THE FOURTH IN EASTON.—Monday last, the fifth of July, was observed in Easton instead of the Fourth. Everything was quiet, a majority of the citizens having left town on various kinds of pleasure excursions. As for ourself, through the kindness of a friend, who gave us a seat, we wended our way to the springs, so extensively known as "Lloyd's Springs," where we spent an hour or so very pleasantly.—On our arrival we found a party of young ladies and gentlemen—not too large nor too small—but just the size to make everything pass off agreeably, who had assembled there in the earlier part of the day.—Nor could they have selected a more lovely spot for their amusements, out of the way of the dust and entirely overshadowed by the beach and elm from the rays of the parching sun. Nothing is more calculated to brighten the eye and give a healthful glow to the cheek of the youth, and to buoy up the spirits of the older, than such recreation occasionally.

At night there was a public debate in the Town Hall, by members of the Young Men's Christian Association. The question for debate was, "whether or not the English government was justifiable in banishing Napoleon Bonaparte to the Island of St. Hellena."

The affirmative was taken by M. Spencer and Thos. K. Robson, Esqrs., and the negative by W. H. D. Harper, Esq. There was intended to be two on a side, but the indisposition of the family of L. Dodson, Esq., who was Mr. Harper's colleague prevented him from attending. The debate lasted until a late hour in the night, and was carried by the negative.

THE PENINSULA NEWS AND JNO. D. LONG.—We see by the last number of the News, published in Milford, Del., that among other acts which the crazed brain of its editor has prompted him to, is the publishing to a considerable extent and urging upon its readers its importance and interest, the miserable, insignificant work of that hypocrit and "spunger," Jno. D. Long. Long during his sojourn in this county, was considered to be considerably "cracked" in the upper story; that, with delicate health and poverty gaining the sympathy of the people, gave him a comfortable support from the public's daily earnings, while at that very time he was secretly stabbing those benevolents to the very heart. The very individuals he makes mention of in his book as being cruel, hard-hearted, and brutish, are those who, or many of them, no doubt, have reared their slaves to a much higher degree of honor than Mr. Long ever did, or ever can attain to, as at the very time he was writing this bunch of misrepresentation and trash, he was living off of these slave holders' meat and bread.

It is not his opinions in regard to slavery that the people so censure him for, as he has a right to enjoy any opinion he sees fit, provided he does not exercise it to the injury of others—but it is the back-biting, misrepresenting, deceitful, ungrateful disposition he has evinced, showing himself unworthy of being trusted by any community. Moreover, it is said the very people for whom he pretends to have so much sympathy, he has defrauded—having collected money for them for some especial purpose, and never paying it over to them.

We think that the News had as well stop trying to give the book credit and strength, for it is looked upon about in the same light as the book—its race of short duration.

THE GREAT RACES.—Flora Temple and Lancet, the two noted trotters have twice tried their speed together. Flora proving the victor both times. The race of the 13th inst. was won in the following time by Flora—2.30, 2.29, 2.33. Purse, $1200. The second race on the Central Course on Tuesday last resulted as before. Flora making the time in, first heat 2.35¼ second 2.31¼, third 2.32. Purse $1200.

The Daily Exchange says there is a probability of another contest between these horses at a heavy figure, the owner of Lancet having at once avowed his willingness to again back him, and to the tune of $5,000; which offer, it is not probable, after the result of these two races, Mr. Wm. McDonald, the owner of Flora, or her friends, will decline.

THANKS.—Mr. Samuel A. Lowe, Clerk of Pettis County, Missouri, will please accept our thanks for a copy of "The Pettis County Independent."

A ROW.—A party of rowdies from Washington City, says the Marlborough Gazette, visited Bladensburg on Monday last, and violated the peace, dignity and welfare of its citizens by attacking the Constable and inflicting sundry wounds upon him and his assistants. They belong to a party who call themselves "Rams." Two of the ringleaders were captured and taken before Justices Clements and Wright, and held to bail—one, however, escaped from the Vigilance Committee who had them in captivity, and the other having been held for 6 or 8 hours, was discharged on evincing signs of contrition and sorrow. The burgh was in a state of great excitement during the day—but after the escape and reprieve of the captives, quiet reigned in Warsaw. Our neighbors should build a Caliboose or Lock Up house, and thus be able to strike terror to evil doers.

Also in and near Baltimore, on the same day, considerable was done to mar the peace and enjoyment of the day. Some two or three were killed and others wounded.

NEGRO STAMPEDE.—On Saturday night the 12th of June, says the Boonsboro' Odd Fellow, a gang of some nine or twelve negroes ran off from their owners residing in Loudon county, Va., and passed along the mountain, near that place, on their way to Pennsylvania. On Monday evening one of them was arrestod in Boonsboro. On the same night, the gang passed near Smithburg, and some of the citizens of that place succeeded in capturing three.—They however did not do it without considerable fighting, in which the negroes got the worse of the battle. The conflict was quite terrific. No less than eighteen shots were fired. One of the negroes was shot through the lungs, and it is feared cannot recover. Subsequently two more of the gang were taken.

THE RUMORED MASSACRE IN OREGON.—We are glad to see that there is some ground for discrediting the rumor of the massacre of Col. Steptoe's command in Oregon, and among the officers said to be killed was Capt. Chas. S. Winder, of this county. The official news received at Washington in regard to it says nothing about any such massacre; but that Captain Swords, quartermaster at San Francisco, writes that he had received information of the reported reverses of the troops, and states that he had been requested to hurry forward reinforcements and supplies. The Oregon steamer arrived at San Francisco only a few hours before the sailing of the Panama steamer. Gen. Clarke sends nothing to the Department, but his adjutant, Capt. McCall, writes that the rumors of disaster are unfounded.

THE PRINTER.—This is the title of an imperial quarto of twenty pages, by Messrs. Henry and Huntington, New York.—The "Printer" is handsomely gotten up, and will be of great advantage to the printing "craft," It gives information to the uninformed on all the various branches of and articles connected with the printing business, and other matter of vast information.

The Secretary of the Navy has instructed the bureau of constuction to prepare drawings and plans for building without unnecessary delay the eight vessels of war recently authorized by Congress.

Two will probably be constructed at the Philadelphia Navy Yard and one at each of the other yards, with the exception of that at Washington. It is said that the steamer for the China sea will be built at the California Navy Yard.

ROW IN CHESTERTOWN.—We understand from a private source, that there was a general row in Chestertown on Monday, growing out of the recent taring and feathering of a man in Kent county by the name of Bowers, for tampering with slaves. It appears that a large portion of that community censure the perpetrators of the act as having done it without sufficient grounds, and the difficulty was between the Bowers and anti-Bowers parties.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE AT PORTSMOUTH, VA.—On Friday morning, about one o'clock, a fire broke out at Portsmouth, Va., in Oxford Hall, which was entirely consumed, together with an adjoining building owned by Mrs. Portlock and J. B. Newman, and each occupied by a number of persons as stores, &c. The Norfolk Day Book estimates the loss at $33,200.

FROM MILFORD.—"Leveller," our Milford correspondent, will please excuse us for not giving his letter a place in our columns last week, our columns being very much crowded with advertisements. It will be found in to-day's paper. A continuance of his favors will be thankfully received.

THE DRY AND HOT WEATHER.—We see from our exchanges from all directions that both man and beast are frequently stricken down by the excessive heat of the sun.—Vegetation still continues to dry up in this section—not having had a shower for some time. We have been blessed for the last few days, however, with pleasant weather.

REMARKABLE COW.—The Messrs. Hamilton, of Sweet Air, Baltimore county, have a cow of Devon and Durham stock, which gave in one week (June 17th to 24th) 363 pounds of milk, and under every disadvantange, as regards butter making, made 13¼ pounds of butter. This can scarcely be beaten in the State.

MELANCHOLY OCCURRENCE.—Our Rowlandsville correspondent, in a letter received, says the Cecil Whig, gives us the following information:

"A son of Alexander Ewing, who lives near Mt. Pleasant, became overheated in the harvest field and was thrown into a state of delerium. In this condition he went to the house of John Brown, Jr., a near neighbor, where his actions and appearance so frightened Mrs. Brown, that she fell into violent convulsions, which caused her death the next day.

THE Annapolis Gazette says complaints have been made throughout the State from persons entitled to the laws, of not receiving them. As the editor of the Gazette was the State printer he desires the papers throughout the State to say the delay is no fault of his. That the laws had been handed to the Librarian in April. We see by the Frederick Examiner that the delay has been caused by the tearing to-pieces of the old Library room and the inconvenience of the new one, but the Laws are now ready for distribution.

A STORM of rain and hail, accompanied by high wind, says the Times, passed over Centreville on Wednesday night last. A large barn on the farm of Mr. Wm. Emory, Jr., in Spaniard's Neck, near that place, was blown down, together with some outhouses. Loss about $2500. A large two story building for storing hay on Mr. Daniel Newnam's Chesterfield farm was also demolished.

CHANGED HANDS.—We see by the last Cambridge Eagle, that it has changed hands, Mr. Ruben A. Tall having sold the establishment to Geo. W. Jefferson, Esq. It will be continued in the cause of the American party.

REV. W. ROBY, President of the Maryland Annual Conference, Providence permitting, will preach at the M. P. Church at St. Michaels on Sunday (to-morrow morning,) at Easton at night.

THE American Farmer, for July, comes to us from Mr. Worthington, who has recently assumed its editorial management. It appears in a new and considerably improved dress.

STEAMER MARYLAND.—This old and well known steamer, lately in command of Captain Wm. C. Smith, left Norfolk on Thursday week for New York, where she is to be sold.

An antidote to strychnine is said to be milk. The Baltimore American states that the life of a Newfoundland dog was saved by pouring milk down his throat after he had been poisoned.

The Cincinnati Times nominates the following ticket: For President, Hon. John J. Crittenden, of Kentucky; for Vice President, Hon. Wm. Montgomery, of Pensylvania.

WE take the following items from the Worcester Shield of Saturday:

A NEGRO TURNING WHITE.—A correspondent at New Town, writes as follows:—"We have living in this place a negro Woman aged about fifty years, named Hannah Smith, who presents the rare phenomena of a negro turning white. This change has been produced by the absorption of the pigmontum nigram, or coloring matter of the skin. Her body, arms, legs and breast are entirely white, with the exception of some spots, varying in size from a dime to a half dime, dispersed over her body and limbs; her face and neck are not so white as the rest of her person, but there are large spots that are quite so, while others are of the natural dark color, which gives her a mottled appearance. She says that when she was "not half grown," she discovered a small white spot on her breast, from thence it gradually spread. At first it progressed slow, but for the last few years it has gone on rapidly, until she is in the condition described above. Her general health has been very good. This is a very rare and interesting case, and shows that if the "Leopard cannot change his spots," the "Ethiopian" does sometimes have his skin changed for him. Should any one doubt the correctness of the above, let them come and see.

MAIL ROBBERY. The mail between Snow Hill and Berlin was robbed on Saturday night last. At New Ark, between the above places, the mail was overhauled and changed, and the postmaster states, we understand, that the mail was in bad condition. At Poplar town, a small village between New Ark and Berlin, a bundle of letters mailed at Horn Town, were found in a well of water by the roadside on Sunday morning.—The driver was arrested and examined before a Justice of the peace, and being unable to give any account of the letters, was committed to the jail of this place, where he awaits the action of the United States authorities. As yet every thing is in a mystery.

AN OCEAN TRIP IN A BALLOON.—J. Steiner of Harrisburg, Pa., proposes to cross the Atlantic in a balloon, 100 feet in diameter. He says in a letter to the Telegraph:

I am satisfied in my own mind that with such apparatus I could cross the Atlantic in 75 hours, and the whole cost would not be more than $20,000 The balloon, net work and value would weigh about 20,000 pounds and the boat and rigging 3 tons and a half—this will leave about 8 tons ascending power, for provisions, passengers and ballast.—It would require 3 good ocean navigators, and one astronomer, besides myself. I would suggest New York as the starting point, and am certain that I would strike within 200 miles of any given distance in Europe. I would suggest May as the time for making the experiment, and would make the attempt in 1859 if I could get the government or others to assist me.

An eagle was lately captured in Birmingham, Mich., with a steel trap attached to his leg. From some circumstances, it is supposed that it had carried that jewell some three years.

Crime.

MOB LAW IN MISSOURI.

A correspondent of the St. Louis Republican, writing from St. Joseph, Mo., under date of June 28, and after stating that a constable named Timmons had been murdered by a party of ruffians, says:

Citizens collected and arrested Kessler and Milligan. Linn made his escape.—There was great excitement. Hundreds of persons gathered and a vote was taken whether they should hang them on the spot. It was lost by only three or four majority. It was then resolved that they should be tried in one month, in Gentry county, and that if they applied for a change of venue, or a continuance, they should be summarily executed.

Judge Norton was sent for and called a court last Thursday. He ordered the Sheriff to summon twenty-five select and reliable men to guard the prisoners against violence. A grand jury was empannelled, and a true bill found for murder in the first degree. The prisoners were arraigned on Friday morning, when they plead 'not guilty.' Their counsel requested until one o'clock to determine upon their course. At that hour they asked for a continuance in Kessler's case; and having shown sufficient cause, it was granted. The State then continued the case of Milligan.

When the court adjourned six or seven hundred persons left the court house precipitately, when some twenty or thirty who remained, rushed upon the prisoner, Kessler, and tore him from the hands of the Sheriff. The Sheriff's posse, with the exception of three or four, deserted him.—Col. John Scott went to his assistance, and had almost secured Kessler from further violence, when the suddenly augmented mob overpowered him and bore Kessler away amid the screams and entreaties of his wife and three children. He was taken to the edge of a body of woods only one hundred and fifty yards from the court house, and in full view of the town, and a rope was placed around his neck. A preacher then exhorted and prayed, and Kessler prayed. A lawyer was sent for to write his will. He then asked permission to see his wife and children and bid them adieu. The handkerchief which had been tied ovar his face, was removed for that last, sacred purpose, when he was told by an old man that he had given no such opportunity to Timmons.

Mr. Albin and Mr. Mothershead then made earnest addresses to the crowd in favor of letting the law take its course, when the same old man arose and remarked—"He that sheddeth man's blood, by man shall his blood be shed." He was then placed under the limb over which the rope was thrown, one end of which, tied by a hangman's knot, had been all the while around his neck. The leader gave orders for him to be drawn up. Three men made an effort, but could not draw him from the ground. The leader ordered more men to take hold. They did so, and, with the first draw, raised him eighteen inches; and with the second, about three feet, when the rope broke It appeared, upon examination, to have been cut half in two. He was again placed upon his feet, the rope was tied, orders were given to draw, the leader took hold of the unfortunate man and lifted him up several feet, when, in the presence of ten or fifteen hundred people, many of whom were women, and his soul was launched into eternity, and his body was left hanging for an hour.

The poor victim exhibited great courage throughout. He asked his counsel to apply for a continuance, because he would rather be hung by the mob than go into a trial unprepared, and have a verdict recorded against him, which would dishonor his wife and children.

Jim Milligan was permitted to live for the present, as the State continued his case. He was suspected of having shot the Sheriff some time ago, and, many persons say his execution would have been more excusable than that of Kessler.

The hanging of Kessler was a terrible murder. He declared to the last that he was not guilty. He said he had been ordered by the constable pro tem to take that place by his gun, and to stop Timmons; that he hailed Timmons, when Timmons drew his gun upon him and was about to fire, when he, being ready, shot first; and that the killing was in execution of duty and in self-defence.

Kessler had stood high as a citizen in Gentry; but Timmons was very popular, and as Gentry has been considerably infested with outlaws and murderers, and the people are determined to put a stop to such things in a summary way if possible.

HORRID TRAGEDY IN NORTH CAROLINA—Four Persons Beheaded by a Madman—The Wilmington (N. C.) Journal, of Wednesday, says:

"A most appalling tragedy was enacted in Columbus county, in this State, just after daylight on the morning of yesterday; the 29th ult., resulting in the death of four persons. The account, as it has reached us, is, that at the time already stated, Joshua Rouse killed his father, his wife, and two of his own small children, cutting off their heads with an axe. His eldest son ran over to the residence of Isaac H. Powell, Esq., and told Mr. P. what had happened, who got W. G. Smith, Esq., and they went on toward's Rouse's. On their way they met Rouse in pursuit of his son with an axe. He said he wanted to kill him. On meeting Messrs. Powell and Smith, he dropped the axe and held out his hand, when they arrested him. He is now in jail.

"There is every reason to believe that he was insane at the time when he committed the terrible deed for which he has been arrested. The occurrence took place some five miles from Whiteville, in the vicinity of the White Marsh. The little boy who escaped, stated, we believe, that Rouse killed the old man out in the yard with a stick and then chopped off his head. He took the old man's knife, and with that he killed his own wife, and cut off her head. The children he killed with the axe and chopped off their heads. At Whiteville, when being carried to jail, Rouse said he killed his wife because she had tried to cut his throat two years ago, and his father because he whipped him severely when a boy. He had been in the insane asylum for eighteen months preceding the affair, with the exception of the last three or four weeks. We hardly see how or why he was set loose."

A DREADFUL MURDER.

A most horrid tragedy was enacted on Friday of last week, near the dividing line between the District of Columbia and Montgomery county, but upon Maryland soil. An Irishman by the name of WM. DUGEN, engaged upon the Water Works, became deeply enamoured, some time ago of an Irish girl whose name was MARY SHEHEY, living at the time with her father and mother in a shanty upon the line of the aqueduct. Miss Shehey did not favor the advances of Dugen, who is rather rough and unseemingly to look upon, while she was remarkable for her beauty. This disappointment so affected Dugen that he gave himself up to hard drinking, and became dangerous and intractable, attacking persons without cause and threatening to kill somebody.

Last Friday morning his evil passions having completely mastered him, he made his way into the chamber where Miss Shehey was sleeping, and murdered her by cutting her throat and stabbing her to the heart.

His fellow workmen were so enraged that they were about to hang him upon the nearest tree, and were only dissuaded from their purpose by the officers of the law who immediately arrested him and had him lodged in the District jail to await we suppose, the requisition of the Maryland authorities.

Among the many murders which have swelled the record of crime, in this country for the last few years, this appears to us the most fiendish. To destroy a pure and innocent girl—in her sleeping helplessness—appealing for mercy by her beauty, seems an act worthy only of a demon from the bottomless pit—especially so when we reflect that the deed was done from the suggestions of the basest passions of degraded humanity.

The tide of crime is swelling and rolling on with fearful force and power—it is flowing in upon us from the festering stews of every nation upon earth! May God in his mercy build up break waters to arrest it ere it overwhelms us entirely! A fearful rule indeed is that of the "better citizens" becoming.—Rochester Journal.

Removal of the Remains of President Monroe to Virginia.

NEW YORK, July 3.—The remains of President Monroe were to-day escorted by the Seventh Regiment to the steamer Jamestown, and formally delivered them about noon to the Virginia committee. On the arrival of the remains at the steamer, John Cochrane formally delivered the remains to the Virginia committee in an eloquent speech, to which O Jennings Wise made a felicitous response, tendering the sincere and earnest gratitude of the people of Virginia for the honor by New York to to her distinguished son.

In conclusion he alluded to the long delay of Virginia to reclaim the remains of her distinguished son, attributing it to partizian strife since the time of his decease. It had been thought best to wait until all political animosities had been forgotten.

Newspaper Change.

PITTSBURG, July 8.—The "Daily Union" hitherto a Democratic paper of this city, has been purchased by J. B. Kennedy, and will be hereafter an independent anti-tax morning penny paper, and is to be called "The Press." The Pittsburg Post is now the only Democratic paper published in Western Pennsylvania.

Reported Resignation of Governor Denver of Kansas.

ST. LOUIS, July 1.—A despatch from Leavenworth dated the 20th ult., received by U. S. Express to Booneville, says that there is a well grounded report in circulation to the effect that Governor Denver intended vacating the Gubernatorial chair soon after the election in August next.—The reasons which have prompted this step are not stated.

Illness of Col Kane.

PHILADELPHIA, July 3.—Col Kane, one of the Peace Negotiators, is now lying at his residence ill of a billious fever, contracted in consequence of the exposure encountered in the expedition to Salt Lake.

From the Newport News,

THE NEXT PRESIDENCY.

"Many of the newspapers are bringing forward their candidates for the next Presidency, to have them killed off before the Convention. We look upon this as the inevitable result of this course of policy.—The opposition to the Administration is first to be united. To accomplish this great object, all parties will have to make some concessions; and the premature presentation of candidates will tend to embarrass this union, by committing people to particular men, whom, after they are thus committed, they will be unwilling to abandon.

"The first object of the opposition should be to form a complete union of their strength. This once attained, the Presidency is at their disposal. To accomplish this great object, mutual forbearance must be practised, and mutual concessions must be made. A platform must be framed broad enough to represent all the main elements of the opposition. Then, they no doubt will be able to unite upon a standard bearer, who will be worthy of the party and fit for the Presidency."

The Baltimore Patriot gives publicity to the above, and remarks:

"There is good sense in the conclusions of the Newport editor. If a few leaders or presses are to control parties by the manufacture of public sentiment in regard to persons, and in advance of any reasonable reason to discuss men, the end will be not only to knock men overboard, but to shipwreck the vessel on which they take passage.

UTAH.—Mr. John M. Bernhisel, delegate in Congress from Utah, publishes an appeal to the public, in relation to the march of the army towards Salt Lake city. He declares that the Mormons' profession of a desire for peace is honest; and expresses a fear that the mis-statements which he charges upon the press of the country will have the effect of prejudicing the public mind against the Saints. He adds a threat that war will yet ensue; if the army persists in the pursuit of the Mormons.

HIGH PRICE FOR NEGROES.—The Hernado (Miss.) Press reports the sale of some of the negroes belonging to the estate of Mrs. Dement, of that county, last week, at the following figures:—Girl Amanda, twenty years old, field hand, with infant five weeks old, $8,437; boy Jesse, twenty-one years old, field hand, $2,000; Tennessee, field hand, twenty years old, $1,750. The sale was on six months time.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS.—When the stomach is in an irritable condition the whole system sympathizes.—Hence sick headache, nervousness, and incapacity for mental or physical exertion. There are few who have not experienced these unpleasant effects of indigestion, more trying sometimes than serious illness.—Now we take it upon ourselves to say, not from report, but from actual experience, that Holloway's Pills are a positive and immediate remedy for all such depressing and annoying disorders. They set the stomach right at once, and the controlling organ of the system being regulated and put in order, the return of bodily and mental health is a necessary consequence.

LATE DISCOVERIES IN PATHOLOGY show that very many of the diseases which afflict mankind arise from impurity of the blood. This has long been suspected but is only lately known. In consumption tubercles are found to be a sedimentary deposit from the blood. Dropsy, Gout, Cancer, Ulcers and Eruptions, all arise in disordered deposites from the blood. Billious diseases and fevers are caused solely by its deranged unhealthy state, and even the decline of life follows a want of vitality in the blood.—In view of these facts Dr. AYER designed his Cathartic Pills especially to purify and invigorate the blood, and hence we believe to arise its unparalelled success in controlling and curing disease.—MEDICAL JOURNAL.
