitement among the natives is said to be great.—Crops are left untilled, shops and stores are closed, and thousands of persons are on the beech raking for silver. Some rake up as much as twenty dollars a day, others not more than two or three dollars. The silver is already in circulation in Sussex county.

DEATH OF EX-GOVERNOR MARCY.—The Hon. W. L. Marcy of New York, as most of our readers, we have no doubt, are aware before this, is numbered among the dead. He died at Balston, N. Y., on Saturday, where he was sojourning a week or two previous to a voyage he designed making to Europe. He appeared to be in full health in the morning, but was found a corpse in the evening—having died in his room alone.

Few men, perhaps, have occupied so large a space in the public age as Mr. Marcy and been more faithful. He was in the 71st year of his age.

MILLER LODGE, No. 18, I. O. O. F., Easton, on Tuesday night last, elected the following officers: W. H. Collins, N. G; Jno. Mason, V. G.; S Harper, F. S.; C. H. Stewart, R. S., and L. Dodson, A. W. Fountain, Representatives to Grand Lodge.

HARVEST.—Our farmers are now hard at work harvesting their wheat. In consequence of the late rains a great many were prevented from cutting when first ripening, they therefore can lose no time in securing their grain.

A NEW PARTY.—The movement for a new southern party has been initiated in Louisiana, by a public meeting, held in the parish of Plaquemine. The cognomen assumed by the party is "Constitunal." The address adopted disclaims sectionalism.

THE Annapolis Republican says that Ex-Gov. P. F. Thomas, late Collector of the Port of Baltimore, and Nathaniel Cox, Esq., the present Secretary of State, intend locating in St. Louis, Mo., about 1st proxomo, as partners in the practice of law.

AMERICAN MESSENGER.—We have received the July No. of this very interesting paper, accompanied by "The Child's Paper," a neatly printed and very instructive little monthly—for children—by the American Colonization Society.

HENRY R. REYNOLDS.—This gentleman has been nominated as the American candidate for Commissioner of Public Works, of the 3d District—composed of Baltimore city.

MAYOR OF BALTIMORE.—Mayor Swann certainly must be doing the right thing in Baltimore toward having efficient police and keeping them in the right sort of order. This fact will not be denied, we presume, by any well thinking man. We have the following from the Baltimore Argus, (in reference to the 4th) one of Mr. Swann's most violent political opponents:

"Peace and good order were preserved throughout the city, to an unexpected and remarkable degree. We heard of no serious disturbances in any quarter, though there were several cases of pugilistic rencountres and a few instances where murderous weapons were brought into requisition. In each of these the interference of the police was prompt and efficient, and the disorderly parties was speedily put out of harm's way, by being locked in the station house."

DEER HUNTING.—A young man went out hunting for deer in the woods near Lanark, C. W., recently, and, as an experiment, he clothed himself in a deer-skin, and took a stand where those animals were known to pass quite often. While thus intent upon securing some game, another hunter came near making game of him; for, happening to see what he supposed to be a fine deer through the thickets, the newcomer took deliberate aim at it and fired.—Fortunately the ball missed the counterfeit deer, but it succeeded in "frightening him out of his skin."

New York Correspondence.

NEW YORK, July 3, 1857.

Very much water has been shed upon us this week, for our sins doubtless, since no philosopher has been able to discover blessings in such July weather, and the raw north easters or westers of the last few days have not blown any body any good. Wait a bit though; they have driven away and drowned whole nations of musquitos; let us give you the devil his due. To-day we have fires in the ferry boats and all public places. the morning is cold and rainy, but the sky is beginning to smooth out its wrinkled brow, as though it might be induced to smile to-morrow. If it don't, the fun of legions of small boys will be destroyed and a secret satisfaction afforded to many quiet people who would otherwise follow their patriotic spirit, on comfortless crowded excursions, where they are expected to manifest symptoms of unusual enjoyment.—The country will, at any rate, be too wet for sober people to patronize for several days to come. Preparations have been made here for fireworks on a large scale; their success is a matter of doubt.

Last night the friends of the Metropolitan Police Bill celebrated its triumph with great rejoicings, and both joyful and disappointed people made a night of it in the lager bier saloons. Politicians are a very thirsty genius.

The marked feature of the week has been the commencement of exercises of a number of literary institutions in this city, where both male and female ideas are taught how to shoot. Columbia College, N. Y. University, the N. Y. Naval School, the Pacher and Polytechnic Institute in Brooklyn and Rutger's Institute, N. Y. city, have discharged altogether between two and three hundred graduates, warranted to be educated on the modern plan with all the latest improvements and thoroughly qualified to take a position in the hindmost rank of active life. Some of the city paper's reports of these college operatives are about as absurd as one might suppose such things would be, when cooked up by a half-soaked Irish reporter, whose ideas of the structure of the English language were derived entirely from practical exercise in "composition," at the type case. One of these worthies reported the other day that a certain ex-judge was present some where in an "ex-officio" character, evidently understanding the term as appropriate to an unplumed dignity or a discorded politician. The "subs" on some of the leading papers of the city are a most disgracefully ignorant and heathen set. They are a most audacious set too, and can "do" anything, from a profound financial article to a dissutation on the theological merit of one of Dr. Cheever's sermons. If they make any egregious bulls they are set down as typographical errors.

Trade is of course quiet, as nobody wants to be immersed in the cares of this life on the very eve of our great anniversary.—Cotton and wool are firmer than they have been and consequently manufactured goods are "stiffer." The new tariff has released a vast quantity of goods from bonds. One silk importer paid the other day, over $40,000 duty on goods, silks removed from warehouse at one time.

AMERICAN NATIONAL EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.—At the late session of the National Council of the American party the following resolution was adopted:

That the President of this Council be authorized to select a National Central Committe composed of thirteen members, of whom five shall constitute a quorum, who shall select a chairman and correspond with the authorized representatives of the American party throughout the United States and call together this National Council at such time and place as they may think proper.

In accordance with this resolution, the President of the National Council has appointed the following Executive Committee:

| | |
|---|---|
| Anthony Kennedy, Md. | James W. Barker, N. Y |
| Jocob Broom, Pa. | James Bishop, N. J. |
| A. B. Ely, Mass. | Kenneth Raynor, N. C. |
| Wm. R. Smith, Ala. | F. K. Zollikoffer, Tenn. |
| Vespa'n Ellis, Wash'n: | E. Brooks, N. Y. |
| A. Scott Harrison, Ohio. | Henry W. Davis, Md. |
| J. H. H. Stewart, Va. | |

The chairman of this committee will be announced as soon as the choice of the members of the committee shall have been ascertained by the Corresponding Secretary.

CLAY MONUMENT.—The corner stone of the Clay monument was laid at Lexington, Ky., on Saturday last, with appropriate ceremonies. On top of the foundation is to be erected a base forty feet square, and thirty five feet high. In the South corner of this base is to be built a vault, in which will be despoited the mortal remains of the great statisman and patriot.

HENRY CLAY.

In the North East corner of the base there is to be built another vault, where the Clay family will be deposited. On the West of the base is to be built an elegant room, where will be deposited the presents and testimonials given to Mr. Clay by citizens of his own and other countries. On the top of this base a column will rise ninety feet high, surmounted by a Corinthian capitol. The column will be six feet ten inches at base, and fiive feet ten inches at top. On the top of this Corinthian capitol there will stand a statue of the lamented Sage of Ashland. The corner stone was laid by T. N. Wise, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Kentucky. The Rev. R. J. Breckinridge was the orator of the day.

MARIETTA, Ohio, July 2.—The Express train which left this place yesterday morning at 11o'clock for Cincinnati, when passing over tressle work about eleven miles from this place was thrown from the track by some temporary derangement of the wheels. One car fell entirely off and went down nearly 50 feet. When the car reached the ground it was much broken and the roof was underneath. There were 24 persons in the car at the time of its fall, of whom 8 only were instantly killed and one has since died. Three persons were so seriously injured that they are not expected to survive, while the remaining passengers are more or less injured, the most of them however very slightly.

P. S.—Two or three have since died from their wounds.

From the Balt. Clipper of Monday.

WILFUL AND DELIBERATE MURDER.—About three o'clock on Saturday afternoon a man named Robert Frazier, in company with another named Pressley, went to the provision store and liquor shop of Cornelius Danehardt, on the corner of Fremont and Dover streets, and asked for liquor. Danehardt refused to give him the liquor, saying that he owed him twenty-seven cents, and that he would give him no more until that amount was paid. Frazier replied that he was a liar—that he owed him no such sum, whereupon a German named Frederick Biddiker, who was standing by, picked up a butcher knife from one of the blocks and approached Frazier, saying that he should not use such language towards the landlord. This led to a quarrel between Biddiker and Frazier, during which the former plunged the knife into Frazier's right side, entering between the second and third ribs, and penetrating his liver to the depth of five inches. Frazier walked to the pavement, and, as he left the door remarked that a Dutchman had stabbed him, whereupon Biddiker rejoined, yes, and if you come back I'll stab you again. Frazier died in about thirty minutes after receiving the wound.—Biddicker was arrested and committed for court by Justice Webb. He did not deny the act. Cornelius Danehardt, keeper of the house, after the commission of the deed, hid himself in the upper part of his house. He was arrested and committed to jail as an accessory.

A MAN SHOT.—On Saturday a German named Adam Cruse, residing in Argyle alley, was shot while in the neighborhood of Bond street, by a man named George Stine alias Rudy It appears that Cruse held the position of paymaster to a party of Stevedors employed upon Corner's wharf—notice was given them to meet at the cigar store of Martin Lingard, corner of Bond and Allice Ann streets, to receive their wages—after having met, and some were paid off, Cruse went to the door, for the purpose of calling one of the men, when he discovered a man with a musket in his hands, preparing to shoot He immediately retreated to a back room, and in the act of closing the door, the musket was fired, two balls took effect upon his body, just below the right breast, inflicting a painful wound. The man is doing very well. The officers are on the alert to effect the arrest of Rudy.

CHILD ACCIDENTALLY KILLED.—William Clampit, a youth about seventeen years of age was arrested on Saturday afternoon by Lieutenant Gruver, charged with killing a child three years old, named Charls Fisher, son of William Fisher, tobacconist. It appears that about six o'clock in the evening, young Clampitt, somewhat in liquor, stationed himself on Pearl street, near Mulbery, and began firing at dogs in the street, when unfortunately, he missed his mark and shot the child in the right side of the head, the ball clipping off the upper portion of its ear and penetraiting to the brain, causing death in a few minutes afterwards. The child being on a visit to its grandmother, was sitting on the door step at the time, and when it fell over, its mother thought it was playing until she saw the blood trickling down its head. Clampitt was held to bail in the sum of $1,000 for his appearance at a further examination.

CHILD SHOT.—A German, in passing through Clay street on Saturday, pulled out a pistol for the purpose of shooting a dog that was barking at him; but, in taking aim, missed the dog and the ball passed through the fleshy part of a German child, standing in its parrants' doorway opposite. Fortunately the injury is not such as to jeopardise life, and consequently the reckless German is relieved of a term of service in the penitentiary. He was arrested and taken to the Middle station house, where he gave his name as Adolph Shick. Justice Mearis committed him to jail for court The child injured is named Hinternash.

BUCHANAN AND WALKER.

The Baltimore Democrats, like their brethren in Georgia, endorse Buchanan, the President, but give Walker, his Kansas Governor, the cold shoulder. At their City Convention, held on Thursday evening last, two resolutions were submitted, one congratulating the party upon the election of Mr. Buchanan, which was carried, and the other approving the appointment of Walker as Gov. of Kansas, which was lost by a vote of 21 nays to 15 ayes. It was opposed upon the ground that it would injure the mercantile interests of Baltimore in the South, and on the other hand advocated as necessary to sustain the President and his Cabinet.

A distinction may be drawn between the President and the new Kansas Governor, in the hope of still further sanding the eyes of a too credulous South, but it is manifestly a distinction without a difference. There is not a sentiment of the least importance contained in Robert J. Walker's Inaugural Address to the people of Kansas, which was not previously submitted to the President and his Cabinet and by them approved. The idea that the Administration would select a man of Walker's abilities, for a position upon which all eyes have been fixed with intense anxiety for several years, without acquainting itself with his views and opinions upon the vexed question which has so fearfully agitated the country, is simply ridiculous. "Ion," the Baltimore Sun's correspondent, "declares that Governor WALKER'S Address shows distinctly that his course is in conformity with instructions and meets with the approbation of the Executive, and even the Washington Union "supports Walker's position as expressive of the views of the President."

This is a pretty state of affairs. The Southern Democracy charge WALKER with an attempt to make Kansas a Free State, but exonerate the President from blame for the sake of the spoils, while the Washington Union and the Free State Democracy everywhere maintain, and correctly so too, that the one is acting in strict conformity to the instructions of the other.

Thus the Union has been rocked from its centre to its circumference by the wild billows of sectional strife, merely to make Kansas, as all the probabilities now are, a free State, or just what it was as a Territory before the Missouri Compromise Act was repealed. Of this we do not so much complain, as we do of the conduct of those arrant hypocrites of the Democratic party in Maryland and other Southern States, who denounced us and others opposed to the removal of the Missouri restriction, and the re-opening of the slavery question, as enemies of Southern rights. As was foretold four years ago, the South will gain nothing, will not add one foot of slave territory to the country, by that mischievous act. By accepting the squatter sovereignty and alien suffrage doctrines, it has suffered itself to be struck down in the house of its friends. and there is now no alternative left it but an abject submission to the rule of BUCHANAN, WALKER and FREE KANSAS.

SPEECH OF JEHU B. ASKEW, ESQ.—Mr. Askew of Baltimore city, addressed an American meeting at Frederick, Md., on Wednesday night week. The Herald says:

Mr. A. took occasion during his address to vindicate his native city, Baltimore, from the foul aspersions that have been cast upon its citizens by Locofoco papers throughout the State, and declared as a fact that cannot be controverted that Baltimore has not, within his recollection, enjoyed such uniform quiet and peace as it is doing under the management of Mayor Swann. He also spoke of the falling off of trade in Baltimore the past season, which has been so much harped upon and gloated over by the Locofoco press, geneaally, throughout the State. He stated as one reason for it, (and the truth of that reason should cause Locofocos to hide their heads for shame) that their own city papers of the Locofoco color, and which are supported by the very men whom they are seeking to injure, the merchants, have proclaimed to the world that Baltimore is a nest of cut-throats and murderers, and that it is unsafe for strangers to visit her."

ST. JOHNS, N. F., July 7.

Loss of Ship W. M. Rogers.—The ship W. M. Rogers, (of Bath) foundered at sea on 21st June. The Captain, with 1st and 2d officers and 6 seamen, went down with her. Third mate and 12 seamen arrived here this morning in a British vessel which took them from a life boat.

Advices received from Madrid announce the settlement of the Mexican difficulty on the 10th ult. After the ratification of the treaty, M. Cafragna will remain as the Mexican minister. The greater part of the troops sent to the Gulf of Mexico are to be kept in Cuba to strengthen the garrison.
